SCHEME TO AID BRITISH WOULD DEBASE DOLLAR

Linked to 5 Billion Gold Loan Idea

BY ROBERT YOUNG
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 — A scheme calling for the devaluation of world currencies, including the United States dollar, to facilitate a gold loan to Great Britain has been suggested in the current Anglo-American economic conference, it was learned today.

The proposal, credited to John Maynard Keynes, British economist, is tied in with a plan to use part of the United States' 20 billion dollar gold reserve as the basis of financial aid to Britain. Keynes is head of the British mission which has been meeting behind closed doors with American financial representatives in Washington for a month in an attempt to work out a solution for Britain's post-war economic rehabilitation problems.

Vinson Reported Receptive

Informed sources said Secretary of the Treasury Vinson was warming up to the devaluation proposal, principally because such a measure might be easier to "sell" to taxpayers than an outright cash gift or an interest free loan. The British have announced flatly that they do not wish a regular commercial loan on which interest would have to be paid.

Devaluation of the dollar would result in a "paper" profit for the United States treasury, as was the case when the Roosevelt administration devalued the currency in 1934. With the dollar declared of less value, the treasury could show a larger number of dollars on its books for the same amount of gold backing.

The devaluation gold loan device is being considered, it was learned, because it would not involve further treasury borrowing or increasing the national debt, with subsequent interest payments and cost to United States taxpayers.

Service Charge Small

In addition, a gold transfer would provide aid to the British at a small service charge. The British contend they cannot afford anything like a regular commercial interest rate.

It is known that conference representatives are striving for some program which will make financial aid to Britain palatable in the United States. The administration is mindful that many congressmen and voters remember British repudiation of World War I. debts.

American experts are reported concerned, however, with opposition which would be certain to develop from conservative economists and bankers.

Despite the fact that Vinson was reported to be inclining toward the plan, treasury officials steadfastly denied that it is being considered at the conference.

American representatives have about agreed on 5 billion dollars as the amount of aid the United States should extend, it was learned. Details, such as whether the loan should be interest free and repayment terms, remain to be settled.

The British base their plea for liberal aid on the theory that by helping Britain regain her feet, the United States will be benefiting itself economically.

Russia Gets U.S. Credit of 350 Millions

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—Russia has signed a credit agreement with the United States for $350,000,000 to $400,000,000 worth of lend-lease goods whose delivery was halted on V-J day.

It was learned today that terms of the contract call for Russia to pay for the goods in 30 years at 2⅜ per cent interest with the first payment beginning nine years hence.

Crowley Signs for U. S.

Gen. Leonid G. Rudenko, chief of the Russian supply mission in Washington, signed the agreement for the soviet union and Foreign Economic Administrator Crowley signed for the United States.

Signing the contract was Crowley's last official act. His resignation as FEA chief became effective at midnight Monday.

Similar credit arrangements have been offered to all other former lend-lease recipients to finance purchase of goods on contract when lend-lease ended.

China About to Sign

It was learned that China is about to sign a contract at the same terms for $64,000,000 in former lend-lease supplies.

Items included in the Russian agreement are raw materials, industrial equipment, locomotives, transportation supplies, and food, it was said.

British and American officials currently conferring in Washington are expected to reach an agreement on British-lend-lease goods within the next two weeks. Britain was offered the 30 year 2⅜ per cent arrangement several months ago, but declined because of a dislike of the interest rate.

Dutch Get Loan

The Export-Import bank today announced signing of a loan agreement with the Netherlands for a credit of 50 million dollars. The credit will be used to purchase United States farm and manufactured products applied for under lend-lease but which had not been contracted for before V-J day.

The maximum credit is to be available until June 30, 1946. Interest will be at 2⅜ per cent per annum on the unpaid principal balance, payable on Jan. 1 and July 1. The credit advances are repayable in 60 approximately equal instalments, the first due July 1, 1946.

HOUSE APPROVES PLANS TO HEAR GEN. M'ARTHUR

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—The house today unanimously approved arrangements for a senate-house meeting to hear Gen. MacArthur speak whenever he can pay a visit to Washington.

Some legislators said they expected MacArthur to come here within two weeks, but others said the visit might not take place for six months.

The house approved a resolution by Rep. Hays [D., Ark.] arranging for the senate and house to receive the general. The senate previously had passed a resolution inviting him to speak.

WONDER IF HE WILL DO HIS DUTY?

Reports Army Runs Short of 70 Point Men

Cadets Can Get Out

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—The war department announced tonight that 38,000 volunteer army air forces aviation cadets are being given the option of discharge. Because most of the volunteers are youths who signed up before reaching their 18th birthday or before their draft boards tapped them, air forces officers said it is likely those who take advantage of the release provision will be drafted. However, some other officers raised the question whether they could be drafted after having served in war time. There was no definite determination of this point tonight.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17—The army will have to reduce its discharge point score to 50 points by Dec. 1 or there will be no men eligible for discharge by Christmas, an army spokesman told the senate military affairs committee today. The point score will drop to 60 Nov. 1, it was revealed. Seventy points are now needed for discharge.

Brig. Gen. R. W. Berry, deputy chief of the army's personnel division, reporting on the progress of demobilization, which the committee is studying, told the committee there were 1,495,000 men in the army with more than 70 points on Oct. 15 and 900,000 with between 60 and 70 points, a total of 2,395,000. Men with 50 to 60 points totaled 950,000, he said.

The discharge rate is averaging more than 40,000 a day, Berry said, estimating that 1,800,000 would doff their uniforms between now and Nov. 1. With the point score dropped to 60 Nov. 1 there will be fewer than 600,000 men eligible for December discharges, or a two week job for separation centers, the general said.

Enlistments "Excellent"

Berry revealed that 1,714,000 of the men with 60 or more points were overseas on Oct. 15, but said that 1,880,000 are scheduled to return to the United States in October, November, and December. He did not say, however, what proportion of the returning veterans would be high point men.

Reporting on the army's reënlistment program, under the short enlistment periods and added benefits recently approved by congress, Berry said the progress was "excellent," 18,000 men having enlisted in the last two weeks, bringing the total to 200,000. He said he expected the army to reach its goal of 300,000 volunteers by next summer.

Navy Seeks Volunteers

Of the soldiers reënlisting, Berry reported that 57 per cent were of the grade of sergeant thru master sergeant. Seven per cent were corporals and 26 per cent privates. "At least we'll have some Indians along with the chiefs," Berry said.

Meanwhile, the navy started a program to induce volunteer enlistments. Chairman Walsh [D., Mass.] of the senate naval affairs committee announced he was introducing a bill increasing reënlistment allowances, and guaranteeing navy commissions for chief petty officers upon passing special examinations. The bill also would provide more liberal retirement benefits for enlisted men.

WINKLER PAYS $550 FINE, COSTS AFTER 38 CONTINUANCES

After 38 continuances Jack Winkler, who with his father, Joseph, owns several near north side tenement buildings, paid $500 in fines and $50 costs on five cases of building, fire and health ordinance violations yesterday in Municipal Judge Erwin J. Hasten's court.

The violations were in buildings at 541 and 673 N. Clark st., and at 513-21, 938-44 and 1100-06 N. Wells st. A sixth case was dismissed and three additional cases charging health ordinance violations were continued to 11 a. m. Saturday by agreement.

Altho Asst. City Prosecutor David Lefkovits said the Winklers had been notified as long as a year ago of most of the violations, Joseph Fisher, attorney for the Winklers, said repairs could not be made because of the shortage of labor and materials. Lefkovits called the Winklers "the worst violators in the city."

Mrs. Ethel Reibel, representing the Metropolitan Housing council, testified the buildings were infested with rats, refuse littered the alleys and that four families used one washroom.

Exiled Korean President Home After 33 Years

SEOUL, Korea, Oct. 17 (AP)—Ending a 33 year exile, Dr. Syngman Rhee, former president of the Korea provisional government who left the country after being tortured by the Japanese, returned today from Washington, D. C. Rhee told a news conference he came back at the invitation of American occupation authorities to help solve the muddled political scene as the initial step in his long struggle for complete Korean independence.

Yanks Seize $30,000,000 in Jap Diamonds

TOKYO, Oct. 18 [Friday]—(AP)—American authorities today seized more than 30 million dollars' worth of glittering diamonds belonging to the official Japanese government control agency and stored in thermos bottles within a trust company safety deposit box.

A total of 131,000 carats of diamonds was found in a Mitsui Trust company vault in a box belonging to Koekieiden, a government import-export control agency.

The company had listed precious stones worth over 131 million yen among its "sundry goods" in assets.

[The yen is quoted at 15 to $1 for purposes of the American occupation.]

Waits Two Hours for Key

Capt. Roy Katz, Brooklyn, N. Y., of the enemy property control economic scientific section, led a detail into the trust company vault, then waited nearly two hours while a Japanese official went home to get the proper key for opening the box.

While business continued as usual within the Mitsui Trust in Tokyo's Wall st., Katz removed nine ordinary cheap quart thermos bottles from the safety deposit box and poured part of the sparkling treasure on the table. The gems immediately were deposited in the bank of Japan for as yet undetermined American disposal.

Paid 1,000 Yen a Carat

Fuji Hori, submanager of the sundry goods department of Koekieiden, said the gems were obtained under government decree thruout Japan and from Manchuria and China, but claimed all came from the Japanese.

Hori said the government paid 1,000 yen a carat for the diamonds, which were stripped from women's rings and other jowelry as part of the civilian effort to aid the war. The drive had lasted from August, 1944, thru last February.

Koekieiden has 33,000 carats of diamonds in the Mitsui Trust vaults at Osaka, an unspecified amount of gold, and nearly 250 pounds of platinum in various parts of Tokyo, Kori said.

Katz said these additional assets also would be seized.

Transfer Seized Bullion

The transfer of 350 tons of gold and silver bullion from the bomb wrecked Japanese government mint to the vaults of the Bank of Japan began today under the protection of heavily armed American cavalrymen.

Movement of the treasure, seized under Gen. MacArthur's orders, will take five days. Japanese laborers will lift the metal on and off the trucks. The treasure will be held pending instructions from Washington for its disposition.

SURFACE LINES WILL PURCHASE 480 BUSES, TOO

Equipment to Cost 15 Million

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK

Early modernization of the service of the Chicago Surface Lines became virtually certain yesterday when Judge Michael L. Igoe of the federal District court granted permission to the trustees to order up to 15 million dollars worth of new buses and street cars.

The proposal had the support of the Chicago metropolitan transit authority, which hopes to buy and merge the surface and elevated lines under municipal ownership. The order contains a provision that at least 12 million dollars of the lines' 25 millions of renewal funds would be left intact because the authority wants this much to spend on subway and elevated equipment.

Cash Reserves Sufficient

Surface lines officials indicated they would be able to buy much of the new equipment on credit and that the cash reserves will be sufficient to carry out the improvements.

At present the lines have on order 200 street cars and 195 buses. The new orders will be for 400 street cars and 480 buses. When the improvements are completed, 22 street car lines will be switched over to bus operation and four heavily traveled car lines will be equipped wholly with modern cars.

During the hearing, Werner W. Schroeder, attorney for the transit authority board, called several witnesses to uphold as generous the 75 million dollar offer for the surface lines. Schroeder made the point also that the money could be raised by the sale of revenue bonds. One witness, Merrill B. Knox, city traffic expert, appraised the offer as large in comparison to sales values in the security markets over a period of years.

Denies Delaying Progress

William R. Morgan, Joseph A. Struett, and James A. Sprowl, lawyers for investors who would receive nothing under the sales offer, sought in cross-examination to show that the offer is inadequate.

At one point in the hearing, Judge Igoe challenged an afternoon newspaper report quoting James R. Quinn, a member of the transit board, as saying that a mammoth 10 year improvement plan could begin as soon as "the federal court gives us a green light." Judge Igoe said this falsely implied that he was delaying traction improvements. He was assured no such feeling was entertained by traction authorities. Quinn denied the quoted utterance. The next hearing will be Oct. 29.

New Cabinet Forms; Peron Picks Friends

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 18 [Thursday]—(AP)—Col. Juan Peron, after a brief eclipse, returned to power today, forcing the formation of a new cabinet of his friends and calling a general strike to celebrate "a day of glory for the workers." Railroad trains ceased running out of the capital shortly after midnight.

Speaking to thousands jammed into the Plaza Mayo in front of Government house last night, Peron, who was ousted Oct. 9 by the military and had been in custody, said he had resigned his commission in the army to lead the Argentine workers to what he called further economic victories.

Heavy Shooting Flares

Altho urged by Peron to disperse peaceably after the mass meeting, there was an outbreak of heavy shooting in front of the newspaper Critica which has been an outspoken critic of Peron. Critica sounded its siren in a call for police aid. The newspaper La Prensa also was attacked.

It was officially announced from government house before Peron spoke that a new cabinet had been formed which included Minister of the Interior Gen. Humberto Sosa Moline, commander of the 3d corps, who thruout the war had expressed belief in an axis victory.

Also in the cabinet was Juan I. Cooke as foreign minister, a post he held until Peron was overthrown eight days ago. Other members included Armando Antille, back in his post as finance minister, where he served with Peron, Hortensio Quijano as minister of justice and education, Rear Adm. Abelardo Pantin, navy minister, to which he was promoted from command of the sea fleet, and Gen. Juan Pistarini, returned to his post of minister of public works.

[President Farrell announced that Lt. Col. Domingo Mercante, Peron's right hand man, had been designated as secretary of labor and public welfare, a Reuters dispatch said.]

New Police Chief

The new chief of police will be Lt. Col. Franklin Lucero, who served as secretary to Peron in the war ministry.

The status of War Minister Eduardo Avalos, who led the army's protest which forced Peron's resignation, was a mystery early today. Rear Adm. Hector Vernengo Lima, who entered the cabinet at the same time as Avalos as minister of the navy, definitely had been dropped from his post. Also dropped were Juan Alvarez as attorney general and five others whose names Alvarez had submitted to President Edelmiro Farrell yesterday. The men picked by Alvarez never took office.

Stoned Government House

The crowd which had gathered in Plaza Mayo when it was announced that Peron would speak became impatient as they waited and stoned Government house and attempted to break down the doors leading to the navy ministry.

President Farrell, who introduced Peron to the cheering multitude, said: "As you have demanded, the government will not deliver its power to the Supreme court"—a demand voiced by some political groups in the government's current cabinet crisis.

The men in the new cabinet, Farrell said, "will guarantee the social conquests gained so far."

MAN, 18, FORGES ARMY PAPERS, FLIES THE OCEAN

Providence, R. I., Oct. 17 (AP)—A young man, 18, described by the FBI as never having been a soldier today was indicted on charges of forging priorities for official army air travel during the war.

Leo A. Wasserman of Boston, a federal grand jury indictment charges, traveled as an army sergeant to Europe as well as making fraudulent flights to Seattle, Los Angeles and Fort Worth.

Once, the indictment accused, Wasserman tore an official order from an air field headquarters, inserted his name and flew to England after bumping a high ranking navy officer. Neither the officer nor the field was identified.

On another occasion, the charge went on, he bumped an unidentified officer by posing as a member of a special party bound for a confidential inspection of army ground force installations in Europe.

The indictment further asserted that once an MP "in Maryland" questioned Wasserman's papers and he went to Washington, gained entrance to the proper room at the Pentagon and messaged "official orders" authenticating the questioned papers.

JAPS BATTLE JAVANESE ON ALLIED ORDERS

Try to Regain Port from Nationalists

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 18 [Thursday]—Street fighting on a new large scale with "many casualties" is reported to have broken out in Semarang, a seaport midway between Batavia and Soerabaja, as Japanese troops under allied orders attempted to regain control of the city from the Indonesians.

Mohammed Hatta, vice president of the self-proclaimed Indonesian republic, said in an interview last night that Nationalists at Semarang reported the Japs had completed their reoccupation, but water and electric services in the city had been stopped.

In absolute contradiction, Batavia headquarters of RAPWI [repatriation of allied prisoners of war and internees] reported yesterday noon that Indonesians had seized all RAPWI officers in Semarang and were holding them in jail.

"More or Less Interned"

RAPWI said also that some 20,000 Dutch internees in the Semarang area were surrounded by Indonesian guards, who had stopped delivery of all foods. RAPWI said the camps, however, had food for a week. Later in the day RAPWI altered its report to say that British officers of RAPWI had not been held and that Dutch officers, rather than being jailed, were "more or less interned."

Hatta said last night that nationalists at Semarang had reported to the republic's headquarters here that they had seized RAPWI officers at Semarang because RAPWI trucks were being used to haul guns for the Dutch.

One battalion of Gurkha troops is now en route to Semarang by ship and is scheduled to arrive today. To help clarify the situation four representatives of the republic, at Hatta's request, are to be flown by an allied plane to Semarang today.

Violence at Depot

Elsewhere in Java violence flared in the little town of Depok, 16 miles south of Batavia. Bands of youths killed three Eurasian [halfbreed] women and two children there and were sniping at Eurasians attempting to enter or leave the town.

[A dispatch from a staff correspondent of the official Netherlands news agency, Aneta, said 15 Netherlanders and Christian Indonesians were killed by Indonesian Nationalists in Depok. The dispatch said the village was a "scene of wreckage with houses pilfered and gutted." The dispatch said that seven men and women were lined up in one house and two Nationalists with swords beheaded four of them and seriously wounded two. The seventh escaped.]

Twelve hundred Dutch troops under allied command entered Bandoeng, which has been under Jap control. No incidents were reported up to last night despite repeated threats of Indonesians there that "trouble" would start in earnest should Dutch troops arrive.

Congress Ends Session

At Batavia the Indonesian republic's first congress ended a two day meeting after passing two resolutions—asking the united nations to accept an Indonesian representative, and condemning NICA [Netherlands Indies civil administration] for "provoking violence."

Congress reaffirmed Dr. Soekarno as the republic's first president and Hatta as its vice president. They, as well as congress, will serve until an election can be held, now scheduled for November or December.

[Hatta disclosed on Tuesday that the republic had sent a message to United States Secretary of State Byrnes asking that an Indonesian be named to the allied far eastern advisory committee, along with a Dutch representative. The state department in Washington, D. C., yesterday said such a message had been received and given to Byrnes. However, Byrnes has not made any comment or taken any action.]

Battle 800 Nationalists

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 17 (AP)—Three hundred British troops arrived today at Depok, where Indian Gurkhas of the 23d division fought a pitched battle with about 800 nationalists.

At one point 80 Indian infantrymen held off the Nationalists until the British Indian reënforcements arrived. The British finally reported the situation in hand, but said the Indonesian band still was in the area and heavily armed.

Nationalists also were reported to have seized all Red Cross workers, internees, and the entire staff of the organization for the relief of allied prisoners of war at Awbarawa and Banjoebirce in central Java. A British spokesman said patrols were being sent to Awbarawa and Banjoebirce as quickly as possible.

Hospitals Surrounded

At Magelang, a few miles south of Semarang, hospitals were reported surrounded and guarded by young Indonesians with tommyguns.

The Dutch continued to land troops, arms and relief supplies. Another 700 Dutch troops arrived, bringing the total Dutch forces in Java to 5,000.

The British commander of allied forces, Lt. Gen. Phillip Christison, said he would hold Dr. Soekarno responsible for violence.

The newspaper Merdeka charged the British army was coöperating in what it said was the butchering of poorly armed Indonesians.

JAVA WASHDAY —OR ONE DAY IN LIFE OF SARONG

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 18 [Thursday] — The bathtubs which the Dutch provided for Batavia's Indonesian populatior are amazing things. They are canals, 10 or 15 feet wide, running down the middle of main streets. Crawling is a better word than running because the movement of the water, chocolate brown, at places can be detected only by prolonged watching.

Besides serving as bathtubs, the canals are laundries. Kids use them for swimming. And these same canals carry the city's waste.

Pre-war travelogs from this land of the sarong, you may recall, called the canal bathtubs "quaint." Pictures of bathers were sandwiched in between comments on the excellent sanitation of the Indies. But the pictures didn't show the hordes of malarial mosquitoes that rise in clouds from the canals every evening nor could they transmit the stench which is not at all quaint.

Baby and Laundry

Every morning at sun-up, around 6 o'clock, Indonesians begin gathering at the canals. The women come in groups of two or three, most of them balancing a shallow basket of laundry on one hip and a baby on the other. Steps lead down the concrete banks every 100 yards or so.

The women deposit the baby and laundry on the steps. They remove a hip-length sweater jacket and a little white vest. Most are barefooted. Then, with a sarong tied around the chest, they walk down the steps until knee deep in the water.

The baby gets a washing first. Like good mothers everywhere, these Indonesian belles enjoy bathing babies. They splash them and coo at them and swish them thru the water like tadpoles.

When the baby is back on the steps drying in the warm, tropical air, the mother tackles the laundry, dipping the clothes, soaping them, and slapping them against the stone steps.

Time for Mother's Bath

With the clothes wrung out and piled on the basket alongside the baby, the mother begins her bath. She walks down a couple of more steps until waistdeep. She drops her sarong. Her body is the light brown of a Californian sunbather.

Scrubbed, she restores her sarong and goes for a swim. When she climbs back onto the steps her straight, coal black hair glistens in the early sun. From the newly washed laundry she picks out a sarong, slips it over her head and slides the old one out from underneath. Next come a clean vest and jacket. Then with the baby and clothes, she is off for home.

The sarong is a simple thing. It's a piece of cloth two yards long and about a yard wide. The two ends are sewed together, making it like a barrel. To put it on, you slip it over the head, hold the surplus out to each side, fold across the front, and tie.

If worn with a vest and jacket, the sarong is tied around the waist. Otherwise, it's tied around the chest. From the chest it reaches the knees. From the waist it reaches the ankles.

URGE 'HANDS OFF'

BY E. R. NODERER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 17 — A group of Britons, including a number of members of parliament, who sympathize with independence aims of eastern colonial peoples, have formed a "hands-off Indo-China and Indonesia committee," it was learned today.

Object of the committee, which is headed by Lt. L. J. Callaghan, Laborite member from Cardiff, Wales, is to prevent the use of British forces "to impose old, unwanted regimes" upon Indo-China and the Dutch East Indies.

Callaghan drew from Prime Minister Attlee in commons today a statement that the British government does not desire to be involved unnecessarily in the administration of political affairs of non-British territories. Attlee said the government's object was to withdraw as soon as circumstances permitted. Meanwhile, Attlee said, Britain is under strong moral obligation to its Dutch allies until they are in a position to assume control.

Deplore Use of Jap Troops

The first meeting of the "hands-off" group was held yesterday in the committee rooms of the house of commons, where a tentative statement was drafted, asserting that British troops should be used only for evacuating prisoners and disarming and deporting surrendered Japanese garrisons. Use of Japanese troops against the Indo-Chinese and Indonesians was deplored.

Indian circles said here today that Dr. Soekarno, leader of the Indonesian republic movement, had invited Jawaharlal Nehru, Congress party leader, to come to Java to form his own opinion on the merits of the Indonesian movement.

Soekarno claims if Nehru visits Java he will discover the Javanese nationalists are neither traitors nor pro-Japanese but are patriots trying to achieve self-government.

BURMA TO ENJOY FREEDOM, SAYS BRITISH OFFICIAL

RANGOON, Burma, Oct. 17 (AP)—Reginald Hugh Dorman-Smith, British governor of Burma today announced that the British had a new plan under which Burma would be granted "fulowon" [self-government] and that a general election would be held as soon as peaceful conditions were established.

Without explaining details of the plan, he said: "I am armed with a new approach to the old problem, enabling Burma to attain full stature as a nation and to enjoy, in as short a time as is physically possible, the very same degree of freedom as Great Britain herself enjoys."

[The British government announced several months ago that self-government would be granted to Burma as soon as war conditions permitted the holding of elections. Until that time, the announcement said, it was proposed that a governor, assisted by a Burmese executive council, would be responsible for establishing order.]

INDIA MOSLEM CHIEF CRITICIZES GANDHI'S STAND

QUETTA, India, Oct. 17 [Reuters]—Mohammed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem league, today accused Mahandas K. Gandhi and Jawaharlal Nehru, all-India congress "pakistan" [the setting up of a separate Moslem state in India].

"They want to keep the Moslems under a Hindu government in order to mete out to them a fate similar to that of the Jews in Germany," he said. "I know Moslems will never agree to remain under a Hindu government."

Refuting allegations that the league had not made sacrifices for the achievement of freedom, Jinnah, who was addressing Baluchistan Moslems, said: "I am afraid we cannot contribute the sort of sacrifice to which the Congress party seems to be accustomed, namely, to sit like goats under police batons, then go to jail, complain of the loss of weight, and then manage to get released."

INDIAN TROOPS REPEL ANNAMESE ATTACK ON BRIDGE AT SAIGON

LONDON, Oct. 17 (AP)—The All-India radio said today that Indian Gurkha troops had repulsed an attack Monday night at a bridge in Saigon, Indo-China, by about 400 Annamese armed with automatic pistols and bows with poisoned arrows.

The broadcast quoted an announcement of the Saigon control commission which said the Annamese yesterday started fires in the dock area, damaging factories and warehouses.

"Our troops, holding three bridges across the Saigon river in the northwest sector of the perimeter, came under heavy attack during the night," the commission said. "Our troops replied with mortars and silenced the attackers."

JAIL JAP NAMED IN DEATHS OF DOOLITTLE MEN

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Oct. 17 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Shigeru Sawada, accused of complicity in the executions of some of Lt. Gen. Doolittle's Shangri-La flyers, has been placed in Omori prison camp along with other top ranking Japanese suspected of war crimes.

Japanese officials still are searching for five others who with Sawada were named by Americans on a new secret war criminal list at responsible for the flyers' executions. The Japanese government delivered Sawada to the 8th army Monday and the latter announced his apprehension yesterday.

The five additional suspects cannot be named until they are arrested, under a new 8th army headquarters policy.

WARN OF DEATH TOLL IN MILLIONS IN ATOMIC RAID

Curtis Seeks 'Miracle' in Diplomacy

Washington, D. C, Oct. 17 (AP)—Congress was told today that 40,000,000 Americans could be killed in one overnight atomic raid if there is "one false move in international diplomacy."

Dr. Oppenheimer

Dr. H. J. Curtis, one of the men who helped make the atom bomb, called for a "miracle" in international relations to prevent a "war too horrible to contemplate." He said the impelling motives for a miraculous improvement in diplomacy "should be just as strong as those which moved us to create the atomic bomb."

Dr. Curtis testified at a joint senate military-commerce subcommittee hearing on a proposed national science foundation to explore the atom and other scientific developments.

Asks for "Miracle"

Another witness, Dr. J. R. Oppenheimer of the New Mexico atomic laboratories, testified, "I am afraid it is" when asked if it was true that a single night's raid on America could kill 40,000,000 persons in congested cities.

Curtis predicted that the scientists' suggestion for international control might be scoffed at as visionary.

"In reply," he said, "I will simply state that the possibility of developing atomic energy was also so labeled a scant six years ago, and yet today it is a reality.

"We can see no reason why a similar miracle cannot be achieved in international relations."

Even "total destruction of civilization as we know it" was given as a possible alternative to keeping the peace.

Urges International Unit

"We have concluded," Curtis said, "that the best interests of this country will be served by turning over control of atomic energy to an international authority whose function will be to regulate the development of atomic energy so that the atomic bomb will be used only by a world authority if necessary for the enforcement of peace."

Curtis said an American policy of atomic secrecy would breed the most dangerous sort of world distrust. He asserted:

"It would serve notice on other countries that we were developing atomic energy for military purposes. They will have no choice but to do the same as quickly as possible.

"All international relations would be on a diplomacy of fear. There would result an international armament race in atomic bombs which could only lead to a war too horrible to contemplate."

CHINA URGES SETTING TIME LIMIT IN ALLIED TRUSTEESHIP SYSTEM

CHUNGKING, Oct. 17 (AP)—China's foreign minister, Wang Shih-chieh said today his government considered it essential that a definite time limit be set for the completion of preparations for the independence of every people whose territory is to be placed under the trusteeship of a united nations system.

Wang said also that the Chinese government has been informed by Moscow that soviet forces have begun a withdrawal from Manchuria which will be completed by the end of November.

Wang announced that Chinese forces in northern Indo-China would be withdrawn "in the near future."

Cabinet Spokesman P. H. Chang told a press conference that 850,000 Japanese effectives in China already have been disarmed. [Recent Chinese military reports estimated there were about 1,100,000 Japanese effectives in China.]

SENATE GROUP FAVORS BRADEN AS BYRNES AID

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—The senate foreign relations committee today unanimously approved President Truman's nomination of Spruille Braden as assistant secretary of state.

Spruille Braden

Braden's nomination won indorsement by the committee after an hour's discussion behind closed doors.

The committee had held up action on Braden, former ambassador to Buenos Aires, for nearly a month in a controversy with the state department over American policies in relation to Argentina.

Braden had been charged by some committee members with interference in Argentine domestic affairs, an accusation he denied.

REVEAL SECRET ORDER TO CRUSH GERMAN NATION

Directive to 'Ike' Shows F. D. R. Influence

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17—Germany, it was disclosed today, is being occupied, governed, and reformed by the allies in accord with a long suppressed, elaborate plan inherited by the Truman administration from the Roosevelt regime. It originated chiefly with Henry Morgenthau, then secretary of the treasury, and embodied the Morgenthau scheme to reduce Germany to an agricultural nation.

With only minor changes and with the addition of detailed provisions for the exaction of reparations in kind, the plan was accepted by Great Britain and Russia at the Potsdam conference.

This disclosure was made when the state department today made public the secret directive dispatched last April to Gen. Eisenhower to govern his administration of the American occupation zone and his actions on the four power control council for all Germany. The document was made public to still the speculation on its character, charges that the policy laid down is at marked variance from the Japanese occupation orders given Gen. MacArthur, already published, and allegations that Eisenhower either had no specific orders or was disregarding them.

Covers Minute Details

The directive is a 9,000 word document providing in minute detail for denazification, economic controls, demilitarization, punishment of war criminals, regulation of political activities, reorganization of courts and the police, control of education, regulation of agriculture, industry and internal commerce, regulation of power, transportation and communications, and control of public finance and exchange. No important phase of German political and economic existence was omitted.

Comparison of the directive with the Potsdam declaration reveals that the United States, Britain, and Russia accepted the American occupation plan even to the extent of incorporating much of the actual language of the directive to Eisenhower. In a few instances a different policy was adopted at Potsdam and in these cases the Potsdam policy prevails, said the state department.

In terms accepted at Potsdam, the directive says that "it should be brought home to the Germans that Germany's ruthless warfare and the fanatical Nazi resistance have destroyed the German economy and made chaos and suffering inevitable and that the Germans cannot escape the responsibility for what they have brought upon themselves. Germany will not be occupied for the purpose of liberation but as a defeated enemy nation."

Eject Nazi Officials

Potsdam incorporated the American directive to abrogate laws forming the foundation of naziism and discrimination "on grounds of race, nationality, creed, or political opinions." Also, in briefer form, Potsdam adopted the American rule that Nazis be banished from public office and direction of important business concerns. Potsdam, however, did not go so far as to declare, as in the directive, that Nazis should not be retained in positions "because of administrative necessity, convenience, or expediency."

It was this injunction in the directive that Gen. Patton violated in keeping Nazis in minor offices for want of efficient non-Nazis to do the work. This was a case in which Potsdam was silent and, therefore, according to the state department explanation, the rule in the directive is in force.

Potsdam, without mentioning Hitler, followed the general line of the American directive on war criminals. The orders to Eisenhower were to "search out, arrest, and hold, pending receipt by you of further instructions as to their disposition, Adolf Hitler, his chief nazi associates, other war criminals, and all persons who have participated in planning or carrying out Nazi enterprise involving or resulting in atrocities or war crimes." Also adopted was the American directive to intern other persons dangerous to the occupation.

Suppress Criminal List

The only part of the directive suppressed was a detailed list of categories of war criminals and others to be arrested. This suppression, said the state department, was to avoid putting on notice certain individuals not yet apprehended.

The recent explosion over the retention of Jews by the American occupation authorities in concentration camps touches on a provision of the directive not accepted at Potsdam. The American directive, which therefore prevails, provides for the release of all persons found in custody on racial, religious, or political grounds and their treatment as displaced persons.

Potsdam accepted in principle the American plan for the reëducation of Germany, but the orders to Eisenhower directed in considerable detail the elimination of Nazis from the teaching force and nazi and militarist doctrines from text books.

Press Freedom Mentioned

The American directive said that subject to military interest and denazification measures there should be freedom of speech, press, and religious worship but Potsdam made military security the only limitation.

Potsdam agreed with the directive in general on measures to maintain a standard of living in Germany not higher than other European countries.

On the extirpation of war industry and control of other industry and services in the interest of shifting Germany to an agricultural economy, Potsdam followed the lines of the directive, tho in far less detail. Elaborate rules were laid down in the directive governing finance and money but on this subject Potsdam was entirely silent.

DESTROY NAZISM: IKE

MUNICH, Germany, Oct. 17 [Reuters]—A message from Gen. Eisenhower to the German people appearing in the first edition of the Neue Zeitung, official United States army newspaper for occupied Germany, to be published here tomorrow, says:

"We will assist the Germans in reconstruction, but under no circumstance will we do the actual job for the Germans.

"The Germans must recognize that to survive the coming hard winter they must rid themselves of the hard spirit in which they have been steeped during the last 12 years. Germany must become a country of peaceful workers, capable of exercising individual initiative, or it will have no future.

"Denazification will be carried forward by all possible means. Not only party members will be affected, but all who in one way or another have profited by national socialism.

"Nowhere are there irreplaceable national socialists. Nazism must be destroyed, and all members of the Nazi party and of its affiliated organizations must be eliminated from their positions.

"Militarism, along with nazism, must be destroyed."

TRUMAN'S PLEA FOR UNIVERSAL TRAINING DUE

BY PHILIP DODD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17—President Truman will address a joint session of congress next Tuesday noon on the subject of peace time military training, congressional leaders announced today. The announcement came while War Secretary Patterson was urging a merger of the army and navy at a senate hearing.

Speaker Rayburn [D., Tex.] of the house and Senate Majority Leader Barkley [D., Ky.] told of the President's projected trip to the capitol after a White House conference. On Sept. 6, addressing congress on proposed legislation, the President said he expected to send a message on peace time military training, but Barkley and Rayburn said he had decided to make it the subject of an address in person.

Rayburn said he did not expect the President to discuss the proposed merger of the army and navy, embodied in pending legislation in congress, but one senator in an interview said he expected the President to come out for the merger before present hearings on the plan are ended.

Would Have Saved Lives

Patterson told the senate military affairs committee today that merger of the army and navy in a single department would have shortened the war and saved lives, war materials, and money.

Patterson was testifying in favor of a bill introduced this week by Sen. Johnson [D., Col.], acting military committee chairman, which would set up a department of national security with six divisions—scientific research and development, aeronautics, army, navy, procurement, and military intelligence.

Responding to a question by Sen. Gurney [R., S. D.], Patterson said if military and naval forces had been merged in the recent war, millions of dollars would have been saved, as well as lives and materials, and that the time gained would have speeded operations on all fronts.

System 150 Years Old

"The United States entered the war," Patterson said, "without adequate coöperation between its two armed services, without plans for a unified command in the field, and with its air power established as an auxiliary of the army and navy.

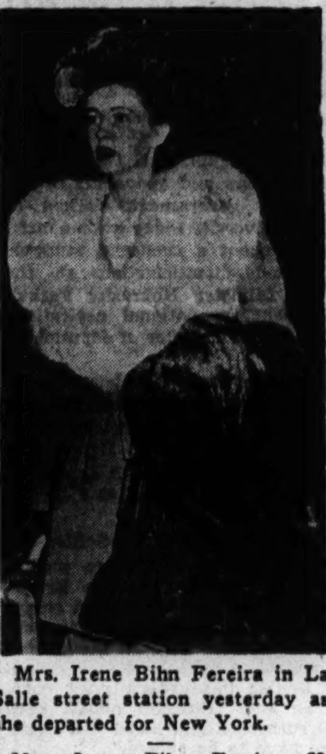
"Our system was the same as it had been for 150 years . . . each service was tender on the point of its own prerogatives, not only in the ranks but in the higher command and staff levels. There was no way of compelling coöperation in the exchange of information, except thru the interposition of the President himself."

Patterson said that as the war progressed, unified direction "so necessary to waging successful war" was limited to strategy and tactics overseas. The lack of a single military command in Washington resulted in duplicating facilities and supply lines, he said.

The war secretary acknowledged that the joint chiefs of staff and a "multitude" of joint boards and committees helped bring about team play, but asserted "it was not posible, even with the best will in the world, for these improvised organizations to function as well as we would have liked."

Anticipating objections expected when navy officials testify on the proposed merger, Patterson said the plan would not result in the formation of one huge force with consequent loss of identity among the members of the two services.

Heiress Freed



Mrs. Irene Bihn Fereira in La Salle street station yesterday as she departed for New York.

Mrs. Irene Bihn Fereira, 29, granddaughter of Charles Manning Van Heusen, collar manufacturer, and great-granddaughter of Isaac Singer, sewing machine pioneer, started for her home in New Rochelle, N. Y., after charges against her were dismissed by acting County Judge Frank Walker of Mount Vernon, in Psychopathic court.

Mrs. Fereira was taken to the psychopathic hospital Oct. 6 after she had been found "acting peculiarly" in the Union station. A committee of physicians found her capable of leaving the hospital.

Edwin A. Tighe, attorney for the family, asked the court for a dismissal with no finding as to her sanity. He said a case is pending in a New York court to obtain a custodian for her estate.

She was married to Norman Feriera, cowboy, in Reno, Nev., two months ago after divorcing Robert MacDonald Bihn.

USE OF GERMAN INDUSTRY URGED TO HELP BRITAIN

LONDON, Oct. 17 [Reuters]—A resolution calling on the British government to make the fullest use of Germany's industrial resources for economic recovery, subject to security requirements, was introduced in the house of lords today by Samuel Hoare, former British foreign secretary. He also advocated the publication of information on employment and production in the British occupational zone.

"Unless some comprehensive and more farsighted action is taken quickly, Europe will drift in to such a slough of despond that it will be years—perhaps generations—before we can hope for European recovery," Hoare said. "In the meantime Britain, dependent as she is and has always been to a great extent on export trade to the continent of Europe, will be the greatest sufferer."

Replying for the government, Air Secretary Stansgate said there was no disagreement about Hoare's motion which the government accepted. Hoare withdrew his motion, however, when Robert Vansittart, who favors a "hard peace" for Germany, opposed it.

ASK INTEGRATED FIGHTING FORCE FOR AMERICAS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—The inter-American defense board has recommended a plan to standardize the military organization, training, and equipment of all the military forces in the American republics, authoritative persons said today.

The forces would be patterned after United States units.

The board is composed of representatives of the 21 American republics. Its duty is to plan the defense of the hemisphere.

Hope for Action in '46

Its recommendation has been forwarded to the governments of all the American republics. Board members hope that favorable action will be taken at the next inter-American conference, possibly in Bogota next year.

As explained by military men here, the plan would mean:

1. Using American type aircraft air training methods and military air techniques in all the hemisphere air forces.
2. Establishing an overall program for training and equipping of ground troops.
3. Standardizing naval, army, and air force ordnance.
4. Setting up common staff organizational methods.

Seek Integrated Machine

The plan has been advanced as a practical method of providing the 2* American republics with a common military program, a central source of readily available military supplies, and an integrated fighting machine.

Board members say that since the United States is the only nation now in a position to furnish Latin America with the military supplies it needs, it is only sensible to coordinate the military forces of the other Americas with the United States.

HIROHITO ACTS; A MILLION JAPS GIVEN AMNESTY

Japan Takes 4 More Steps Toward Democracy

TOKYO, Oct. 17 (AP)—The Japanese nation took four important steps toward democracy today. They were:

1. Emperor Hirohito granted amnesty to nearly 1,000,000 Japanese as an openly avowed move to unite the country "in meeting a great change in history."

2. Four major Japanese industrial holding companies, Mitsui, Mitsubishi, Sumitomo, and Yasuda, decided to offer all their shares for sale to the public, the newspaper Yomiuri Hochi said.

3. The Japanese cabinet, in further compliance with Gen. MacArthur's directive for freedom of thought and speech in Japan, decided to repeal the religious organizations law established as a war time control, Domei news agency reported.

Frees Movie Industry

4. Gen. MacArthur issued a directive freeing the Japanese motion picture industry from all government domination to allow it to "reflect the democratic aspirations of the Japanese people."

Action of the four industrial companies is "not enough," Yomiuri Hochi said, advocating state ownership as the only solution for this problem.

Emperor Hirohito in an imperial rescript restored voting rights to the nearly 1,000,000 Japanese who were given amnesty. About 320,000 who had been imprisoned or under police surveillance were pardoned; sentences of 37,000 others were reduced, and civil rights restored to both groups as well as to 600,000 others—provided they had lost their rights at least five years prior to Sept. 2, 1946.

The amnesty rescripts affected principally political prisoners, whose freedom Gen. MacArthur had decreed.

Cut Government Employes

Japan's new cabinet, in addition to repealing the religious organizations law, also approved elimination of the cabinet board of information, reduction of government employes from 300,000 to 150,000 and elimination of the war time labor service [forced-labor] bureau.

American authorities disclosed that Japanese agents in Tokyo illegally had searched the pre-war diplomatic pouches of the American embassy.

Nearly 2,500 Japanese army and navy personnel arrived today from long-isolated Marcus Island. Their commander said that only supplies left by Americans early in the war kept most of them from hospitals.

More than 40 officials of the Nakajima Aircraft company's Otawara plant have been arrested, the newspaper Asahi said, on charges of stealing machinery, food, and clothing during the confusion that attended Japan's surrender.

BELGIAN FOUGHT AS A YANK, BUT CAN'T STAY HERE

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 17 (AP)—Gilbert LeClercq, 16, a Belgian youth who fought with the United States 1st division in Europe and came to this country as a wounded American veteran, must return to Belgium within 60 days or be deported.

Gilbert LeClercq

The United States immigration and naturalization service said today the lad will be allowed to return voluntarily so that there will be no deportation record against him and he might be readmitted as a Belgian immigrant.

Gilbert met the Yank fighters while serving with Belgian guerrillas. He has been making his home with Belgian born Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Vanistendael, near Pittsburgh.

300 Japs Still at Liberty on Guam, General Believes

GUAM, Oct. 17 (AP)—Marine Brig. Gen. Lee B. Hermle, island commander here, estimated today there were 300 or more diehard Japanese soldiers still at liberty on Guam and playing a deadly game of hide and seek with American forces. "We captured more than 300 in September and still are getting a few every day," said Hermle. "We killed several last week."

HUNTS SOUVENIR AND CAPTURES A GERMAN PILLBOX

How a chaplain, single handed, captured a German pillbox on the Siegfried line was told yesterday by Capt. Edward H. Stohler, who also is a captain in the Salvation Army, at headquarters, 719 N. State st. The pillbox had been bypassed, and Capt. Stohler, hunting for souvenirs, entered to be welcomed with the surrender of a lieutenant and two noncommissioned officers.

Capt. Edward H. Stohler

Capt. Stohler landed in Europe at Utah beach on D-day plus one as a combat chaplain to the 90th division. He remained in action until the end of the war in Europe. The companies in this division averaged 240 days of combat.

In the Lessaye sector Capt. Stohler was bombed by American planes. There had been heavy fighting across the Seves river over an island. He was called upon to evacuate 16 casualties under fire from the island to the opposite bank, whence the take-off had to be made. He advanced to the German hedgerow under Red Cross flag protection. Fire was withheld for three hours, but American and German litter bearers had to dive for the same ditch when the American strafing occurred.

BARE SLAUGHTER OF 22 BY JAPS ON TARAWA ISLAND

TOKYO, Oct. 17 (AP)—Twenty-two allied civilians on Tarawa were slaughtered by Japanese — because one man tried to wave at passing planes, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters disclosed today. Officers released the long-withheld story of a French missionary they identified as Father Viallon, who told them:

The man who waved was shot on the spot, and "all the 21 other prisoners were murdered in cold blood in reprisal. They were tied to coconut trees, tortured for a day or two, and then the Japanese troops were turned loose on them.

The massacre of the Australian, New Zealand and British civilians who had lived in the Gilbert Islands as civil servants, teachers, or radio men, occurred Sept. 15, 1942. Missionaries who witnessed the slaughter were prisoners on Tarawa then, and later were freed on Makin Island as the allied armies pushed northward.

4 JAP COMBINES PLANNING STOCK SALE DESCRIBED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—The four Japanese combines reported in Tokyo dispatches as having offered to sell their shares to the public were once among the most powerful commercial and industrial concerns in the world.

They, along with four others making up the great family monopolies known as the Zaibatsu, have been marked for virtual economic death by United States policy for reconverting Japan into a peaceful nation. Officials here decline to say, therefore, whether the reported sale of shares would satisfy American objectives.

Two Are Biggest in Japan

Mitsui and Mitsubishi are among the biggest of the Japanese concerns. Both center their operations in the Tokyo area. Both have helped, according to American officials, to keep the Japanese people submerged in a kind of economic and political feudalism.

Mitsui has been an enormous trading concern with extensive activities in banking and industry. It specialized in chemicals and other light manufactures and also had extensive textile operations.

Mitsubishi is a heavy industry combine. Its specialties were iron and steel works with great foundries and machine tool factories. This monopoly also operated the famous pre-war NYK shipping line and like the other monopolies had its banking houses.

Develop Other Industries

Sumitomo, with headquarters in the Kobe-Osaka region, started originally as a family operation in nonferrous metals, chiefly copper, but with the accumulation of wealth moved into dealing in real estate and insurance and into financial transactions.

Yasuda is primarily a banking company but with related trust and insurance holdings and with numerous industrial activities, including workings in such things as flax processing.

All of these monopolies are either entirely family controled or are built around families. In the past they dominated the economic life of Japan so thoroly that it was virtually impossible to start any sort of independent enterprise there.

CAIRO STUDENTS TELL BRITISH TROOPS MUST GO

Inaction of Egypt Causes Clash

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 17 [Reuters]—Supporters and opponents of the Egyptian government clashed at Faudi university today when a meeting of about a thousand students expressed dissatisfaction at the Prime Minister Nokrashy Pasha's statement on national aspirations made in the chamber of deputies on Monday.

Nokrashy Pasha had been expected to make a statement on the government's moves for evacuation of British troops from Egypt and union of the Sudan with Egypt, but refrained from doing so "in the country's interests."

Say Blood Will Be Spilled

The students decided to send a note to Britain thru the British embassy stating: "If British troops do not evacuate Egypt, Britain will be responsible for the blood that is spilled.

"British imperialism must come to an end. Peaceful means have not succeeded and blood will therefore have to be spilled."

Students alleged that the Egyptian government had not fulfilled its duty and urged that students should take matters into their own hands.

Premier Warns Student

They also decided to boycott Britain buy refusing to buy British goods and refusing to talk to Britons.

Nokrashy Pasha has warned students that he will not tolerate interference by them in his dealings with Britain. He has let it be known that he is prepared to close down universities and colleges if student enthusiasm for the immediate attainment of Egypt's "national aspirations" embarrasses his position or inconveniences the country.

'TOKYO ROSE' PUT IN AMERICANS' YOKOHAMA JAIL

TOKYO, Oct. 17 (AP)—Los Angeles born Iva Toguri, accused of broadcasting propaganda to American troops from Tokyo as "Tokyo Rose," was placed in the Yokohama prefecture jail today, United States 8th army officials said. The United States army is reassuming authority in the case because she is an American citizen. When first arrested she had been turned over to Japanese civilian police.

"FORCED" TO BROADCAST

Fred Toguri, brother of "Tokyo Rose," said here yesterday in a broadcast statement that his sister was forced into propaganda activities by the Japanese. The Toguri family operates a combination fish market and grocery at 1012 N. Clark st. They live at 1349 N. La Salle st. The family consists of the father, Jun, 60; Fred, 35, and two daughters, June, 25, and Inez, 20. The mother is dead. They opened their store in June last year.

EISENHOWER AID FACES QUIZ ON PEARL HARBOR

Gen. Smith's Role on Black Day Is in Question

BY WALTER TROHAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17—Members of the joint congressional committee investigating Pearl Harbor are preparing to ask the war department to bring Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, chief of staff to Gen. Eisenhower, to the capital for questioning about events in the war department before the Jap attack.

Lt. Gen. W. B. Smith

Smith was a colonel on duty as secretary of the general staff at the time of Pearl Harbor. Also scheduled for appearances before the committee are two other colonels who were on duty at the war department at that time, R. S. Bratton and Otis T. Stadler. Both are still colonels altho they were commended in the army investigation of the disaster for their interest and aggressiveness in having something done to put Hawaii in a state of readiness for war.

U. S. Service Belittled

The committee's attention was directed to Gen. Smith by indignation within the war department over a speech made by that officer recently in London in which he belittled the American intelligence service. Before the British Royal Service institution on Oct. 10, Smith said the American office was "a bit short on planning" and declared that if he were organizing another headquarters again he would get "my intelligence officers and my planners from the British war office if they would let me have them."

Smith reportedly was on duty in the office of Gen. Marshall, chief of staff, the night of Dec. 6 when the startling intelligence of the forthcoming attack arrived. This news was given to Smith in the form of an intercepted Japanese dispatch, according to committee members. Smith is to be asked if he got such a message, whether he gave it to Marshall, and if not, why.

Marshall Out Riding

Public reports are that Marshall did not get the message until 11:20 a. m. the morning of Pearl Harbor day. It is expected that this incident may well be one of the hottest points of the whole investigation. As chief of staff, Marshall knew that an ultimatum had been sent to Japan and knew that hostilities were imminent. Yet, he was not reached on the night of Dec. 6 and could not be reached for some time the morning of the attack because he went out horseback riding.

Gen. Marshall may have a different version of the story when he is heard.

The army report concurred in by three general officers had kind words for the intelligence section, which Gen. Smith disparaged in his speech, but none for Smith's part in the affair.

"Within the scope of its activities this division [intelligence] performed well," the army report said. "It gathered much valuable and vital data."

Information Provided

It was this section which provided the army, navy, and President Roosevelt with all information as to what the Japs were thinking and planning.

The army report has a reference to Gen. Smith. It reads:

"In the first days of December this critical information grew more critical and indicative of the approaching war. Officers in relatively minor positions, who were charged with responsibility of receiving and evaluating such information were so deeply impressed with its significance and the growing tenseness of our relations with Japan which pointed only to war, and war almost immediately, that such officers approached the chief of the war plans division [Gen. Gerow] and the secretary of the general staff [colonel now—Lt. Gen. Smith] for the express purpose of having sent to the department commanders a true picture of the war atmosphere which, at that time, pervaded the war department and which was uppermost in the thinking of these officers in close contact with it.

Two Not Promoted

"The efforts of these subordinate officers [Bratton and Stadler] to have such information sent to the field commanders were unsuccessful. They were told that field commanders had been sufficiently informed. The secretary to the general staff [Smith] declined to discuss the matter when told of the decisions of the war plans division."

Bratton and Stadler remained where they started as colonels thruout the war. Gerow and Smith went on to win lieutenant general's stars.

A general officer commenting on the data on Smith in the Pearl Harbor report and his criticism of the intelligence division, said today:

"Suppose Gen. Smith had had British officers serving the general staff in the days before Dec. 7, 1941. Suppose these marvels of perspicacity and deduction, instead of what Smith terms our American boobs, had broken the Jap code and given Smith the information which the Americans gave him. What would he have done with it?

"It looks as if intelligence, hampered and held down and starved by petty appropriations, did pretty nearly all that could have been expected of it in this historic emergency and that, unless the army board can be reversed, it was the Smiths and his kind who fell down."

52 BILLION SLASH IN U. S. SPENDING FOR YEAR VOTED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—Congress set out today to cut government spending this year by almost one-third.

The first action of such magnitude in many years was initiated by the house appropriations committee, acting on President Truman's recommendations with some ideas of its own thrown in.

The committee reported to the house a bill to cancel $52,453,535,278 in previously authorized spending for this fiscal year ending June 30, 1946.

170 Billion Dollars

This amount had been made available for this 12 months, voted at a time when the nation was fighting on two fronts.

This recapturing of funds doesn't mean a tax cut, however, Chairman Cannon [D., Mo.] was quick to point out. He said it simply means slowing down the rate at which the national debt is piling up.

The committee released reports on bulky hearings in which this testomony was highlighted:

Army Chief of Staff Marshall urged continuance of a large military establishment. He said the atom bomb doesn't mean the end of armies and navies, that striking forces still will be needed to stop an aggressor from launching such weapons.

Atom Outlook Hazy

Dr. Vannevar Bush, head of the office of science and research, said the first application of atomic energy to peaceful pursuits probably wouldn't have great effect on the economy, perhaps would be for "power purposes in large units" only and that would be some years hence.

The national advisory committee for aeronautics forecast planes traveling 750 miles an hour or faster during the impending "period of revolutionary change."

The committee recommended a slash of $2,430,000 in the funds of the FBI tho Director J. Edgar Hoover predicted "a rather serious crime wave." He had asked for a staff of 8,223 and got only 6,000.

Want Japs Deported

Return of the United States employment service to the various states was recommended by the group. Chairman Cannon, in an individual recommendation, suggested that the Japanese aliens at Tule Lake, Cal., be deported immediately.

The sharp cuts in the bill were directed mainly at the military establishments. The proposed reductions:

Army—$30,903,090,564.

Navy—$17,662,163,961.

Miscellaneous executive agencies—$3,887,090,253 [mostly lend-lease].

A slash of $12,166,313,000 was advised for the army air forces which plan to dispose of 44.222 of their 62,045 planes. The navy air force would be cut $3,481,300,000. The committee said they have 41,000 planes and intend to get rid of 24,000.

Vice Adm. Mitscher testified during committee hearings that "everything in our post-war navy should be built around the aircraft carrier."

A bill now pending in the house calls for a post-war fleet of 116 carriers of all sizes, 18 battleships, and 82 cruisers in addition to smaller fighting ships.

Lumber Waste Told

A complaint charging a lack of a coördinated effort in utilizing war surpluses was made by Rep. Johnson [D., Okla.] while Surplus Property Administrator Symington was testifying.

He said the army spent $30,000,000 on a secret base at Excursion Inlet in Alaska. It is being torn down by war prisoners and the lumber is being prepared for shipment to the mainland for sale as surplus.

"We were told," Johnson said, "it would be shipped to Seattle or San Francisco and sold at 10 to 15 cents on the dollar."

New Lumber for Natives

Meantime, he said, the government is spending $860,000 in reconstructing an Indian village that burned across the bay. The lumber for this project, he said, was shipped from the United States.

He said the new homes "to replace small shacks" would cost $6,000 to $8,000 each.

Rep. Johnson also declared the Leadville district drainage tunnel in Colorado is a "monstrosity" upon which more than a million dollars of taxpayers' money has been wasted.

Dr. R. R. Sayers, chief of the bureau of mines, stated that funds granted for the tunnel have been expended, and that work is being stopped. The tunnel was not completed.

"I am glad to know that you are finally liquidating the Leadville project," Johnson told the committee. "It ought to have been closed down long before. It never should have been started."

Jobs Part Them

Bebe Daniels and her husband, Ben Lyon, in Dearborn station yesterday as they paused here en route to New York.

Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon, former American movie stars who have spent many years in England, yesterday commented on the Indian summer weather of Chicago as they arrived aboard the Santa Fe Chief at Dearborn st. station. The two, man and wife, are en route to New York where Miss Daniels will see Lyon off to England. Lyon will be representative of Twentieth Century-Fox studios there. Miss Daniels will return to Hollywood where she will become a producer-director for Hal Roach.

INFANT FOUND DEAD IN CRIB

Jose Barragan, 4 months old, 8712 Mackinaw av., was found dead in his crib yesterday by his mother, Mrs. Juan Barragan.

PREDICT RETURN OF NAVY PIER BY MIDSUMMER, '46

Chicago may regain Navy pier as a recreation and convention center by midsummer of 1946, it was indicated yesterday. Capt. Edwin A. Wolleson, commanding officer at the pier, said the naval radio technicians' school now occupying quarters there probably would vacate by that time.

About 6,500 men are stationed currently at the pier. At one time there were approximately 11,700. Since July 1, 1941, when the navy took over the pier, approximately 60,000 men have received training there. A naval air technical training center, a diesel school, and a cooks' and bakers' school have been among the units which were established at one time or another at the pier.

Carriers Being Dismantled

The noncombatant aircraft carriers Wolverine and Sable, which were used for training purposes during the war, are being dismantled, a navy spokesman said.

After radio, radar, and other equipment is removed, the ships will be visited by a board of inspectors and their final disposition determined. A navy spokesman in Washington, D. C., recently said the carriers would be declared surplus and turned over to the maritime commission for disposal.

Contingent on Maritime Board

The Wolverine formerly was the Seeandbee of the Cleveland and Buffalo Steamship company, whose president, Thomas J. McGuire, has indicated that, in his opinion, the policy of the maritime commission would determine whether the ships are returned to lakes traffic. He pointed out that if the commission is eager to restore normal employment and lake traffic it could offer the ships to the former owners at prices which would enable the owners to reconvert the vessels for peace time use.

The Sable formerly was the Greater Buffalo of the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation company.

TRUMAN ASKS 221 MILLION FOR PUBLIC WORKS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—President Truman today asked congress for appropriations totaling $221,842,000 for the resumption of public works programs interrupted by the war.

The recommendations included $128,475,000 for the corps of engineers and $93,367,000 for the bureau of reclamation. Earlier in the week, he had requested $3,998,000 for the civil aeronautics administration, $25,000,000 for the public roads administration and $1,641,000 for the international boundary commission.

Funds recommended for the flood control program under the army engineers provide for the completion of 32 deferred projects and resumption of work on 25 other projects. They also provide for initiation of 31 projects expected to be completed by 1948 and 29 others which will take longer to construct.

The engineers' navigation program involves 23 projects and the reclamation bureau's program 31 projects.

LEADERS EXILED BY RUSSIAN RULE CARRY ON FIGHT

Stockholm Is Center of Undercover Groups

BY HAL FOUST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 17—Here is a peace time capital of governments in exile, alike and yet different from the governments in exile of the war years in London and Washington, D. C. In both instances the regular rulers sought and are seeking by remote control to guide peoples from whom they have been separated by alien enemies.

In war time the enemy was Hitler. The king of Norway carried on from London. The queen of the Dutch empire was in Washington, D. C., much of the time. Verbal leaders of resistance in France, Belgium, Poland and other defeated countries flitted between the capitals of allied powers.

Remain Under Cover

Since V-E day leaders of European countries absorbed by the soviets have made Stockholm their center, with excursions to Washington and London. They must remain anonymous for they exacted promises not to disclose their identity. Unlike the war time exiles who were conspicuous in society and political discussions, today's exiles are under cover.

America and Great Britain feted the refuge rulers of war time, especially the titled ones and those who spent freely the money of their vanquished peoples. Sweden offers security for those who have fled their homes and the hardships suffered by their peoples, but Dictator Stalin does not permit any funds to leave the lands he has conquered. The exiles are living on whatever private funds they had outside of their native countries.

The war time exiles enjoyed a good press in Great Britain and America. Their entourages included clever propagandists. Sweden's guests are forbidden to propagandize so their utterances are thru indirect agencies, such as national freedom committees.

Stress Their Great Past

The ousted minister and diplomats are as active under cover in promoting their national interests as were their war time counterparts who were more conspicuous at press conferences and international cocktail parties.

Today's exiles carry maps showing that their countries were at one time or the other world powers—not the inconspicuous spots on the maps of today. They argue that their nations were the liberators of oppressed neighbors and should not be extinguished by the World War II. spread of the soviets.

The exiled spokesmen, to discomfit an American correspondent, compare the ruthelessness of soviet expansion with the American conquests over the Indians, but point out that in current European history it is the savages who are taking from the civilized. Red rule in absorbed states is compared with the carpet bag era in the South after the Civil war when Union bayonets supported transient white scoundrels and former slaves in high office.

All for "Patriotism"

Like the royalty and aristocracy which was in Washington and London, there is never mention here of personal careers or fortunes at stake. Conversations are kept on a high plane of patriotism.

Commercial interests are mentioned only incidentally. It is pointed out that the Reds are closing ports to United States goods, reducing employment and jobs in America. The same argument was heard when Hitler was taking Europe.

Anonymous spokesmen also tell of their peoples' centuries of isolationism, history's evidence that European neighbors do not merge. They cite religious differences and speak of their people's affections for their nobility.

Some even advocate World War III. if necessary to obtain the four freedoms of the Atlantic Charter for the little nations which lost all freedoms in the allied victory in World War II.

Nimitz at Pearl Harbor; Will Speak on Navy Day

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Oct. 17 (AP)—Adm. Nimitz flew back to Pearl Harbor today after a tour of the United States. He will make an address on Navy day, Oct. 27, in Honolulu instead of participating in an observance aboard the battleship Missouri at New York as originally planned.

SAW THRU DOOR TO STEAL WHISKY

William Schaller, owner of the tavern at 4451 Lake Park av., found yesterday morning that burglars had sawed their way thru a rear door of the tavern and had stolen 12 cases of whisky, valued at $165, and $5 from the cash register.

SOVIET POLICY IS PERIL TO WORLD, AFL UNIT SAYS

Charges Reds Upset London Parley

BY GEORGE HARTMANN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 17—Soviet Russia's attempts to dominate post-war Europe and Asia are dangerous to the entire world, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor declared today in a statement.

The AFL leaders, in fall session here, said that reports of State Secretary Byrnes and British Foreign Minister Bevin after the foreign ministers' recent conference in London "leave no room for doubt that the noncoöperative attitude of soviet Russia is largely responsible for the failure of that conference."

"If Russia is going to persist in a lone wolf foreign policy," the labor leaders said, "nothing will be gained by dodging the facts or pretending they do not exist. We cannot continue to placate any nation at the cost of principles.

Urge Firm Policy

"Failure on our part to adopt a firm policy in defense of our conviction will only be interpreted as a sign of weakness and inevitably will result in pressure for further concessions."

The council dispatched to the labor government of Great Britain an appeal that it act at once in behalf of the oppressed Jews of Europe "whose plight has not received proper consideration since victory."

Criticize Great Britain

The AFL conferees scored Great Britain for what they termed delay in establishing Palestine as a Jewish homeland and declared that if the "promise had been carried out within a reasonable time, untold suffering could have been avoided and many thousands of Jewish lives could have been spared."

"We urge," the council said, "that President Truman's recommendation for immediate increase of Jewish immigration quotas in Palestine be complied with and that Jewish sovereignty in Palestine be granted as soon as conditions justify."

Danish Patriot Leader Slain; Assassin Escapes

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Oct. 17 (AP)—Col. Riis Lassen, one of Denmark's underground leaders during the nazi occupation, was shot to death last night on the brightly lighted main street of Aarhus. The assassin escaped. The shooting was believed to have been instigated by the Hiopmen, a Danish-German organization of terrorists.

Electoral Setup

MOSCOW, Oct. 17 (AP)—Residents of portions of East Prussia, wrested from Germany, and the Kurlies and southern Sakhalin Island, taken from Japan, will vote in the Russian general election Feb. 10 and elect deputies to the supreme soviet of the U. S. S. R. A special edition of Izvestia disclosed today that Russia already is listing these conquests as part of the soviet union's electoral setup.

Other territories taken in the war and which will participate in the elections are the new soviet republics of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania, all former independent Baltic states; Moldavia, taken from Romania, and Karelia, annexed from Finland. Large districts of the Ukraine and White Russia, formerly eastern Poland, and the Carpatho-Ukraine, which before the war was part of Czechoslovakia, also will vote.

With all these new territories, the February election will be the largest in soviet history, with 1,287 domestic electoral districts, compared to 1,143 in the last election, in 1937.

DUKE OF ALBA QUITS, ASSAILS FRANCO REGIME

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, Oct. 17—The duke of Alba, Spanish ambassador to London for eight years, left his post today, issuing a statement reaffirming his monarchic sentiments and asserting that the Franco regime is "harmful to the best interests of Spain."

Pending the arrival of his successor, Domingo de las Barcenas, whose appointment was announced last week, Alba turned over the embassy to the marquis of Santa Cruz, who will act as charge d'affaires.

Alba's statement tells how when the Spanish civil war began in 1936 he took the post of Franco's envoy in London. But in March of this year Don Juan's [pretender to the throne] manifesto criticizing the Franco regime as being "modeled on the totalitarian system of the axis powers" was issued. "In accordance with the manifesto I immediately resigned my post," Alba said. He intends to leave for Spain in November, he added, and resume his "academic work."

BYRNES REVEALS AMERICAN-RED SPLIT ON JAPAN

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—Conflicts between the United States and Russia over Balkan governments and Japan are approaching a new period of crisis. This developed today from disclosures made by State Secretary Byrnes at a news conference.

In respect to Japan, Byrnes disclosed that Russia is standing pat on its demand that an allied control council should take over supreme authority there from Gen. MacArthur. As a result, it is possible Russia will refuse to send a representative to the first meeting of the American sponsored far eastern advisory commission here next Tuesday.

On Balkan conflicts the central problem is whether the United States—and England, too—will recognize soviet supported governments in Romania and Bulgaria, which they have thus far declined to do.

Investigator Leaving

A special investigator for Byrnes, Mark Ethridge, publisher of Louisville, Ky., was scheduled to leave overnight for those two countries to investigate the extent of political freedom existing there. Ethridge was especially chosen by Byrnes as a trained and impartial investigator.

The conditions which he will find in the Balkans unless they change very abruptly are likely to be those that other observers have reported finding there. These include political "front" governments efficiently controled by local Communists and denying very wide freedom of political opposition. American officials say they will be willing to recognize Communist governments of any variety in Romania and Bulgaria so long as they are convinced that those governments have the support of the people.

Reds Silent on Meeting

Byrnes told his news conference he wanted Ethridge to look into questions of laws bearing on democratic rights for the people.

The question of the far eastern advisory commission came up when Byrnes was asked whether Russia had accepted the bid to the meeting on Oct. 23. He said the Russians had simply advised him that a control council should be set up before any sort of advisory commission went into operation. Despite this firm stand on Russia's part, Byrnes said he still hoped that they would send a delegate to the Oct. 23 session.

Others Will Attend

The advisory commission would include the United States, Britain, Russia, and China, as well as six smaller nations which fought the Pacific war. There appears to be no question about attendance of any country other than Russia.

The Russians argue that they were perfectly satisfied to have a supreme commander in charge at Tokyo so long as problems were of a military nature. But they contend that now questions are political, economic, and financial and that all the victorious powers should have a direct hand in running Japanese affairs.

Byrnes, on the other hand, feels that Japanese affairs are primarily for control of the United States because it did most of the Pacific fighting.

GI'S BOY BABY WILL FLY FROM BRITAIN TO U. S.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, Oct. 17—Michael S. Collins, 14 months old son of Sgt. James M. Collins, will leave England by air next week for his father's home in Stillwater, Minn.

Michael, whose mother died in July, will make the trip in the care of Miss Helen L. Johnstone of New York City. Miss Johnstone, who has been on special duty here for the office of war information, volunteered to look after the baby when she learned Sgt. Collins desired to send him home.

United States embassy and army representatives helped to cut red tape and the baby now has a passport and a plane reservation.

The infant has been living with his grandparents in Liverpool. Sgt. Collins, a combat veteran with 95 points, had waived his rights to early return home to remain near his son.

$71,375,000 IS SET AS V-LOAN QUOTA OF FOREIGN BORN

A quota of $71,375,000 for the last and Victory Loan drive will be accepted by the national groups division of the Chicago and Cook county war finance committee at a predrive dinner in Hotel Sherman this evening. During the previous drive, the division raised $90,501,169 and in all seven previous campaigns the division collected more than 400 million dollars.

Campaign plans were outlined to the community chairmen of the 65 Cook county towns by George F. Spaulding, chairman of the drive, and Walter G. Lozier, manager of the communities division, at a dinner in Hotel Sherman last night.

The community chairmen will have the added duty of organizing more than 60,000 volunteers for canvassing formerly done by office of civilian defense workers. The Cook county quota is $608,260,000.

IT ISN'T DONE, BUT 2 GIs JOIN FOXHUNT IN JEEP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 17—Two American soldiers today found out that whatever else a jeep may be used for, chasing a fox in one just is not done here.

Following up the riders in the first hunt of the season in Northamptonshire, they became excited when the fox was sighted, the News Chronicle reported. Not satisfied with the progress of the horses and hounds, they dashed ahead in their jeep to head off the fox. But the fox escaped in a patch of woodland.

And the Americans, whose identity was not disclosed, were said to have been told politely that in this country "one never hunts without an invitation."

FILES TELL NAZI PARTY SECRETS ON MEMBERSHIP

Adherents in U. S. Among 8,000,000 Listed

BERLIN, Oct. 17 (AP)—American military authorities disclosed today that they had seized the Nazi party's master personnel files listing almost 8,000,000 party members. Included were thousands who were members of nazi sponsored groups in the United States, Argentina, and other countries.

The files also contain the names of 2,000,000 more who were rejected as members and a "blacklist" of those expelled from the party.

Persons who were members of nazi sponsored groups abroad apparently were considered to be Nazis as good as those at home. They lived in virtually every country, and were particularly numerous in such South American countries as Argentina. Their cards were crowded together under the Ausland Deutsche organization.

Files Found in 3 Month Search

The first 200,000 cards were found three months ago. The remainder of the files were collected from half a dozen localities and placed under guard by the public safety division of the United States military government. The job was accomplished by a team under Maj. William Browne, Portland, Ore.

The Nazis had ordered the records burned before the Americans arrived, but the order was never executed.

The files gave the allies the first official figures on the number of Nazi party members.

Altho 8,000,000 members were listed, American authorities estimated that because of deaths, resignations, and expulsions the party never had more than 7,000,000 active adherents. [Germany was estimated in 1944 to have a population of 79,375,281.]

Fritz Kuhn Plea Disclosed

A record was kept of every person who joined the party or who aspired to join. The file concerning a rejected applicant living in Germany contained a plea addressed to Adolf Hitler on his behalf by Fritz Kuhn, former bund leader in New York. The rejected man had a brother in New York who was a faithful nazi, Kuhn wrote, asking that Hitler review the case with this in mind. Hitler's action was not noted.

There were four sets of cards in the files.

The main ones were membership cards, which at first were yellow but later were changed to green and enlarged to include more information. A photograph of each member was supposed to be attached to his card, but some were missing.

One Section Covers U. S.

The second set included blue cross-indexed cards listing members by their gau [district]. For instance, those living in New York were listed as "gau: U. S. A."

Records of expelled members were kept in a third set. In each case the reason for the expulsion was given. Thousands of the cards were stamped "non-Aryan."

The fourth set contained cards sent in by the Hitler Youth warning against permitting certain individuals to join the party. The predominant reasons set down on these cards were "homosexual" and "Jews."

RESTAURANTS ON STRIKE IN PARIS; PUBLIC HUNGERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Oct. 17—Several hundred thousand Parisians were forced to resort to makeshift meals or go hungry today as a result of a 24 hour strike by most of the capital's 9,000 restaurants and 20,000 cafes.

The boulevards and the Champs Elysees presented a bleak appearance. Ordinarily animated cafe terraces were deserted. The windows of drinking establishments were hidden behind piles of tables and chairs. Such famous places as the Cafe de la Paix, Drouant's, the Cafe de Paris, and the Larue were shut.

Restaurant owners are demanding abolition of ceiling prices. They also seek permission to stay open later at night and to serve at unrestricted prices such luxury items as lobsters, poultry, and wild game.

Proprietors of cafes and other places dealing exclusively in drinks demand the right to serve their ersatz coffee all day long and ice cream all week as well as permission to boost the price of drinks. Most of the cafe keepers' demands were granted by the prefecture of police.

HEAR SCHLESWIG IS WILLING TO JOIN DENMARK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Oct. 17—Between 80 and 90 per cent of the population of the German province of Schleswig, south of the Danish border, favors joining Denmark, a correspondent for a Danish news agency reported today.

In many regions of the province a resolution expressing loyalty to Denmark was signed 100 per cent by the inhabitants, but since political activity is still banned in Schleswig, circulation of the resolution in other areas was stopped.

The correspondent said leading members of the movement reported their efforts were the result of 25 years of experience which proved "Germany's lack of ability to create tolerable living circumstances." He added that an application for separation of both Schleswig and Holstein from Germany has been forwarded to London thru the British military government.

RAT CATCHER ON WAY TO BATTLE PLAGUE IN ITALY

LONDON, Oct. 17 [Reuters]—Macauley Gracie, who as director of infestation control at the food ministry is chief of England's rat catchers, is flying to Taranto, Italy, to deal with an outbreak of bubonic plague, it was learned here tonight.

Twenty-three cases have been reported in the last four weeks. The united nations relief and rehabilitation administration has released three tons of DDT insecticide. A message was sent to London calling for plague vaccine and expert advice.

Garcie's plane will be loaded with the latest type of rat poison.

BYRNES DRAFTS TREATY PLANKS, BULGARIA HEARS

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 16 [Delayed]—(AP)—Newspapers opposing the Bulgarian government featured prominently today a statement credited to United States Secretary of State Byrnes giving conditions for a peace treaty for Bulgaria.

The newspapers asserted that the conditions specified by Byrnes were that boundaries with Greece and Romania be unchanged; that Bulgaria pay no reparations except actual damages while receiving credit for improvements in parts of occupied Greece; that Bulgaria be given commercial outlets in Dedeagach, Kavalla, and Salonika; that foreign troops leave Bulgaria when peace is signed; and that Bulgaria create a democratic government with all democratic forces participating.

Quotes New York Radio

One of the newspapers gave no source of its information. Another quoted the New York radio.

The communist afternoon newspaper Rabotnitchesko Delo, commenting on the decision of two major opposition parties to boycott the coming elections, said, "They are afraid they will be spit upon and kicked out by the people."

Some Points Wrong: Byrnes

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17—Asked at his news conference about statements in Sofia papers that he had given conditions for a peace treaty with Bulgaria, Secretary Byrnes said the reports were wrong in some respects. Byrnes would not elaborate.

U. S. GREEKS PROTEST

The supreme president of Ahepa, national organization for Greek-Americans, said yesterday "Greece has been sold down the river," if some Bulgarian newspaper claims of peace terms proposed for Bulgaria by Secretary of State Byrnes are correct.

Referring to stories featured in Sofia newspapers opposing the present Bulgarian government, Harris J. Booras of Boston, Mass., declared: "We vigorously protest and proclaim that, if these terms as claimed from Sofia are correct, Greece with all her sacrifices during the war has been sold down the river."

Summons Chapters

Booras, in Chicago for a meeting of the city's 10 Ahepa chapters, described the organization as a fraternal educational society of liberals, representing 1,000,000 Americans of Greek descent.

Altho Booras said he "doubted whether Byrnes had actually proposed such terms," he asserted he would call a protest meeting of all Ahepa chapters Monday. All the organization's affiliates, he said, will be asked to telegraph protests to Byrnes, President Truman, and members of the senate and house.

DEGAULLE ASKS FOR SUPPORT IN FRENCH VOTING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Oct. 17—Gen. De Gaulle broadcast an appeal to French voters tonight to support his government's program in the general elections next Sunday, France's first in nine years.

The voters will elect 522 assemblymen and pass on two questions: Shall the assembly be a constituent body [one having power to revise the constitution], and shall it be given power to name the president and his cabinet in its seven month reign?

De Gaulle urged the voters to approve both propositions, and if they do it is believed he will be returned to power. He promised in his broadcast he would lay down the exceptional powers he has held since June, 1940, as soon as the elections are over. He said the French were now "installed on the Rhine and we are resuming our place at the world diplomatic tables as once more a great power." He added that the country had taken a great stride in domestic recovery.

U. S. STRIKES HIT SOUTH AFRICA

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa, Oct. 17 [Reuters]—United States strikes are holding up the delivery of $3,000,000 worth of road building equipment purchased by South Africa from the United States, a member of the national roads board said here today.

NATIONS REVISE INDICTMENT OF NAZI WAR CHIEFS

BERLIN, Oct. 17 (AP)—At Russian suggestion prosecutors of the United States, Britain, Russia, and France made revisions tonight in the 43 page indictment against major Nazis which is scheduled to be filed with the international war crimes tribunal here tomorrow morning. The Russians presented new and higher figures for deaths in mass atrocities committed on the eastern front.

Otherwise all appeared ready for the often postponed presentation of the indictment.

[In London, Hartley Shawcross, British attorney general, said the trial of leading German war criminals would begin at Nuernberg early in November.]

BELSEN BLONDE LASHES BACK AT PROSECUTOR

Irma Grese Gives Angry Replies at Trial

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 17—Beautiful, blonde SS Commando Leader Irma Grese responded angrily to cross-examination in the Belsen war crimes trial today. When the prosecutor asked her about cases in which she is charged with murder, she answered with a mixture of arrogance and anger.

At times she was so furious that she beat against the microphone.

The prosecutor asked Irma about the deposition of a fellow accuser, Helena Kopper, who charges that Irma, while in command of a punitive squad, deliberately sent women to death in a sandpit near Oswiecim [Auschwitz] by ordering them to go close to a barbed wire fence. Irma knew, said the witness, they would be killed "for attempting to escape" by guards on duty outside the enclosure. Irma admitted working in a punitive squad connected with road building, but denied sending the women to their death.

She also denied being responsible for the death of women killed by a dog which some internee witnesses charged she set on them. She denied ever owning a dog.

Denies Fatal Beatings

Altho the lawyer for the defense had fought hard to discredit the charges of witnesses who said that Irma and other supervisors carried whips with which they beat them, Irma admitted she had the first whip made in the weaving plant at Oswiecim.

Calmly Irma spoke of selections for the gas chamber in her camp of 30,000 Hungarian women. "During the selections," she said, "the prisoners almost always had to stand naked while they were being chosen either to work or for the gas chamber. It is true that if any prisoner tried to run away and I caught her I would beat her, but not to death."

She shrugged when the prosecutor asked if there was a big difference between beating to death and gassing. When reminded that witnesses, including a block senior, stated that she, too, pointed out victims who should go to the gas chamber, Irma said, "I don't remember." Then she claimed that the witness lied by saying, "I never had a woman by that name among my seniors."

To the charge of shooting two women who jumped out of a window in which gas chamber selections were being made, she answered that she never used the pistol which she carried at Oswiecim.

Changes Hair Style

One of the witnesses had described Irma Grese as a woman of 30 who wore her hair up. She had whisked her locks about, trying to claim a hair style sufficient to discredit the witness, but the prosecution had photographs taken of Irma at the time of her arrest before she let her hair down. She admitted evolving the hairdo in her prison cell.

Irma admitted she had asked Joseph Kramer, commandant, to allow her to stay at Belsen. She explained that it was for "purely personal reasons." When the defense counsel insisted that she tell the court why, Irma said that she had met a schutzstaffel [elite guard] officer in Oswiecim who was transferred to Belsen and she wanted to be near him.

The No. 10 accused, Ilse Lothe, a former prisoner who became a camp policewoman, took the stand this afternoon and spoke at length of beatings administered by all the women supervisors and of beatings which she herself had to endure when caught in a minor infraction of the rules.

Tells of "Stalin Swing"

She landed in a concentration camp because she refused to work in an ammunition plant. After going thru Ravensbrueck she reached Oswiecim in 1943, and because she was strong and a German she was placed in charge of a labor squad.

When she was caught smuggling out a letter from a prisoner she was placed on what the prisoners called "the Stalin swing." In this punishment the women had a bar passed under their knees, their feet tied to their thighs, their hands tied together, and then the bar was raised so that their heads hung downward and their bodies swung back and forth while two SS men administered blows from both sides.

She was charged with being with Irma Grese when the latter set a dog on prisoners, but Irma and Ilse agreed that they never worked together.

In Belsen Ilse was in charge of the "vegetable detail" and had to supervise the transport of potatoes and turnips from a barn to the kitchen. Fifteen internees had to pull huge carts full of vegetables into the camp. She declared that this work was not too strenuous for the women under her command because "they were strong Russians. They remained strong because, like myself, they knew how to 'organize' food, that is to say, cheat and get it illegally—that was the only way one could survive."

Donesse Heath Kuhn, English wife who stowed away on transport, serves breakfast to her husband, Donald Kuhn, after reunion in Rochester, N. Y.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 17 (AP) — Bright eyed with excitement, Donesse Heath Kuhn, stowaway English bride, reached her new home today.

"I'm glad it's over—but I'd go thru it again to be with Bob and to have our baby in this country," the 20 year old girl declared as she got acquainted with her husband's family.

She arrived here just a week after she landed in Boston aboard an American troopship on which she had hidden under the bunk of her husband, Robert Kuhn, 23, a discharged soldier who had joined the merchant marine.

The English girl, whose child will be born in March, says she doesn't feel strange in this country "because people are so nice."

Immigration officials in New York granted her permission to remain in the United States one year on a temporary visa.

ORGANIZE GROUP IN PARLIAMENT TO BACK JEWS

BY E. R. NODERER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 17—A number of Jewish and non-Jewish members of parliament have organized a pressure group within the parliamentary Labor party with the object of forcing the government to admit more Jews to Palestine, it was reported in political circles today.

The group is headed by Sydney Silverman, member for Nelson and Colne, and has the support of several Jewish peers such as Lord Strabolgi [Joseph Montagu Kenworthy] and Lord Samuel [Herbert Louis Samuel].

Three Point Program

The group has formulated a three point demand:

1. Immediate admission of 100,000 displaced European Jews into Palestine.

2. Palestine problems to be transferred from the colonial office to the dominions office.

3. An open declaration of a British policy to create a national home for Jews in Palestine.

The parliamentary Labor party consists of all the Labor members of parliament who meet periodically to plan legislation to be presented to parliament.

Meanwhile, the Zionist Federation of Great Britain and Ireland issued a pamphlet here today entitled "Keep Faith with Martyrs of Israel." It declares that homeless Jews will continue to enter Palestine despite the efforts of the British to keep them out.

Displaced Make Demands

Asserting that 60,000 Jews in the British and American zones are "saved but not yet liberated," the pamphlet declares that they are being maintained as displaced persons in primitive camps under miserable conditions. The pamphlet quotes an unidentified spokesman of these displaced Jews as making the following demands:

They should be provided with adequate housing, feeding, and health conditions. They should have the right to develop their own means of rehabilitation. They should have the right to name their own spokesman. They should have the right to settle where they want to—the right to go to Palestine.

More Troops Arrive

HAIFA, Palestine, Oct. 17 [Reuters]—British troop reënforcements arrived here today aboard the Dutch liner Volendam from Britain. They will be transported to army camps in various parts of Palestine.

GREECE'S REGENT FORMS CABINET; HE'S PRESIDENT

First Cleric to Head Government

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 17 (AP)—Archbishop Damaskinos, regent of Greece, ended a prolonged cabinet crisis today by taking over the government as provisional president.

Archbishop Damaskinos

Immediately after announcing his decision, the 63 year old regent, once exiled by the late Premier John Metaxas, took the oath of office before the holy synod of the Greek church.

He then formed a government made up entirely of members of the previous cabinet, excluding only Adm. Petros Voulgaris, the former premier, and his under secretary, Capt. George Lambrinopoulos. Voulgaris witnessed the induction of the government at the archbishop's palace.

News of the regent's action caused a sensation thruout Greece. It was the first time in Greek history that a clergyman had headed the government.

Regent Explains Move

A bulletin issued by the regent's office said he had acted because he could not permit the political crisis to "last any longer" and because "the present situation in the country does not permit extemporaneous decisions."

The announcement said the regent would assume "personally the presidency until there is a definite settlement of the government question on a sound basis as dictated by the needs of the fatherland."

[An Exchange Telegraph agency dispatch from Athens quoted the newspaper Hestia as saying Damaskinos consulted the British ambassador, Reginald Leeper, before assuming the provisional presidency. A spokesman for the British foreign office in London said British policy was that the Greeks should select their government under the leadership of Damaskinos and there would be no British objection to his appointing himself. The British minister of state, Philip Noel-Baker, told commons that any belief the British government was promoting or hoping for restoration of the monarchy in Greece was without foundation.]

Posts Unfilled 8 Days

Damaskinos took over after Greece had been without a government for eight days, Voulgaris having resigned. At least five attempts to form a cabinet had failed. The issue that had forced out the Voulgaris government and blocked formation of a new cabinet was the insistence of left wing groups that the elections scheduled for Jan. 20 be postponed.

Damaskinos has been regent since Dec. 30, 1944, when he was appointed by a proclamation of King George II.

FREE THOUSANDS FROM DISPLACED PERSONS' CAMP

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 17 [Reuters]—Russian frontier guards urgently appealed to British military authorities to send out troops when thousands of displaced persons came surging down the main Budapest road toward Vienna yesterday, it was announced today.

The British turned the matter over to the Russian command, who investigated and late in the evening the internees were all back in camp.

It was reported that a Russian officer commanding a certain camp for displaced persons was being relieved by another officer and wishing to hand over a clean sheet and a spotless camp, opened camp gates and the occupants numbering some 7,000 streamed out into open country.

UTILITY STRIKE SLATED TODAY FOR MICHIGAN

State Guard Is Alerted by Governor

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 17 [Special]—Col. J. M. Brewster, in charge of the 3d district of the Michigan state guard, announced late tonight he has been officially informed a walkout of employes of the Consumers' Power company's Zilwaukee plant will begin at 8 a. m. tomorrow.

The Zilwaukee plant is the largest in the Consumers' Power system and supplies light and power to Saginaw, Bay City, and other industrial cities in the Saginaw valley.

Earlier in the evening Gov. Kelly, in Port Huron, issued orders alerting both the state guard and the state police and directing them to stand ready for duty in the event of such a strike.

2,000 Communities Threatened

Officials said they expected the strike to spread to all plants of the Consumers' Power system in the state. This would cut off nearly all of Michigan's major cities, except for Detroit and Lansing, from light and power, affecting an estimated 2 million persons in 2,000 communities.

The executive council of the CIO Utility Workers' council met late today in Lansing and adjourned about 6 p. m. without a public statement. Previously the council had set 5 p. m. today as a deadline for the beginning of a strike unless union demands were met.

Reject Mediators' Proposal

The union is demanding a 30 cent an hour increase in wages and has turned down a proposal of 13 cents an hour recommended by mediators appointed by Gov. Kelly. The company had offered an increase of 10 cents an hour.

The Consumers' system services gas as well as electricity. It was not immediately apparent whether gas as well as electricity would be cut off in the areas affected.

VETS CLOSE PLANT

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 17 [Special]—Fifteen veterans of World War I., who said they had been laid off their jobs while a veteran of World War II. with less seniority remained at work, today picketed the Ryerson & Haynes company plant here.

The plant, which manufactures automotive parts, closed when other employes, members of the CIO United Automobile Workers' union, refused to cross the picket line.

A spokesman for the pickets said they are objecting to an interpretation of the draft law by Draft Director Hershey, which gives returning employes who are veterans of World War II. preference for a year over other employes.

Beck Underwood, president of the UAW-CIO local, said the union is also opposed to "super-seniority" for returning veterans.

The pickets carried placards saying, "We want work, not Gen. Hershey's opinions."

Their specific grievance, it was said, was that when the working force was reduced from 900 to 100 pending reconversion, a World War II. veteran was kept on the job while the 15 World War I. veterans, despite seniority, were laid off.

COSTLY STRIKE VOTE

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 17 (AP)—Frank H. Bowen, regional director of the national labor relations board, estimated today that the strike vote to be taken among employes of the General Motors corporation, Chrysler corporation, and Ford Motor company will cost the government $500,000.

Half that amount, he said, will be required to take the vote among 300,000 employes of General Motors.

General Motors employes will vote Oct. 24; Chrysler, Oct. 25, and Ford, Nov. 7. Preparations have not yet begun for the Ford vote.

BOOST TELEGRAPH PAY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—The war labor board today raised the minimum hourly rate for all experienced employes of the Western Union Telegraph company to 55 cents.

The order did not apply to foot and bicycle messengers. For these messengers the board ordered a starting rate of 45 cents an hour and 50 cents after 30 days. The messengers now receive 40 cents at the start.

THE QUESTION
Among your souvenirs which do you treasure most?

WHERE ASKED
Chicago Service Men's Center No. 1, 176 W. Washington st.

THE ANSWERS

Tech. Sgt. John Williams, Hollywood, Cal.—Just before I went to Germany I took a 17 jewel wristwatch from a Japanese captain. The captain was taken prisoner and we found out that in civilian life he had lived in California a few blocks from Errol Flynn's home. I have the watch in a glass frame at home.

Tech. Sgt. E. L. Comer, Kalamazoo, Mich.—In Mongidoro, Italy, I got a German P-38 pistol. It's similar to our army 45s and is a neat little weapon. I also got a light machine gun, but I like the small pistol better. It has a safety catch on it. All you do is pull the catch and its ready for action. It is very efficient.

Sgt. Arthur Williams, 2258 Leland av.—From the shell leveled city of Bizerte I managed to get two old pictures that were hanging on the walls of a bombed out home. They are sketches of Arab villages with walls around them. The pictures are so old they're ready to crumble, but I think I'll be able to frame one of them.

Staff Sgt. Edward Rudnick, 3900 Cornelia av.—I have a dress dagger that is something of a prize. It's a little thing with a chromium or polished steel blade, a black handle, and a hand guard. A friend of mine gave it to me near the Rhine river. It has a dull blade and was used as an officer's decoration.

Sgt. Norton Hubbard, Hillsboro, Wis.—One of my favorite souvenirs is a small collection of coins bearing ancient dates. I got them in a coliseum in Tunisia. I also have an album that contains about 450 pictures of the Ital-war in Ethiopia. I found it in the remains of an Italian fortress.

UNION IN THREAT TO OUST BRITISH DOCK STRIKERS

LONDON, Oct. 17 (AP)—The dockers' union threatened to disown 46,000 striking dock workers today after 11,000 men in London and Liverpool voted to prolong the wildcat walkout menacing Britain's food supplies.

While some 4,000 soldiers unloaded food ships, Jack Donovan, secretary of the dock section, Transport and General Workers' union [TGWU], declared the union would not represent the strikers in wage negotiations unless they resumed work immediately. As he spoke, 1,150 ship clerks quit at the previously unaffected Surrey docks in London, throwing another 4,000 dockers into enforced idleness, and boosting the national total of stevedores affected to 50,000. Four thousand London strikers massed in Victoria park took a standpat vote; 28 men dissented.

The strikers have demanded a $5 a day wage—an increase of $1.90—a 40 hour week, abolition of piece work pay, and improved medical services.

CONTINUE WAGE TALKS WITH AFL DOCKERS TODAY

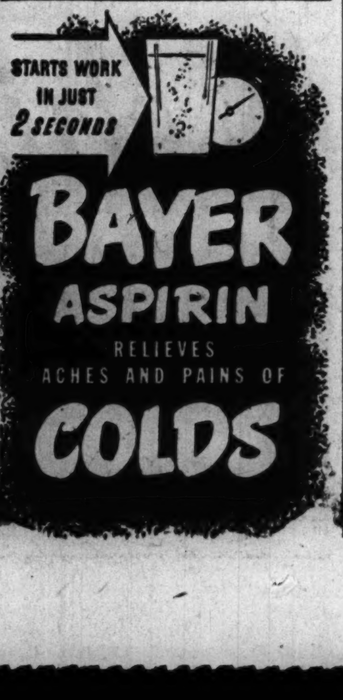
New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—Wage contract negotiations between the New York Shipping association and the AFL International Longshoremen's association, which has been on strike for 17 days, will be resumed tomorrow.

J. V. Lyon, chairman of the shipping asociation, and Joseph P. Ryan, president of the longshoremen's group, made the announcement following a meeting late today.

Ryan said the strike of 35,000 stevedores was broken today with the return to work of an estimated 10,000 workers.

William E. Warren, insurgent leader of the union who has been supported by the CIO National Maritime union and Harry Bridges, president of the CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union, denied the strike had ended.

The strike at its peak kept more than 400 ships tied at their piers, as the stevedores refused to handle cargoes.



ADMINISTRATION POLICY BLAMED IN STRIKE WAVE

BY WILLIAM MOORE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17—Blame for the nation's wave of strikes that is crippling industrial reconversion was placed squarely upon the shoulders of the Democratic administration today.

The house military affairs committee was told that the labor crisis was brought on by the administration policy of coddling irresponsible leaders. These leaders were enabled to get a death grip on the nation, the committee heard, because:

1. The justice department twisted the law to permit unions to evade the legal ban against contributions to political campaigns.

2. The justice department never enforced the law punishing unions for illegal strikes and damages to plants.

War Statute Stretched

3. The labor department, until recently headed by Frances Perkins, extended the law governing war production plants to industries not engaged in war production, thus siding with union leaders by permitting the seizure of these plants, as in the case of Montgomery Ward & Co.

Describing the strike notices filed within the last two weeks as "an atomic bomb" that has fallen upon the national labor relations board, John M. Houston of the board confessed to the committee that the board is unable to deal with the bomb.

Up to Leadership

Rep. Smith [D., Va.], mistakenly known as one of the authors of the Smith-Connally anti-strike bill, testified that the responsible leadership of either the Democrats or Republicans can end the strikes by announcing that "it is not going to stand for this interference with reconversion."

Smith got no cheers from the administration dominated committee when he reminded the members that they had pigeonholed the original Smith anti-strike bill, which he said would have stopped some of the war strikes and those in progress now. It was later incorporated in the bill and then stricken out, but the law nevertheless went down as the Smith-Connally act.

Smith was testifying today in behalf of his new bill to repeal the Smith-Connally act and abolish the war labor board, which already has voted to liquidate itself. Fellow Democrats sprang to the administration's defense when Smith began telling the administration's failures, among them the failure to halt union political contributions.

Seizure "No Solution"

When government seizure of strike bound plants came up, Smith said:

"I never thought much of the idea that the employer's profit should be taken from him because he couldn't get along with his labor. It's no solution for the government to take over the oil and automotive industries.

"If that's the policy, we might as well have a communist government."

Rep. Elston [R., O.] joined Smith in telling of administration neglect in enforcing the law, and Elston branded the Montgomery Ward seizure "outrageous."

HOLLYWOOD PICKETS RESUME SITDOWN IN DRIVEWAY OF STUDIO

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 17 (AP)—Pickets at Warner Brothers studio today resumed their sitdown strategy and police and sheriff's deputies countered by carrying or dragging dozens of them out of the main driveway and dumping them on near-by sidewalks.

Two of the pickets, a man and a woman, reported to their first aid station for treatment and said they were injured when the officers dragged them from the studio gates.

Pickets numbered about 300 again today, the same as yesterday, when the sitdown tactics were first resorted to. There were 100 police and sheriff's deputies, about twice yesterday's force.

Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors' association, said after several conferences that the strike "is an extremely complicated affair." Two AFL unions are engaged in a jurisdictional battle.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ASKS PATIENCE WITH THE D. A. R.

New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosvelt advised students at New York university today to "have patience" with the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who resigned in 1939 from the D. A. R. because the organization refused to rent Constitution hall in Washington, D. C., to Concert Singer Marian Anderson because she is a Negro, was asked by students for her opinion of the D. A. R. at a Christian association meeting.

"The D. A. R. is made up very largely of older people," Mrs. Roosevelt said, "and it is very much harder for older people to break with traditions they have lived in. I think perhaps we ought to have patience and hope that eventually they will see the light."

Hazel Scott, pianist and wife of Rep. Powell [D., N. Y.], said recently she had been refused permission to sing at Constitution hall because she is a Negro.

STRIKE OF COAL MINERS CALLED OFF BY LEWIS

Resume Jobs by Monday, UMW Chief Orders

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, today asked 216,000 striking soft coal miners to return to work by Monday and end the threat to reconversion industries.

The sudden call for a halt to stoppages in 1,031 mines caught the operators by surprise.

They quickly expressed satisfaction, promised to coöperate in restoring coal production, and pledged there would be no retaliation against the strikers.

Speculate on Reason

No detailed explanation of Lewis' decision to end the strike was given beyond a UMW spokesman's statement that the step was taken in the public interest.

Some persons in touch with the situation thought these factors might have played a part:

1. Possible concern on the part of the UMW leadership over public reaction to the strike.

2. A protracted strike of miners over an issue not involving any wage increase for them might not be continuously popular with them.

Schwellenbach "Delighted"

Labor Secretary Schwellenbach, whose own efforts at settlement collapsed Monday night, said he was both "delighted" and hopeful that Lewis' action would have "a steadying effect thruout industry generally."

Schwellenbach had sought vainly in eight days of meetings to bring the United Mine Workers and the soft coal operators together on the issue of unionization of 28,000 to 50,000 foremen, clerical, and technical workers.

The solid fuels administration said it would take a week to restore normal operations after work is resumed. It estimated the total loss of soft coal to date at 13,156,900 tons.

This estimate indicated that the country would enter the winter with a 26 million ton soft coal deficit. A 10 million ton shortage was foreseen before the walkouts began on Sept. 21 and about 3 million tons more will be lost this week before the mines reopen.

Strike in Six States

After the foremen's union struck Sept. 21 at a few mines, the movement spread and involved mines in six states.

Operators apparently were not expecting the sudden Lewis move. They had met all day yesterday and this morning in an effort to find some common ground on which they could request Schwellenbach to resume conciliation conferences.

Lewis in his telegram said that all negotiations incident to the controversy had been discontinued and added significantly:

"Future efforts to abate this controversy will be resumed at a later more appropriate date."

EXPECT ENDING OF CURB TO LIFT NEWSPRINT USE

Anticipated lifting Dec. 31 of all federal controls over newsprint, which has been rationed in the United States since 1941, is expected to increase demand for the product by at least 10 per cent and bring about a possible shortage of 42,666 tons a month during the first six months of 1946, Col. J. Hale Steinman, director of the printing and publishing division of the war production board, predicted yesterday.

Steinman spoke at the 61st annual meeting of the Inland Daily Press association in the Congress hotel, where 300 newspaper executives at a later session heard C. M. Jansky, radio consultant of Washington, D. C., say that radio can be free only when the right to own and operate a broadcasting station is open to "any good American who desires to engage in this activity."

The association, which will close its session today, elected the following officers for the coming year: President, Fred A. Seaton, publisher the Hastings [Neb.] Tribune; vice president, Franklin D. Schurz, vice president the South Bend [Ind.] Tribune; secretary-treasurer, William F. Canfield, Glen Ellyn; chairman of the board of directors, Don Anderson, publisher the Madison [Wis.] State Journal and Inland 1945 president.

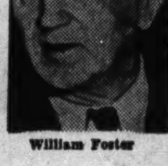
Seattle, Wash., Oct. 17 (AP)—Rear Adm. Oscar C. Badger got just one dance with his wife at the first navy enlisted men's dance of fleet week. After that, the sailors took over, and the commander of the 3d fleet units here just sat and watched as she danced with several of the scores of sailors who sought dances with her.

TRUMAN YIELDS TO IMPERIALISTS, ASSERTS FOSTER

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—William Z. Foster, head of the Communist party in America, asserted today that "the Truman administration is yielding to the pressure of imperialistic forces."



William Foster

He particularly criticized appointment of James F. Byrnes as state secretary, saying it was "a concession to the imperialists."

"It was a bad day for America and the democracies in general when he assumed the secretaryship of state," Foster told the house committee investigating un-American activities.

Foster asserted that spokesmen for what he termed the "imperialists" included: Former President Hoover, Gov. Dewey of New York, Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], and John Foster Dulles, adviser to Dewey in the 1944 Presidential election.

PARTS SHORTAGE CUTS ESTIMATES ON YULE RADIOS

Frank A. Hiter, senior vice president of the Stewart-Warner corporation, yesterday told newsmen that reconversion problems were slowing down the radio industry. He indicated fewer sets will be available for Christmas than anticipated. He also admitted that while the new sets would represent an improvement over the 1941 models that they would not be "wonder machines."

"The public has been led to believe it could get a radio that would do everything but cut the lawn," he said. "That just isn't so."

Getting essential parts is the big headache for radio makers. The office of price administration first granted parts makers price increases from 5 to 15 per cent and recently upped this to from 9 to 26 per cent. Hiter said he had been informed that not all of the component manufacturers were willing to go ahead on this basis. A full and immediate supply of parts would be required if the industry were to produce three million sets by Christmas.

EX-SHIP BUILDER IN MYSTERIOUS SLUGGING DIES

Dominick Zullo, 31, of 3226 Polk st., died yesterday in County hospital of injuries suffered Oct. 13 in an undetermined manner. He was found unconscious on the pavement at Kedzie av. and Congress st. He appeared to have been struck several times on the head. Zullo never regained consciousness.

Warren av. police said that shortly before Zullo was found a car stopped near the scene and a door was heard to shut violently. This indicated, police said, that Zullo was thrown from a car. He recently returned from a shipyards job on the west coast.

Newspaper files showed that a Dominick Zullo of the Polk st. address had a police record 10 years back.

GUN TOTER SENTENCED TO YEAR

Charles Graham, 22, 128 S. Halsted st., who was arrested Sunday on a charge of carrying a revolver, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Jay A. Schiller in S. State st. police court to one year in the Bridewell.

8,000 WORKERS IN SITDOWN AT CRANE PLANT

Five hundred policemen, who assembled outside the Crane company plant at 4100 S. Kedzie av. yesterday afternoon, prepared to eject 8,000 sitdown strikers, were sent back to their stations after the sitdowners, members of local 2047 of the United Steel Workers [CIO], left the building voluntarily.

The strikers filed out the north gate on instructions from L. J. Hauser, CIO field representative, and union stewards, after Capt. George Barnes of the police labor detail told the stewards that police were prepared to remove the sitdowners forcibly.

At 8 p. m. representatives of the company and the union opened a conference inside the plant in an effort to arrive at an agreement. The meeting was still in progress at 2 a. m.

Refuse to Do Work

Company spokesmen said the situation began developing in the morning when men in one of the company's foundries refused to do their work, and that after several hours this condition spread to two other foundries and some other departments at the plant.

"Because of this work stoppage," the company statement said, "it was necessary to tell them to go home and come back when they were prepared to do their work."

Instead of going home, however, the day shift, for the most part, remained inside the plant, where it was joined by the 4 p. m. shift later in the day.

The company said union representatives walked out of a contract negotiating session Tuesday night.

"Do Not Tolerate Sitdowns"

When the sitdown strike developed, Capt. Barnes went to the plant with a small police detachment and announced that "we do not tolerate sitdown strikes in Chicago."

Later, on orders of Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police, the 500 policemen, representing every available officer from police districts 1 to 20, were sent to the plant and lined up in military formation in front of the plant administration building.

Strikers at the Michigan City plant of the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing company returned to work yesterday after being out for two weeks. A consent election will be held Thursday to determine whether an AFL union or the United Automobile Workers [CIO] shall represent the employes.

WARNS RAILROAD HELP SHORTAGE MAY DELAY GIs

Unless the present shortage of railroad personnel is overcome, it will be impossible to return members of the armed services at the rate contemplated by army and navy schedules, Robert L. Glenn, director of the office of defense transportation's division of transport personnel, said yesterday. Present schedules of the army and navy, he said, call for the return of more than 4 million men between now and the end of next June. Glenn's statement followed a meeting of the Western Association of Railway Executives with representatives of the ODT, army transportation corps, United States employment service, and the railroad retirement board.

HEIRESS TELLS OF CONFRONTING MATE ON RIVAL

Dr. Lyons Admitted Loss of Love, Wife Says

Fighting to hold back tears, Mrs. Alice Lyons, 46, of the Stevens hotel, heiress to an Indianapolis, Ind., traction fortune, yesterday told a jury of eight women and four men in Judge John A. Sbarbaro's Superior court that the happiness of 21 years of marriage crashed in November, 1943, when her husband said he no longer loved her.

Attired in black, Mrs. Lyons related the story of her life with Dr. Horace Lyons, 54, ear, nose, and throat specialist with offices at 30 N. Michigan av., after their wedding in April, 1922, until his alleged disavowal of affection.

The jury is hearing simultaneously Mrs. Lyons' suit for separate maintenance, which alleges that her husband deserted her, and the doctor's cross-complaint for divorce, which charges his wife with habitual drunkenness. Dr. Lyons' attorney is Robert E. Cantwell Jr.

Denies Drinking Charge

Mrs. Lyons also has filed suit for an accounting of $400,000 of her inheritance, which she contends she turned over to her husband to be used in paying their household expenses. This alleged contribution also figures in her separation action.

Mrs. Lyons denied her husband's charge of excessive drinking. Responding to questions by her attorney, Benjamin Ehrlich, she said that she never had been drunk in her life.

"The only time I ever drank," she said, "was with my husband." Even then, she went on, her drinking was limited to a cocktail before dinner or with friends in their Lake Geneva, Wis., home.

Thruout their married life, she testified, she was happy—until the night of Nov. 12, 1943. Ehrlich asked her what happened on that night.

"Bud Gartz [Adolph F. Gartz Jr., heir to a plumbing fortune, who shot and killed himself in his Lake Geneva home April 16, 1944] came over and said that Jeanette [his wife] had told him that she was going to get a divorce and marry Dr. Lyons," she replied.

"My first reaction was to laugh Bud's statement off as ridiculous," the witness continued. "I love Horace, and I was sure he loved me. I was so proud of him, of our home, and of our two daughters."

When Gartz insisted, however, she said she telephoned Mrs. Gartz and asked her to come over.

"Jeanette said that it was true," Mrs. Lyons said. "She told me that she was very fond of Dr. Lyons and that she intended to marry him. I told her that it was all simply ridiculous. I couldn't sleep that night. The next day I went to Chicago and called Dr. Lyons at the University club, where he was staying."

Quotes Disavowal of Love

She said that she told him she had something "very important" to talk about, and that he suggested a drive in his car. They drove to Grant park, she said, where she told him of her conversation with the Gartzes.

"I still couldn't believe it was true," she said. "I told my husband that a doctor's integrity was one of his most valuable assets and that I intended to protect him."

"What did Dr. Lyons say to you?" Ehrlich queried.

"He said, 'I'm very sorry, dear, but I don't love you any more. I am very fond of Jeanette.'

"I was shocked," Mrs. Lyons went on. "I asked him what he intended to do. He said, 'Go back to my office.' He asked me if he could drop me off anywhere. I told him anywhere."

Mrs. Gartz, who resides at 1300 N. State st. and Lake Geneva, was mentioned in the trial Tuesday. Dr. Lyons, called by his wife's attorney as an adverse witness and the first to be heard, testified he was "fond" of Mrs. Gartz, but denied being "enamored" of her.

Rebuked for $4.50 Check

Mrs. Lyons described her life with her parents as "luxurious and happy." She told of traveling thru Europe with a tutor and her cousin and of her school days at St. Mary's of the Lake, girls' school near South Bend, Ind.

She told also of turning over the large checks that she received from her father's estate to her husband. Ehrlich asked her if she ever drew any checks.

"One," she said. "It was for $4.50, and my husband told me not to do it again, as he was closing out the account."

"It's the sergeant's idea. That GI is a little careless with his bayonet."

NO MATTER HOW THEY'RE SLICED, ELI GETS HOOKED

His Golf Suit Is Ruled Out of Bounds

Columbus, O., Oct. 17 [Special]—Unabashed by golfdom's dearth of balls, Eli Boblet, 56, today continued to hoard 3,500 golf balls and announced thru his attorney that he has no intention of halting his feud with a golf course from which six bushels of balls have sailed onto his farm.

It isn't that Eli hates the game. He's only annoyed at the players' slices. It was slices, he contends, that sent so many errant balls to his farm in the last four years that they caused $25,000 worth of damage.

He sued to collect that amount from Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Grubes and their son, Nelson, who own the Bridgeview golf course near Eli's 10 acre farm outside of Columbus' northeastern limits.

Court Rules Against Him

After a five day trial before a jury, Common Pleas Judge Joseph M. Clifford yesterday ordered a directed verdict in favor of the course's owners. The judge held that players and caddies were the real offenders, not the owners.

Eli's attorney, Robert J. Beatty, said today he would seek an appeal and press for an early hearing of the farmer's petition for an injunction to restrain caddies and players from invading his property. The Grubes have on file a petition for an injunction to prevent Eli from interfering with the operation of their golf business.

Help Frightened Away

Forty per cent of the balls hit off the No. 1 tee "went out of bounds with the force of deadly missiles." These wild drives frightened away his help. They broke the glass in his buildings. Several struck him. Caddies and players trampled his crops and set fire to his meadows. When he tried to prevent their trespassing, they beat him, on one occasion dislocating his shoulder.

The Grubes said Eli made a daily practice of standing on his boundary line to heckle players; built trash fires that sent clouds of smoke across the course, and fought with caddies and players who tried to retrieve lost balls.

KRUG OFFERED $75,000 JOB IN FILM INDUSTRY

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 17 (AP)—Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors' association, announced at a press conference today that he has offered an important movie position to J. A. Krug, chairman of the war production board. If he accepts, Krug would step into the new position as president of the Motion Picture Producers' association at a salary of $75,000 a year.

"Mr. Krug would have a big job," Johnston said. "Mainly, it would be the formation of an over-all council of the guilds, crafts, and producers. This council would be in charge of long range labor policies, research, technological developments, and films as an aid to education."

There are two organizations in the movie czar's setup. Johnston is president of the group that produces and sells films. Krug would become president of the group that makes the pictures.

CONSIDER 2 LAWYERS AS CONTENDERS FOR REP. SABATH'S SEAT

Two Chicago attorneys, both with World War II. experience, emerged from the harmony meeting of 21st ward Democratic workers sponsored by Ald. Ropa in the Bohemian American hall, 1440 W. 18th st., last night as possible contenders against Rep. Sabath [D., 5th] in the 1946 Democratic primary.

Ropa, who wrested the ward committeeman post from Sabath last year, said it probably would be another 60 days before the organization makes a definite commitment, but strong support was found among the 300 organization workers gathered at the celebration for both Henry Sakawick, 37, of 2323 S. Leavitt st., and Vincent Ponic, 37, of 1623 W. 17th st.

Sakawich is a graduate of the De Paul university law school and served as a sergeant in the 82d air borne division in Africa, Sicily, Italy, Normandy, the battle of the bulge, in Holland, the Ruhr, and Central Germany during 29 months overseas. Ponic is a graduate of Notre Dame and served two years as a sergeant in the air forces.

TRUMAN HAILS FAO AS STEP TO VICTORY'S FRUIT

Says It Sets Pattern for World Co-operation

BY GAIL COMPTON
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

QUEBEC, Oct. 17—Creation of the international food and agriculture organization [FAO], formally set up here yesterday, was hailed today by President Truman as a means for the united nations to begin to "cultivate the fruits of victory."

The President's message to the first conference of the organization was read by Clinton P. Anderson, secretary of agriculture.

Mr. Truman said the FAO, the first concrete step toward international coöperation as envisioned at the San Francisco conference, would help set the pattern of success or failure for future united nations organizations.

Urges Fair Share to All

"If we had not won our victory thru common effort and common sacrifice, a meeting such as this would have been impossible," he stated. "There would have been no room in the world for candor and decency and mutual helpfulness. Certainly there would have been no room for an international organization dedicated to these two simple propositions: First, that people in all parts of the world can and should have plenty of food and of other products of the farm; second, that the world's people who draw wealth from the earth and sea can and should enjoy their fair share of the good things of life."

The President said the United States was "eager and proud to take its full part" in the efforts of the FAO. Its goals will take time to achieve, he said, and creation of the agency itself will not be enough.

"We must look to the patient coöperation of the family of nations thru FAO and other means," Mr. Truman continued, "but the work essential step forward, and a long you are beginning at Quebec is an one."

Russians on Sidelines

A Russian delegation of 25 sat on the sidelines, unable to participate officially in today's conference because its credentials had not arrived from Moscow. The Russians requested, however, that Russian be considered as one of the official languages of the conference.

The representatives of 30 nations elected L. B. Pearson, Canadian ambassador to the United States, as the permanent chairman of the conference, which will seek to set up a center of agricultural information and service for member nations so that the standard of living of all peoples may be raised. Pearson also was named head of the steering committee, of which Anderson is a member.

The conference accepted Anderson's proposal that China, Mexico, France, England, Australia, India, The Netherlands, and the United States be given places on the steering committee. Two vacancies will be filled later.

Dr. P. W. Tsou, head of the Chinese delegation, and Dr. Manuel J. Zevada, head of the Mexican delegation, were named vice presidents. A third vice president will be chosen later. He may be a Russian if the Russians' credentials arrive.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By BEN MARKLAND

Oct. 17, 1945

METHODS of storing and feeding soft corn are common topics of discussion among middle western farmers this fall, with 10 to 20 per cent of the crop in some areas affected by unseasonably early frosts. The fact that the corn has been touched by frost does not mean the affected fields are lost, as many city residents seem to believe. The frost merely forces the farmer to plan unusual methods of harvesting and feeding, but all of the corn will be used in one form or another.

Crop statisticians estimate the frosts will reduce the amount of cribbed corn by about three per cent. Last year 90 per cent of the field corn was harvested for grain. This year about 87 per cent of the crop will be harvested for grain and the remainder in the form of silage, forage, or pasture.

Moisture Content Important

The University of Illinois college of agriculture has issued suggestions on cribbing soft corn. The most important rule is that no grain having a moisture content above 35 per cent should be cribbed. Reasonably mature corn when frosted will have 26 to 35 per cent moisture content and is safe for cribbing if certain precautions are practiced. One is the obvious precaution of discarding all rotten or extremely wet ears. The second is to husk as thoroly as possible. Husks and silks left on the ear retain moisture and prevent free circulation of air thru the cribbed grain.

Even distribution of the corn in the crib also is important. The danger area is directly below the elevator spout. An accumulation of broken kernels, dirt, husks, and silks in this area tends to pack the grain and prevent air circulation.

Artificial Drying

There is some doubt about the preservative value of salt in stored soft corn. Salt cannot damage the grain, and some farmers believe it helps prevent molding. If used, salt should be evenly divided thru the crib at the rate of two pounds to each three bushels of corn.

Artificial drying of corn in the crib also is recommended by the university. Farmers who have motors and fans attached in mows for curing hay can move this equipment to the crib for forcing air thru the grain. This method of drying corn will be tested this fall on the Wheaton farm. The men believe the cost of building wood ducts, moving the equipment, and building a small shed for the equipment alongside the crib will be between $70 and $100. A few farmers also are planning to use silage-cutter blowers for forcing air thru cribbed corn.

[This is the second article in a series on winter storage of vegetables.]

A BASEMENT room is the most accessible place for storing vegetables during the winter. Many homes have unheated rooms under porches which may be equipped with racks or shelves for holding stored vegetables. Such rooms are especially efficient for storage purposes if they have a small window which permits air circulation.

If there is no such room, a storeroom may be built in one corner of the basement. It should be as far as possible from the furnace, preferably against a north wall. A room with 40 to 50 square feet of floor space is sufficient for most families. The two inside walls may be of any type of lumber. Insulating material should be used on the inside walls to repel basement heat, because the ideal storage temperature for most vegetables is 33 to 40 degrees. A false wood floor, two inches above the concrete floor, also is advisable. The room should be built around a small window to insure adequate circulation of air.

DENIES NAVY DAY FETE WILL SLOW TROOP RETURNS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—Navy Secretary Forrestal said today the return of scores of warships for Navy day celebrations Oct. 27 will not slow down homeward movements of military forces.

The statement was in a letter he said he has written in response to numerous complaints from congress and elsewhere. The letter, made public by the navy, but without information as to whom it was sent, reported that 750,000 men will come home from the Pacific in warships alone in the next 11 months.

"I hope everyone will understand that no vessel which could carry men is being held in port merely to celebrate Navy day," Forrestal said.

The secretary went on to explain that some warships necessarily will spend sometime in port for these reasons: overhaul, granting of earned leave to crews, and conversion for transport work.

LAST U. S. TROOPS LEAVE NORWAY; CROWD AT DOCK

OSLO, Norway, Oct. 17 (AP)—The last American occupation troops in Norway sailed from Oslo harbor today aboard the liberty ship Bienville. Hundreds of Norwegians said farewell to the Americans they called "vaare hjerters okkupanters—occupiers of our hearts."

They waved handkerchiefs, flags, scarfs, and overcoats. They sent flowers aboard. Some smiled and shouted. Some wept. The troops jammed the rails and showered the Norwegians with cigarets and chewing gum. Dinners are farewell parties had been going on in Oslo all week.

The Norwegians presented the troops diplomas signed by Crown Prince Olaf thanking each soldier for his part in "restoring freedom to our land."

Oct. 18—United States Acquires Alaska

AGAINST a background of forest and snow capped mountains, the Stars and Stripes was raised on Oct. 18, 1867, in a town which was then called New Archangel, Russian America. The ceremony marked the formal transfer to the United States of 586,400 square miles of territory now known as Alaska.

The vast region, nearly one-fifth that of continental United States, was purchased from Russia for $7,200,000 in gold. At the time many Americans questioned the wisdom of the purchase. They argued that the territory was a barren and desolate place with resources, if any, that could never be made available. Secretary of State W. H. Seward, who negotiated the deal, was ridiculed; Alaska was called "Seward's Folly" and "Seward's Icebox."

Moreover, the Civil war had just ended, and a demand on the treasury for seven millions in gold was a serious matter. Other Americans fortunately were more farsighted.

The senate ratified the treaty on April 9, 1867, with only two dissenting votes.

Certain newspapers sought to name the new territory "Walrussia," but it was christened Alaska, a corruption of a native word meaning "the great country."

The name of Archangel was changed to Sitka. This town, which had been the seat of the Russian governor, remained the capital until 1906, when it was moved to Juneau.

Since Alaska was acquired by the United States, its mines have produced about a billion dollars worth of gold, copper, and silver. The country also produces coal, lead, tin, platinum, palladium, antimony, tungsten, natural gas, petroleum, and vast quantities of timber.

Between 1867 and 1939 its fisheries marketed products valued at $1,442,974,219. During the same period it produced furs valued at $142,400,000.

PEACH GROWERS CLAIM ORCHARDS WERE 'ATOMIZED'

Camden, N. J., Oct. 17 (AP)—William C. Gottschalk, Camden attorney, today said a dozen Salem county peach growers, who claimed their 1944 peach crop was blitzed by the atomic bomb long before the Japs ever heard of it, had filed suit in New Jersey Supreme court to collect $400,000 from three chemical firms.

The firms named in the action were the E. I. du Pont de Nemours company, which has a plant at Deepwater, Salem county, and the Sun Oil company and the General Chemical company, both of Marcus Hook, Pa.

Gottschalk, counsel for the peach growers, said a year ago chemists discovered the peach crops in the Deepwater vicinity were being damaged by hydrogen fluoride fumes. They found the fumes originated from free uranium, the basis of the atomic bomb, which was being processed in the plants. The fumes ruined the peaches, causing sere leaves to drop and in some cases killing the trees themselves, the growers said.

When they sought action, Gottschalk said, the government pleaded war time secrecy and the suit was delayed.

SECRET DIPLOMACY

Mr. Stettinius has pulled out of the conference of united nations architects in Europe, leaving American interests in the hands of Adlai Stevenson, the boy orator of Bloomington, Ill. Mr. Stettinius mentioned X-rays in departing, but we hope the gallstones are diplomatic rather than physical, since he is a nice fellow, even if he can't cope with Russian diplomacy.

At San Francisco, when the world planners were discussing the essentially fraudulent proposal of trusteeship, Mr. Gromyko of the Russian delegation asked Mr. Stettinius if he thought the Russians were qualified to be trustees and Mr. Stettinius wrote him a note saying that, of course, they were. Gromyko's boss, Commissar Molotov, showed up with the note at London. Russia, having already disposed of most of the territory in Asia by a private treaty made with China without consultation with the other united nations, wanted to move in on Japan and Molotov started waving the Stettinius note as justification.

Stettinius said there was nothing in the note about Japan or any other specific territory, but Molotov, having his inch, demanded his ell, as usual, and got a rather vague compromise which is obviously not going to assist Gen. MacArthur in the orderly and intelligent regeneration of the Japanese nation. Mr. Stettinius, perhaps, learned a lesson from all this, but it is to be hoped that it will be his last. His education is costing the American people too much.

In his private exchange of pledges with the Russians he was following the path of New Deal diplomacy which Mr. Brownell, the chairman of the Republican national committee, traced so effectively Tuesday evening in his speech in Washington. The Truman administration has, as Mr. Brownell says, followed the footsteps of the Roosevelt administration in conducting our foreign relations by secret agreements with the heads of foreign states.

Mr. Brownell has been too close to Mr. Dewey for his views on foreign affairs to win complete acceptance. If his former principal has any objection to the course of American secrecy in diplomacy in recent months it probably is because it has given too much to Russia and not enough to Britain, not because it has taken too much away from the American people.

Nevertheless, Mr. Brownell's indictment, in this instance, is an accurate one, traced in some detail and bolstered with indisputable evidence. The whole record of the secret agreements is open, even tho some of the details still may be a secret from the American people.

As Mr. Brownell pointed out, Mr. Roosevelt started his secret diplomacy by committing the United States to war long before Pearl Harbor. He was not only taking military measures against the Germans in the Atlantic, he was taking joint military measures with Britain in the Pacific against the impending attack by the Japanese and had committed this country to aid Britain in the Pacific even if Japan did not attack us. Mr. Churchill let that secret out before parliament when, answering criticism of the loss of the Repulse and Prince of Wales, he disclosed Mr. Roosevelt's pledge that Britain should not be exposed single handed to Japanese attack.

There followed the conferences at Cairo, Tehran, and Yalta, in which Mr. Roosevelt participated, and that at Potsdam, in which Mr. Truman pursued the same policy. American foreign affairs are, under the Constitution, supposed to be conducted with the advice and consent of the senate. The course followed by Roosevelt, Truman, and their protege makes a mockery of the Constitution. The frontiers of eastern Europe were fixed at Tehran and Yalta and confirmed at Potsdam. Stalin, without consulting his allies, made his own arrangements in Asia.

Congress had nothing to say about any of these matters and now, of course, will have nothing to say because they have become accomplished facts. The senate may eventually be called upon to ratify a treaty, but the treaty makers will have to accept the facts as they now are and as they were developed as the result of these secret conferences. They are not going to be changed.

Other nations, in their negotiations with the United States, are on notice that constitutionally the President, or the state department, cannot commit this country to a course of action without the consent of the senate. Against this ignoring of its power congress has the remedy of impeachment if it chooses to use it.

PUERTO RICO'S FUTURE

President Truman has asked congress to ask the Puerto Ricans what kind of government they want and then give it to them. The Puerto Ricans, he suggests, should be offered their choice among four regimes with varying degrees of self-government.

One of the options, of course, is independence. Another is dominion status. A third is statehood. The fourth can be described, perhaps, as a modified territorial status, with the Puerto Ricans electing their own governor and enjoying a larger measure of control over their local affairs.

What dominion status can mean in the context of American political theory is hard to see. The Constitution as amended knows citizens and it knows aliens. It knows states and it knows territories, but perhaps it doesn't prohibit other forms of association with our federal Union. At any rate, before any one can talk intelligently about a dominion status for Puerto Rico, the meaning of the term should be defined with great precision. Otherwise we might find ourselves committed to something which meant one thing to us and something quite different to the Puerto Ricans.

It may be doubted that there will be much enthusiasm for statehood in this country whatever the feeling about it in Puerto Rico may be. The island is heavily populated and the traditions and attitudes of its people owe much more to its centuries of rule as a Spanish colony than to its half century under our protection. Statehood might raise more problems for us than it would solve.

The territorial solution is also unsatisfactory because, in American theory, a territory is always on its way to becoming a state. Making Puerto Rico a territory would merely postpone the decision that should be made now.

The best solution is complete independence with only the reservation that certain specified military bases shall remain in our control. Cuba affords a fairly successful precedent for this arrangement.

Independence will raise many problems for the Puerto Ricans, as independence always does for a nation. They will have to learn to govern themselves without benefit of American administrators and the American treasury. That won't be easy, perhaps, but nothing else is likely to work as well for all concerned.

WHAT MAKES A GREAT NEWSPAPER

Mark F. Ethridge, who directs a newspaper enterprise in Louisville when not engaged in New Deal propaganda missions, undertakes in the current Editor and Publisher to tell American newspapers why they aren't better than they are.

He says that if newspapers are going to put out a better competitive product they have to get more brains in their editorial departments, and that if they want more brains they will have to pay for them. That seems like a pretty obvious prescription to us, but maybe it will burst like blinding truth on some of those newspapers which, like the pair Mr. Ethridge runs, have the town to themselves.

Those fellows, who have been getting by with a cheap newspaper and cheap editorial pay rolls because neither their readers nor their help have anywhere else to turn, should be worried a lot more by the Supreme court's A. P. decision than THE TRIBUNE is. We do our share of worrying here at THE TRIBUNE. We worry over making it a better newspaper. We have found over the years that if we do enough of that kind of worrying we don't have to worry about our competitors, whether they be other newspapers, radio, or magazines.

Mr. Ethridge has heard of THE TRIBUNE, altho his recognition of our existence would hardly be called an unreserved accolade.

"I am not by any means an admirer of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE," he says, "but I have always felt that those who said its great hold came from its comic strips and other features were wrong; it possesses an animal vigor which manifests itself in a thousand ways I wouldn't want to imitate, but that, nevertheless, obviously appeal to readers because it is a departure from a milk-and-water daily without a purpose save to make money."

Comes the dawn. It ain't Orphan Annie. It's the hair on our chest.

We must confess that we are more than moderately griped by those characters who assure us that, of course, THE TRIBUNE is a stinker, and that the only reason we have more than a million readers, and the New York News more than two million, is that the weak minded public can't live without its favorite comic characters. Just for the record, those comic strips are sold to some 600 other newspapers, and other Tribune-New York News features to more than a thousand—and how many of them have you ever heard about?

We're as proud of our circulation records as any one, but we never fool ourselves that mere bigness makes a great newspaper. THE TRIBUNE has endeavored to hire, and to retain by proper reward, the best newspaper brains available, but we know also that it takes more than that to make a great newspaper, for we have seen big bankrolls go into action, and come out of it with some pretty sorry publications.

It would hardly occur to Mr. Ethridge—whose newspapers are edited with an alien minded snobbery designed to attract invitations to the tables of the upstart British aristocracy—but to put out a great newspaper you have to put it out in the interest of your readers. This means more than printing the news that interests them. It means fighting for the things that are in their interest, fighting against the things that injure them, and sometimes fighting to convert the readers themselves.

If a great newspaper is prosperous, so much the better, for that makes it easier for it to resist intimidation. If it is big, so much the better, for that widens its influence. But neither of these is an essential of greatness. If THE TRIBUNE is a great newspaper—as we think it is—it is because it has the courage to fight unremittingly for what it thinks right.

PEACE PAINT
[St. Louis Post-Dispatch]

Let's all give three rousing war whoops and a tiger for the Osage Indians of Pawhuska, Okla., who know how to celebrate a victory. They have just completed four days of tribal gratification at the defeat of Germany and Japan. And how is it supposed they celebrated?

Did they honk horns? Throw confetti? Get into automobiles and tear up and down the streets? Did they try to drink up all the firewater in Osage county? Did they ring doorbells, paint the town red, cover the waterfront?

They did not. They treated themselves to a feast of barbecued beef, with a fine civilized sense of the fitness of things; after which, by all odds, they not only were at peace with the world but felt like it.

ATOMIC BOOKSHELF

Among the hundreds or thousands of physicists and chemists who worked on the invention of the atomic bomb, there ought to be one or several capable of writing a work of fiction with the atom as its hero. We are waiting for such a book because, in the first place, we have an insatiable appetite for that kind of stuff, when well done, and in the second, we are tiring of the real McCoy on atoms, as dealt out by Henry D. Smyth, Arthur Eddington, Albert Einstein, Delos Avery, and other serious thinkers.

* * *

In the hope that a member of the atomic fraternity will rise to the opportunity, we will supply a molecule of plot to start him on the road to handsome royalties and the alleged thrill of literary cocktail parties. Let him imagine that the green glass crater in New Mexico, which marks the scene of the first atomic explosion, is a field of emeralds, formed by the transmutation of sand. Out of this notion, a Count of Monte Cristo yarn can be developed by any journeyman fictioneer. The Emerald King, who also has a sideline in making diamonds by the same method, controls the finances of the world, and stirs up all kinds of hell in his scheme to create and rule a global Utopia.

* * *

Perhaps the best example of the professional scientist who has dabbled in fiction with first-rate results is the writer who uses the pseudonym John Taine. He is Eric Temple Bell, professor of mathematics at the California Institute of Technology, past president of the Mathematical Association of America, and member of the National Academy of Science. He has written "science-fiction" copiously for magazines and has published seven novels whose themes are based on scientific theories.

Here are the books of John Taine: "The Purple Sapphire," 1924; "The Gold Tooth," 1927; "Quayle's Invention," 1927; "Green Fire," 1928; "The Greatest Adventure," 1929; "The Iron Star," 1931; "Before the Dawn," 1934.

SEA ROAD SONG

The road was straight, the road was long,
The road led to the sea.
'Twas there I heard a wild, sweet song
That captivated me.

The song was young, the song was gay—
A wanton gypsy air
That called my heart the world away
To sunny lands and fair.

And I was young, and I was gay,
And I was fancy free;
So I would sail a ship away
The sunny lands to see.

The sunny lands afar to see;
The singer sweet to find.
For evermore I'd restless be
With these upon my mind.

The road is straight, the road is long,
And I'm home from the sea.
. . . I found the singer of the song,
But she sang not for me!

Essential Industry, Civil War Style

W. S. B. Mathews [father of undersigned], northern born and reared, was teaching piano students in the south at the outbreak of the Civil war, first at Macon, Ga., and then at Greensboro, N. C. In the first year of the war he was exempted from military service as an "artist." Afterward, escape could come only from employment in an essential industry.

The production of salt became an essential industry, so Father assembled some washtubs and casks and went forth into the countryside. After dickering with plantation owners, he proceeded to dig up the floors of smokehouses, over which the salt-and-sugar curing of hams had taken place. He threw the dirt into his tubs, added water, and stirred. After draining and evaporating, he recovered some salt. It was often necessary to give the plantation owner half.

This work took most of his time, but he still gave piano lessons in the Female seminary. Furthermore, I find in his letters that several times he was paid 150 pounds of beeswax for tuning pianos. W. H. Mathews

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

Mother writes: "My son was in combat with an armored division for five months, earning three battle stars. He then became seriously ill and was sent to a hospital. After two months' hospitalization he was put to work at headquarters doing a clerical job. He never returned to the armored division. The division later earned two more stars. Isn't my son entitled to those two stars? He still wears the arm division patch, but has only three stars."

He was not present when the division earned additional stars and is not entitled to them. If transferred permanently from the division, he should wear patch of new unit on left shoulder and armored division patch on right to show combat service.

S. writes: "Does GI veteran mean only army veterans or all veterans of every branch of service? My son enlisted in the navy in 1942 before he was 18. He has eight battle stars and has been in the Pacific for six months. When will he get out?"

GI veteran means army, navy, marine, coast guard, and the women's reserves of all four. If your son has been in service four years he has approximately 36 points and needs 44 for discharge unless he signed for the regular navy. Regular navy men cannot count points but must serve out enlistment period. If this period has expired and their enlistment was extended, they then may qualify for discharge under the point system.

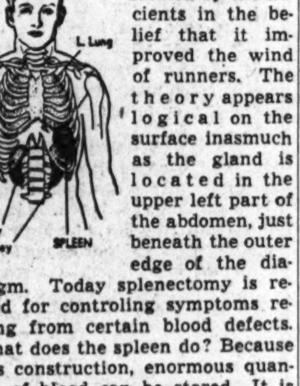
WE CAN SPARE THE SPLEEN

THE spleen has received less attention than it deserves. Altho it has a definite task to fulfil, and therefore can be considered useful, removal is possible without serious effects. Historians tell us that this operation was performed by the ancients in the belief that it improved the wind of runners. The theory appears logical on the surface inasmuch as the gland is located in the upper left part of the abdomen, just beneath the outer edge of the diaphragm. Today splenectomy is reserved for controling symptoms resulting from certain blood defects.



What does the spleen do? Because of its construction, enormous quantities of blood can be stored. It is richly supplied with tiny vascular passageways. When these channels are crowded with vital fluid, the organ expands. This reservoir comes in handy in an emergency for, when the tissues elsewhere need more circulation, contraction occurs and the necessary amount is expelled.

Such a situation is likely to exist during exercise, emotional changes, or exposure to heat. Subsequent to exertion, it has been estimated that the spleen of a cat will express a portion equal to one-sixth of its total blood volume. Should this same animal be frightened by banging a door, the red count may increase over 25 per cent.

But this is not all. The spleen is known to cast off old cells which are giving way to new and younger generations. For this reason it is sometimes referred to as the "graveyard" or "slaughterhouse" for the red corpuscles. It also lends a hand in manufacturing white cells.

Should infection attack the body, the organ may become several times its normal size. It is capable of harboring huge numbers of bacteria. An excellent example of this can be seen in malaria. In those cases in which the malady is suspected, but the parasite cannot be detected, the administration of adrenalin will compress the structure and force enough of the culprits into the circulation to be recognized.

Congestion of the spleen is thought by some authorities to be responsible for Banti's syndrome. In this ailment there is usually an obstruction to the outflow of blood. As a consequence, the gland swells excessively; anemia develops, associated with hemorrhages from the gastrointestinal tract and cirrhosis of the liver. In the treatment of this condition, extirpation may be recommended.

The spleen is probably altered by disease more frequently than any other organ. It is concerned chiefly in such disorders as leucemia, Hodgkin's, polycythemia, and pernicious anemia. In hemolytic jaundice, where the red cells are broken down too rapidly, remarkable effects often follow surgery. This procedure has also proved valuable in restraining spontaneous bleeding beneath the skin, due to thrombocytopenic purpura.

It is amazing that this peculiar structure, with its complex action and unique circulatory arrangement, can be taken out apparently without being missed. Perhaps science has only scratched the surface and its story is yet to be unraveled.

NERVOUS AFTER OPERATION

Mrs. D. writes: I had my gall bladder removed two months ago and seemed to be O. K. at the time. But now I suffer from severe nervous spells that I cannot control. Is this the usual reaction to a major operation?

REPLY

In the majority of individuals, the anxiety associated with surgery has passed by this time, altho those who are highstrung and jittery may take slightly longer to recuperate. If you are not usually nervous, I would suggest that you look elsewhere for the cause.

SHE FORGETS

Mrs. O. K. writes: I am 63 years old and in good health. I always had an excellent memory, but now I can only recall events of 40 or more years ago. Recent occurrences escape me. Is there something wrong with my head?

REPLY

Loss of memory for current happenings may occur with advancing years. The phenomenon is not serious and may be considered part of the aging process.

AVOIDING CONTAGION

Mrs. M. writes: We have a case of trench mouth in the family. How can I guard against infecting the other members?

REPLY

Since the disorder may be spread by kissing and using the same towels and eating utensils, precautions along this line will minimize the chances.

Notes from a Pilgrim's Cuff

The crenelated Chateau Frontenac in Quebec, which towers over the ancient city of Quebec, is one hotel which for years boldly defied superstition and maintained a 13th floor. Since 1939, however, the floor has not been mentioned, or not with numeral, for 1939 was the year their Britannic majesties, George VI. and Elizabeth, came to Quebec. An entire floor of the hotel was turned over to them and their entourage. That floor was the 13th. For them it was renamed the crown floor. It remains that, with a crest [or crown] on each door and on the elevator index. Guests in crown-14 last month nevertheless noticed that the room key still bore the numerals 1314.

Egg Island on the St. Lawrence river is merely a small, egg shaped knob, but ever since the British fleet went aground on its rocks during the French-Indian war, a lighthouse has been maintained there to warn mariners. It also is an official Canadian postoffice. The lighthouse keeper is the postman. He is the only inhabitant as well. When the mail boat Matane goes down the river it must stop each time at Egg Island. The postman rows out and gets the mail. It is all his and consists, usually, of a newspaper. For picking up his own newspaper and delivering it to himself, he receives $2.

At Detroit, by the way, the inland voyager may see and receive mail from the world's only floating marine postoffice. This consists of a motor boat with a house on it. In the house is a pigeonhole for every boat which plies thru the Detroit river. As a ship comes thru every two minutes, with an average of 30 men to a ship, the tonnage of mail is tremendous. The boat maintains service 24 hours a day, receives a report from Port Huron as each ship enters the river, and by the time the ship, which never lessens its speed, is near, has its mail sorted and ready. The ship throws overboard a pail attached to a line with a weight on the bottom. The mail is dropped in this and hauled up.

Probably no inland river in North America was under more stringent black-out regulations during the war than the St. Lawrence. Ships moved under complete black-out, came to a full stop at dusk, and anchored for the night. Every ship, merchant or war, carried navy gunners, for the submarine menace was never far away. Only one nazi sub was sunk, and that at Gaspé on the Gulf, but others came boldly inland. One of the more widely told stories of the war, but true, concerns the frater which, bowing to the man power shortage, carried two women cooks for its galley. One day one cried to the ship's mate, "What does a submarine look like?" He told her. "I just saw one off the galley then!" she said in great excitement. The mate laughed. A woman's idle fancy. Just then a torpedo struck a frater alongside them and a few feet in front. The mate's jaw dropped while he reached, pure reflex action, for the ship's telephone. "Hard over!" he yelled. The ship wheeled abruptly, and a second torpedo, directed toward it, missed.

The only armed lady seen in Canada these days is of bronze with her feet stanchly implanted in rock. She stands, a bronze musket in her arms, on the wharf of the little French village Verchères. The village bears her name, which was Madeleine de Verchères, and behind her still stands the conical roofed little fort which she saved from the Indians 200 years ago. She was 14 then, so the legend goes, and was alone in the fort one day when Indians, sneaking up thru fog on the St. Lawrence, attacked. Rushing valiantly from window to window with a musket, she contrived the effect of many men shooting rapidly. The Indians skulked away. When the soldiers, among them her father, returned, she handed her musket to the commanding officer. "I present the arms," she said simply. "They were in very good hands," was his historic reply. After that she married and had 14 children. The French first mate telling of this husky maiden as the ship bearing this pilgrim passed her observed, proudly, "She was a lady with nerves." The English wheelsman smiled at this. "No," he corrected. "Without them."

OFFICERS GET THE BREAKS

Galesburg, Ill., Oct. 10—As men receiving treatment in an army general hospital for service incurred disabilities, the following notorious facts are of no therapeutic value:

1. All officers being released for disability, regardless of the extent of disability, receive retirement pay of 75 per cent of their base pay. This means a minimum for a second lieutenant of $112.50 a month. Enlisted men eligible for disability pensions receive a minimum of $11.50 a month. The enlisted man discharged with 100 per cent disability receives $115 a month, or $2.50 more than the minimum retirement pay for a second lieutenant.

2. The disability pensions of enlisted men are subject to readjustment every six months, at which time they must submit to complete medical examinations and surveys of their records. After retirement, officers submit to no further investigations or downward readjustments of retirement pay.

3. All officers, upon release from active duty, receive terminal leave, up to 90 days. They receive full pay during this time. Officers up to and including the rank of captain also receive full mustering out pay. Enlisted men, regardless of accrued furlough time accumulated because of the exigencies of war, such as prolonged overseas and combat duty or prolonged hospitalization, receive no such terminal leave.

NAVY CURE FOR STRIKES

WITH THE PACIFIC FLEET, Oct. 11—Induct strikers between the ages of 20 and 30 years to relieve veterans who have sufficient points for discharge but are still being held for occupation and demobilization duty. The government provides an allotment for their families if they have any. After a year or so of this duty they will be glad to get back to civil life. The veterans will be delighted to exchange places with these strikers and the politicians need not worry because for every striker inducted a veteran will be voting. EARL G. ARNOLD

ESCALATORS SHUT DOWN

How about making full use of the escalators we have in the subway stations? You will find that service is discontinued in these very early in the evening. LOCATING GERMAN RELATIVES

Chicago, Oct. 11—There are two chances now to get in contact with or check on relatives in Germany.

1. Call the Red Cross foreign division. They will give information how to send letters to Germany thru the United States army.

2. Call the United Charities, Mrs. Englaender. She will send an application blank for tracing relatives on request.

I found both places very accommodating.

I agree with "American Citizen" that we German-born Americans should be allowed to help our own flesh and blood by sending packages of food and clothing. How urgent this is is shown in today's article by Dr. Van Dellen.

WHY SHIPS ARE SHORT

Chicago, Oct. 14—Here is the reason for the shortage of ships:

"On Aug. 19 we were very hastily ordered aboard the hospital ship Hope, docked at Manila. When we were transferred from our previous units we were told we were going to Osaka, Japan, to evacuate prisoners of war.

"We left Manila on Aug. 20, arrived at Okinawa on Aug. 22 and remained anchored there until Sept. 20, when we were directed to Wakayama, Japan.

"The 364th station hospital arrived there Sept. 22 and discovered that the occupational troops had not yet arrived. On Sept. 26 the 33d division arrived and went ashore, and at this date, Sept. 28, we are still trying to figure out why we were sent here, especially since the prisoners of war were evacuated from this area on Sept. 2 by two other hospital ships.

"Since we have no medical supplies, they being left in Manila to be brought up later, it is hard to imagine what good we could do if we went ashore.

"According to our calculations, the 40 days that we have been aboard this ship have cost the taxpayers about $250,000, tied up a ship that could have been to 'Frisco and back, tied up about 100 nurses and 40 medical officers, and lowered the morale of this unit. A survey of the troops aboard the ship reveals three-fours of them are eligible for discharge—yet the army would rather keep them idle than send them home."

IT'S A CONGRESSIONAL RACKET

Chicago, Oct. 12—A news item reports Sen. Hatch [D., N. M.] ill in naval hospital. Can't the senator get into a private hospital or does he think he is entitled to free medical treatment, perhaps crowding out some service man? Looks like one more burden for John Q. Public. I don't like the idea.

You should register the name under which you do business.

Sec. 220 of the Illinois Criminal code provides a penalty against unincorporated associations of individuals using a corporate name, but it has been judicially construed [219 Ill. 46] not to apply to such cases as the U. Mother's Trial Delayed in Fire Peril to Children

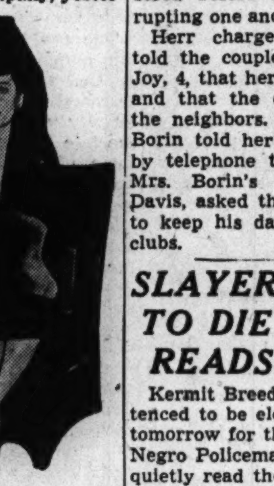
Mrs. Genevieve Yaworski, 32, of 1531 Noble st., was granted a continuance to Oct. 24 and freed on bond yesterday in Domestic Relations court on charges of contributing to the dependency of her four children, from four months to 12 years old, who were found alone in the apartment when an oil heater overturned and started a fire Tuesday night.

"Your father asked them to stay for dinner and all we have is left-overs from yesterday's left-overs."

BORIN ORDERED TO PAY HIS WIFE OR GO TO JAIL

Nathan Borin, 52, president of the Borin Art Products company, yesterday was found in contempt of court by Judge Frank M. Padden in Superior court. His estranged wife, Claire, 34, of 4300 Marine dr., a runner-up in a 1932 "panther woman" contest, charged him with being $1,150 in arrears in support payments. It was their 96th court appearance.



Mrs. Claire Borin

Borin's attorney, Simon Herr, announced he would appeal the court's decision as soon as the formal order is presented this morning, and Judge Padden set an appeal bond of $3,000. The court said Borin would have to pay the arrearage or go to jail, unless the Appellate court issues a writ of supersedeas.

Each of the Borins made accusations against the other thru counsel. At one point both principals, the attorneys, and Mrs. Borin's brother stood before Judge Padden interrupting one another.

Herr charged that Mrs. Borin told the couple's daughter, Bonnie Joy, 4, that her father was a moron and that the child repeated it to the neighbors. Also, he said, Mrs. Borin told her husband's employes by telephone that he is a moron. Mrs. Borin's attorney, Benjamin Davis, asked that Borin be ordered to keep his daughter out of night clubs.

FIRST OF GREAT WARSHIP FORCE ARRIVES AT N. Y.

New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—Heralding the approach of the largest force of fighting ships ever to visit New York, 10 United States navy ships led by the aircraft carrier Monterey plowed into port today.

"Ships of the greatest fleet in the world have dropped anchor in the greatest city in the world," Vice Adm. Frederick G. Sherman remarked.

Behind the Monterey came the carrier Enterprise. The former flew signals which told in navy code of that vessel's record of 500 Japanese planes shot down and at least five enemy warships sunk.

Then came the carrier Bataan, the heavy cruiser Portland, and the destroyers Foote, Young, Zellars, Aulick, Douglas H. Fox, and Sterett. Forty-two more warships are to arrive before Navy day, Oct. 27.

ALLEN-BENNY AIR FEUD GETS FRESH FUEL: TIE RATING

Ranked 5th; McGees, Hope 1st and 2d

BY LARRY WOLTERS

Fred Allen, back on the air after a years' absence, plucked a high rating in the first Hooper program report to come out since the major shows returned from their summer vacations. He landed in a tie for fifth place with Jack Benny. Allen's rating was considerably higher than any other he had had in recent years. Perhaps he owes something to Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, whom he follows on NBC.

Fibber McGee and Molly were in first place, well ahead of Bob Hope; Charlie McCarthy was third, and the Radio Theater dramas fourth. Benny was much higher on the list than last year when Kate Smith was opposite him. This season Kate is back on Friday evenings and doesn't show among the first 15.

The Quiz Kids, it now appears, are musical, too. Five of the kids [or alumni] are singing in the Chicago Opera's choruses. Ruth and Bunny Duskin, sisters, Peggy Bangert, and Bernard Griesel are singing in the children's chorus, and Joan Bishop, one of the original Quiz Kids and now a grownup, is in the regular chorus.

First Nighter, one of the oldest of radio's dramatic shows using original scripts, is set for a revival on CBS at 7:30 p. m. Saturday. Barbara Luddy and Olan Soule will take the leads. This is the show which graduated Don Ameche to Hollywood.

Harry C. Kopf, vice president of NBC in Chicago, has set at rest reports that the network plans to build a new broadcasting plant here by announcing a $100,000 modernization program for the chain's studios in the Merchandise Mart. The company's lease on its present quarters has four years to run.

TRIBUNE TAKES $120,000 LOSS ON OVERSEAS PAPER

The Overseas Tribune, which carried American news to hundreds of thousands of service men during the war, was produced at a net loss of more than $120,000, a cost summary showed yesterday.

Expenses from Jan. 1, 1944, to Aug. 31, 1945, were $154,224.25. Revenue from sales was $34,046.46. The resulting loss, which was foreseen, was borne by THE TRIBUNE so that service men overseas might receive the latest news and features with all possible speed.

Low priced and carrying no advertising, the Overseas Tribune was a familiar sight in England, North Africa, Italy, Germany, Panama, and thruout the Pacific. Each week it was printed from plastic plates airmailed under priority from Chicago. It was produced more than once under shellfire or bombing attack and frequently on captured paper In Manila, Germany, and Japan it was the first American newspaper to appear after the entry of Yank troops.

The Overseas Tribune will continue to give midwest news to troops in Europe and the Pacific.

Evidence in Suit

Atty. James A. Dayton and Mrs. Helen Berg look at prayer book upon which claims are based in Wetstone will case. [TRIBUNE Photo]

A prayer book printed in 1755 was produced yesterday before Judge Harry M. Fisher in Circuit court in an effort to establish relationship between the late H. C. Berthold Wetstone, elderly barber, and six claimants to his $60,000 estate.

The book, with Wetstone's name written on one page, was given by him to Mrs. Helen Berg, a school teacher, in 1939, Mrs. Berg testified. Mrs. Berg is a daughter of Mrs. Martha George, one of the claimants. The others are Mrs. Ida Gloede, Mrs. Mary Grahs, and David, Edward, and John Pressler.

Wetstone died Jan. 10, 1944, leaving all but $2,000 of his estate to Dr. Louis D. Moorhead, chairman of the medical board of the Catholic archdiocese of Chicago. Later, the six claimants, who say they are cousins, were recognized as heirs by Probate Judge John F. O'Connell. Yesterday's hearing was on a suit by Dr. Moorhead contesting their proof of heirship. The hearing will continue today.

THREE EVANSTON WOMEN TO VIEW RAPIST OF FOUR

Three Evanston rape and assault victims will visit the state's attorney's office today to look at Henry W. Anderson, Negro, 1238 Arnold st., Chicago Heights. The Evanston women were called because Anderson, who confessed four rapes and one attempted rape, partly answers their description of the Negro who assaulted them.

Edward J. Kulczyk, 39, of 4214 Berkeley av., who had been identified by the wife of a sailor as the man who attacked her, was reported to have been named by the grand jury yesterday in a true bill charging rape, two robberies, and a crime against nature. He was held in the county jail under $50,000 bond.

Doc Walter, 39, Negro, of 5329 Michigan av., was bound over to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in Felony court on a charge of rape. Walter was accused by Mrs. Lila Krug, 31, of 1125 E. 54th pl., of raping her after forcing his way into her apartment.

Lawrence McCleary, 24, Negro, of 3002 Vernon av., accused by Mrs. Helen Marshall, 31, Negro, of 4429 Evans av., of taking her purse containing $12 and raping her Oct. 8, also was held to the grand jury by Judge Hartigan under $15,000 bond.

WARD WORKERS' WAGE INCREASE UP TO TRUMAN

No Profits Earned Under Army Rule

The problem of how to pay certain employes of Montgomery Ward & Co. approximately $800,000 in retroactive wage increases in conformity with the executive order of the late President Roosevelt seizing some of the company's properties was dumped in President Truman's lap yesterday.

The order directed the army to pay the increases out of operating profits. The army has been unable to do so because in the seized plants under army operation, there have been no profits. The dilemma has delayed the return of the plants to the company.

After a conference with President Truman in Washington, D. C., yesterday, Atty. Gen. Clark said the question of liability for paying the back wages should be settled before the government relinquishes control of the plants.

Further Inquiry Ordered

The conference also was attended by War Secretary Patterson and Labor Secretary Schwellenbach, who were instructed to look further into the legal aspects of the matter.

Payment of the retroactive wage increases originally was ordered by the war labor board on May 2, 1944, but Ward's refused to obey the order and was tacitly upheld by the courts, which ruled that WLB orders were merely advisory and therefore not subject to court review.

The company has consistently held to the position that the question of the wage increases is the army's headache, not the company's, since the executive order directing the payment was addressed to the army. The company also points out that the order does not authorize the army to make the payment with company funds.

"Somebody Should Pay"

Sandra Slotkin, international representative of the United Retail, Wholesale, and Department Store Employes [CIO] of which part of Ward's employes are members, said yesterday the union's position is that either the army or Ward's should pay the $800,000.

The army, meanwhile, remained in control of the seized plants, while hunting for some way to let go.

Sailor Pays 680 Pennies Toward 2d Speeding Fine

Paul Koburi, seaman 1st class, of Lincolnwood, yesterday paid his speeding fine of $5 and $5 costs with 680 pennies and other small change. When Koburi produced his duffel bag containing the money he had saved for his furlough, Judge Justin McCarthy reduced the $25 fine to $5 and would have raised that amount among court attaches but Koburi waived the judge's suggestion and counted out his pennies. This was Koburi's second arrest for speeding within a year.

BEG YOUR PARDON

A dispatch from Paris, which appeared in THE TRIBUNE Sunday, Oct. 14, erred in reporting that the United States government had sent 24 queen bees by plane to Marseille, France. The bees were sent as a sentimental gesture by Frank Getty of Washington, D. C., who served in he French air force in World War I.

Red-Hungary Trade Pact Must Go to Allies for O. K.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 17 (AP)—An economic pact between Hungary and Russia, not yet ratified by the Hungarian provisional government, will be submitted to the allied control commission for review before further action is taken, it was learned today. The pact has been criticized by the United States and Britain as a unilateral treaty.

FUGITIVE IS NO MATCH FOR THIS WOMAN DEPUTY

Pontiac, Mich., Oct. 17 (AP)—State police were surprised today when Sheriff Z. T. Hurst of Lee county, Kentucky, sent his wife, Deputy Sheriff Clemmia A. Hurst, here to return to Beattyville, Ky., a man wanted on a murder charge.

But their apprehensions subsided when they saw Raney Allen, 25, leave for the bus trip home with his guard. The little 4 foot 6, 100 pound suspect barely reached Mrs. Hurst's shoulder, and police estimated she had an easy 2 to 1 weight edge over him.

Allen is charged with murder in connection with the shooting of Edgar Bagley of Kentucky.

Richardson II. 5. Mrs. Louis C. Sudler in a mulberry satin cocktail suit. 6. Mid-calf length ballerina dress of black velvet and net, worn by Mrs. Joseph Cochran III. 7. 19th Annual Benefit Display Heralds Return of Elegance

BY ELEANOR PAGE

Elegant clothes, wearable clothes, clothes intended definitely for the woman who is returning to a more normal life with her man at home again were shown yesterday afternoon in the Medinah temple in the 19th annual St. Luke's hospital benefit fashion show.

The serenely beautiful stage setting, a sweeping garden arcade with gleaming white columns entwined in ivy, provided a stunning background. The models entered at either side along the upper level, and descended a center staircase, pausing momentarily on the bottom step before starting a walk around the huge apron front of the stage. There was a feeling of space, and the models had been rehearsed so perfectly that five or six could be promenading at one time, yet never in each other's way.

The show started promptly and clicked right thru in two hours, yet there was no hint of rushing or haste. There was one jarring note before the show started, when the committee had to keep the doors closed 15 minutes beyond the announced opening time of 1:30 in order to permit the nurses who took part in the finale to rehearse. The delay angered some of the women who were waiting impatiently to obtain seats, which were unreserved, but their anger must have given way to pride and a sentimental lump in their throats when they watched the stirring postlude that brought nurses from every branch of service and the home front on stage.

There was no jarring note in the show, however, for it ran as smooth as butter, with no brash colors, no clash of accessories, and no freak fashions. There were two surprises which were received with mixed feelings, nevertheless — a "transition" evening dress, mostly short skirted but with a fishtail of draped material dangling in the rear to indicate the return of the long gown, and a draped black satin afternoon dress which revealed an applique of a huge rose on a long stem at the center back when the model turned around.

Heralding the return of formal parties—perhaps the big Junior league ball Thanksgiving eve or some of the debutante dances on the Christmas calendar—was a breathtaking evening gown of palest gray blue satin, built out with a farthingale, worn by Miss Nancy Cochran and christened "Blue Danube." It was a perfect dress for waltzing with its off-the-shoulder neckline outlined in roses of matching material. More of the roses spilled out of pockets at either side of the full skirt, which was draped upward slightly at the sides to reveal an underskirt of accordion plaited chiffon.

Decidedly a ball gown, too, was the decollete American Beauty color satin gown with a bow bustled back, modeled by Mrs. Jere Patterson. Mrs. William Morse's silver metal cloth and white net evening gown, with shirred shells of the metal cloth scattered on the net skirt to match the cloth bodice, and her crown of fresh white stephanotis, were intended obviously for "an occasion." So were Mrs. John D. Richardson II.'s black taffeta gown with a side draped pannier and the gay, youthful evening dress of striped black, red, and aqua, worn by Miss Betty Bennett and which should become part of her trousseau.

One jewel exhibitor created a stir by dressing his models in simple, full skirted black velvet evening gowns and identical wigs of upswept silvery-gold hair. Nearly unrecognizable in their disguises were Miss Eunice Hale, Mrs. John T. Llewellyn II., Mrs. Eliot W. Dalton, Miss Blanche C. Hoyt, Mrs. Robert Wilcox, and Mrs. Herbert C. DeYoung, who among them were wearing $328,000 worth of jewels, half of the total amount displayed. Mrs. Dalton, who showed an emerald and diamond necklace valued at $72,000, was wearing an especially radiant smile, as her husband, Lt. Dalton, just had arrived from the Bacific.

A knight in shining armor would have made the only suitable bridegroom for the dramatic, romantic, medieval bride and her equally picturesque bridesmaids. Dark haired Mrs. Henry Bartholomay III. was the traditionally beautiful bride in a gown of clinging white crepe, with a long mantle falling from the shoulders and embroidered in a silver sequin design over the right shoulder and half way down the mantle-train. Her head was enclosed in a coif of the white crepe. She carried a tiny prayer book with a cluster of

Thru the Looking Glass

The most enthusiastic users of one of the oldest anti-persirants on the market are women, and men, who suffer from excessive perspiration. The preparation has been around for years and without benefit of fanfare or fancy packaging has acquired a large and faithful following, depending on results alone to maintain its popularity.

It isn't very important looking in its rather old fashioned bottle with a quaint looking label. However, it does an outstanding job in curbing normal or excessive underarm perspiration. The price per bottle may sound a little forbidding, but it lasts about a year with average use and is worth much more than its price in the damage to clothing and embarrassment it can save any one who is constantly waging a battle against perspiration.

This is an astringent liquid, clear and odorless, and must be used strictly according to the directions printed on the label. They are quite different from the ordinary and you may have to forget the method of application you are accustomed to using.

It is definitely not to be applied after bathing or shaving the under arm area and should be used only at night before retiring. Place the mouth of the bottle against the very center of the armpit and, holding it tightly against the skin, tip the bottle two or three times so that just the small area is moistened. If any of the liquid should trickle down beyond the bottle edge, mop it up.

Use it four or five nights in a row the first week of application, and after that only as often as necessary. Faithfully used, it will do wonders to curb even the most persistent case of perspiration.

After Quarter of a Century Together, Lazzari and Trevisan Still Steal "Barber"

Back in 1911 when resident opera in Chicago was a baby with one birthday, it introduced Rossini's "The Barber of Seville" to the Auditotrium repertory with Tetrazzini as Rosina. Two years later the opera torium repertory with Tetrazini as was back with Titta Ruffo as Figaro and one Vittorio Trevisan new as doddering Dr. Bartolo. Seven years after that Mr. Trevisan got a new comic sidekick named Virgilio Lazzari, who was Basilio in a cost which also held Galli-Curci, Schipa, and Galeffi, and the two have sung the roles countless times since, both in Chicago and at Ravinia, with rare interruptions for replacement by a Chaliapin, a Vanni-Marcoux, or a Baccaloni. Last night's performance in the Civic Opera house lacked but a few weeks of marking the 25th anniversary of this historic operatic meeting, and Lazzari and Trevisan celebrated by stealing the show.

Admittedly, they had more advantage than just the obvious one of talent. "The Barber" is a flexible opera susceptible to all manner of comic invention, and these old friends have worked out a routine complete to the last chuckle. Mr. Trevisan long since quit pretending to sing, but as the most skilled comedian on the opera stage, he has put a mere lack of voice in its festive place. Mr. Lazzari, of course, is quite another matter. His cadaverous music master may fool with all manner of ridiculous props, but his resonant bass can still make "La Calunnia" the vocal hit of the show.

As to what you thought of the rest of that show, it was bound to depend on the number of times you had heard "The Barber" on more scintillant nights. Suppose we say it was adequate, which, unhappily, really means it was not. Josephine Antoine's Rosina was a pretty, plump coquette who sang with skill and charm once she got past "Una voce poco fa," which was far below her standard. John Brownlee's Figaro was a good musician and an intelligent comedian, without the pinpoint effervescence of the true Italian style. Nino Martini's Almaviva had elegance of bearing and some agreeable singing in a light tenor that goes white when forced and slides out of the groove when asked to embellish a Rossini phrase.

Nicholas Rescigno's conducting was on the credit side, so much so that the clumsiness of the recitative accompaniment must have cut him to the musical quick—and certainly it didn't help the singers. The settings hadn't changed a bit. They still display that lovely exterior of a Spanish court, then go indoors to a decorator's nightmare.

Dowling Play Due Dec. 23

Eddie Dowling and Louis J. Singer, who presented "The Glass Menagerie" to Chicago last Dec. 26, will be back Dec. 23, this time with "St. Lazare's Pharmacy," starring Miriam Hopkins in a Studebaker troupe otherwise made up of French-Canadian players. Mr. Dowling will direct the play, of which he is now listed as co-author with Miklos Laszlos.

Shop Windows Are Aglow with Shining Sequins

BY REA SEEGER

That aura of shimmering iridescence illuminating the shops and stores is the winter solstice of sequins and paillettes. Each winter, these intriguing tiny metallic discs, light as a feather, arrive to tempt the discriminating as well as the unwary shopper. Too much of the glitter is an overload, just enough is perfection, the best of dramatics for any materials used in dress parade costumes. Sequins are skillfully sewed to thin silk and to heavy brocades, wool, satin, and lace—to each with different results.

Dream dresses for the debutante are of pastels and white, sprinkled with thousands of silver sequins, some no bigger than a pin point. Dance dresses with wide, swirling skirts of taffeta are sewed with coin dots, a good inch wide, of multicolored sequins; jackets of tweed in pastel tints are enlivened with sequins, so are velvet jackets, capes, and the vivid colored fine wool jackets that fit closely. Some of the sequins are combined with embroidery for further effectiveness.

The little extras, such as ascots of satin, bags, gloves, vestees, tiny flowers for the coiffure, belts, and even occasional fur muffs and fur cuffs are literally afire with dozens of scintillating sequins and paillettes. Pay your money and take your choice.

Clothing Price Cuts Scheduled for 1945 Postponed by OPA

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—The OPA said today that cuts in clothing prices scheduled for this year cannot be made before early 1946—if then. In a statement announcing additional liberalization of the garment manufacturers' price regulation, the agency said:

"If the fabric supply improves sufficiently, OPA hopes to achieve a return to the average prices of 1943 after the first of next year."

Original plans called for a 6 to 7 per cent cut in clothing prices by this fall. Instead, prices have continued to rise. A series of price increases to manufacturers had indicated the planned cut could not be made this year, but OPA had not acknowleded this previously.

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin

By George Rector

Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

Short Ribs Are Flavor Favorites

Two favorites of mine . . . for real honest-to-goodness flavor . . . are short ribs and ox joints. Both of these lowly meats, browned to perfection and braised in their own juices until the aroma was irresistible, were served with pride to the most discriminating of guests at Rector's. As we return to normal meat supplies, let's remember these flavor favorites.

Barbecued Short Ribs...an old favorite in new dress

Simmer, covered, for 20 min.
2 medium onions, sliced
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 cup ketchup
2 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
2 tsp. WILSON'S B-V
1 cup water

Meanwhile, brown well on all sides 3 lbs. short ribs of beef in 2 tbsp. fat, using a Dutch oven or heavy skillet with a tight fitting cover.

Pour sauce over browned ribs, cover and simmer on top of stove about 2 hours, adding more water in very small amounts if needed (or cook in slow oven, 325° F). Serves 6.

Clip Recipe Here

Three in One

If you use the oven you may bake potatoes and even a Jiffy Cake at the same time. Transfer meat to top of range while oven temperature is high for the cake. Buttered spinach and a fruit salad are all that is needed to complete a delicious meal—not forgetting, of course, bread and beverage.

Jiffy Cake

Mix and sift together 1 cup cake flour, 1 cup sugar, 2 tsp. baking powder and ⅓ tsp. salt. Break 2 Clear Brook Eggs in a measuring cup and finish filling cup with coffee cream. Pour into mixing bowl, add ½ tsp. vanilla and beat well.

Gradually add the flour-sugar mixture and beat again—1 minute if using electric mixer, 100 strokes if by hand. Bake in an 8 x 8 layer pan in a moderate oven, 375 F°, about 30 min.

Topping: Cream together until light, 3 tbsp. Certified Margarine or Clear Brook Butter and ⅓ cup brown sugar. Add 2 tbsp. cream, ½ cup shredded coconut (or part nuts, if desired) and ½ tsp. vanilla. Spread on cake which has cooled 5 min. and place under broiler until coconut is lightly browned. Leave cake in pan to cut. Serve hot or cold.

Sincerely,
George Rector

THE PASSION FOR PATCHES

UNIT INSIGNIA COLLECTOR'S ITEM AMONG YOUNG CROWD

There's one problem facing the returning vet which the books don't mention. To wit, how to keep the unit patch on his khaki shoulder—and out of the clutches of feminine collectors!

The young crowd is now sporting these colorful insignia on blouses and jackets and belts. Not just one or two, you may be sure, but a whole regiment of them. The idea, we guess, being "why do things by halves?"

Another place, at any rate, where half-measures don't hold good . . . in safe-keeping fresh, young skins! A mere lick with soap and water tempts later woes indeed—Yardley "English Complexion" Cream can do so much to hold that teen-years' glow.

Light as whipped cream, this natural cleanser smooths and supples faces sensitive to less tender care. And note how faultlessly powder goes on over the satiny foundation it leaves, too! As a beautifier, as a good-looks guardian, a real value for the $1 investment.

Like their elders, deb-agers do pay special attention to hands. They realize that bright-polished nails are only a half-measure, too. If palms are rough and red, even the latest nail shade can't make hands pretty.

That's why Yardley Hand Cream is becoming more and more a daily beauty standby! Exquisitely fragrant, pink as a flower petal, it soothes away roughness, leaves a softer, smoother touch—and absolutely no sticky film to spoil its luxury.

You'll find YARDLEY HAND CREAM—at just 65c the bottle—in company with Yardley cleansers to answer your own personal complexion problems at your favorite drug or department store. (Prices quoted plus tax.)

Accept Boy's Date Offers, Girl Advised

BY SHEILA DALY

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

On the Solid Side

"There's a fellow whom I like very much. I dated him off and on for about a month and then he didn't call for quite a while. When he did call me again I went out with him and then didn't hear from him for a long period. When he finally asked me out again I went, altho I wasn't sure whether I should since he hadn't called me for so long. Was that all right?"

Just because a fellow asks a girl out twice in the same week it doesn't mean that he wants to make this a permanent, home-and-hearth-side arrangement. So have fun with the fellow whenever he asks you out, even tho it isn't as often as you'd like. What do you want him to do—sign a seven year contract?

"The fellow in the case left for the army six months ago. I dated him quite frequently before he left, and up until two months ago we wrote to each other. He came home on furlough then and after going out with me several times he took my best girl friend out in an attempt, I suppose, to make me jealous. I haven't heard from him since he went back to camp tho he wrote to my sister so I'd have his address. He has written to other girls, so it isn't that he doesn't have the time. Should I write to him first, as he's waiting for me to do?"

Your little GI friend is probably so busy writing to all his other girls that he doesn't have time to drop you a note in an envelope marked "free." He may have started dating your gal friend to make you jealous, but somewhere along the line he lost track of that motive and started dating her strictly for herself. You'd have heard from him by now if he were still interested. Don't insist, by writing to him, that he put his brush-off down in black and white.

stephanotis. The bridesmaids, Miss Ann Johnson, Miss Lucile Ralston, Miss Mary Scribner, and Miss Margaret Rogers, wore gowns in peach pink color with the same mantle-capes falling from their shoulders and carried stylized sprays of white stephanotis. Medieval high crowned hats of matching pink crowned their heads.

The most engaging models were little Judy and Bonny Ellis, one smiling, one scowling, wearing dainty blue organdy frocks from the Woman's Exchange and carrying little daisy muffs. "There's a good mannequin," some one remarked as Mrs. Walter Cherry Jr., tall, lithe, and lovely, came forward in a distinguished dinner gown of gray crepe trimmed with silver nailheads.

Mrs. Paul Butler could have sat for a Victorian portrait in her evening gown of copper color and her story book hair arrangement, and Mrs. William Barnes III. could have posed for a Grecian statue in her stunning white gown with diagonal bands of gold which left bare one shoulder.

Some of the other outstanding fashions noted were Mrs. Barrett Scudder's plaid tweed evening jacket embroidered in sequins over an eggplant color crepe dinner gown; Mrs. W. Press Hodgkins' Russian sable jacket with horizontal wing sleeves; Miss Patricia Wyman's unusual snood of turquoise ribbon which tied at the back in a huge bow, and Mrs. Murray Washburn Jr.'s suave, sophisticated black wool dress and tunic coat with insertions of ginger color and her hat and muff of black fox fur.

An effect of sheer drama was presented by Mrs. Frederick L. Spencer who wore a magnificent stole of platina fox over a dinner dress of black crepe with insertions of heavily embroidered white net in the sleeves. Mrs. Charles Y. Freeman Jr.'s pretty face was hardly visible under the big hat fringed in black feathers which she wore with a dahlia red costume suit.

The models dressed luxuriously this year in a huge air conditioned room. They appreciated it, since yesterday was the warmest day the fashion show committee ever has had on the day of the show, according to Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, self-styled backstage manager. She called out orders thru a megaphone left over from a Shrine circus.

Mrs. A Watson Armour III., Mrs. Louis C. Sudler, Mrs. Robert J. Dunham, Mrs. Watson McLallen, and Mrs. John R. Winterbotham evoked applause as much because they are long time favorites with St. Luke's audiences as for the clothes they modeled. Mrs. E. Cummings Parker, dressed in black taffeta in the grand manner of a big evening; Mrs. Herbert Stratford, who showed a handsome coat of fisher fur; Mrs. Thomas M. Smythe, with silver birds soaring in trios over a black crepe sheath; Mrs. Joseph Cochran III., in a mid-calf length ballerina evening dress, and Mrs. Robert Lehmann, in a moss green tweed suit with wine accessories, were other models who will be remembered.

Mrs. Walter B. Wolf is general chairman of the fashion show committees, with Mrs. Frank Hibbard as co-chairman. Nursing costumes from 1845 on were shown in the finale, some of them modeled by fashion show mannequins, including Mrs. John R. Hurley, who wore a nursing costume of World War I., complete to high buttoned shoes. A wounded and much decorated veteran appeared on stage in the closing moments with a brief message, "I thank God for the nurses," which he delivered following the parade of St. Luke's own Florence Nightingales.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

That Age Bogey

Rout that age bogey so you can earn coffee and cakes and that extra dab of butter now obtainable. Here's how:

Don't set your business age too low and dress down to it. Unnatural yellow curls, framing a face that should reflect strength and sweetness, extremely short dresses, bobby sox, and ankle bracelets do not knock off any birthdays.

Don't bend forward when you walk. A dress short in back tends to add to the stooped appearance, while one that is even all around counteracts it.

Don't spurn temporary jobs. Occasionally a temporary job lasts a year or more and sometimes becomes permanent.

Don't overlook former employers. Many times they steer the white collar woman into a good position.

Canvass the offices on a street near your home. It solves the rush hour problem; sidewalks seldom are as crowded as buses.

Look for good in people—even in that child behind the reception desk. Maybe her youth scares her as much as your years disconcert you! Besides, many a doll faced receptionist has wangled an interview with the big boss for some one who is uncritical of her.

Realize you are not competing with beginners but seeking work suited to your age, experience, and ability.

Old Fashioned Movie Comedy Is Rather Good

"MAMA LOVES PAPA"

By Mae Tinée

This is a comedy of the old fashioned kind, and I mean literally as well as figuratively.

Set in the early 1900s, when ladies' skirts swept the floor and men wore stiff collars, its principals are two experienced old timers—Leon Errol and Elisabeth Risdon. Leon plays one Wilbur Todd, a mousey man whose life takes some surprising turns when his formerly comfortable wife reads a book about how to make a success of a husband.

Some of the dialog is surprisingly good, and there are a couple of neat bits of satire. The audience at the early morning show yesterday howled at Mr. Errol's drunk act, which is just as successful as ever. In one scene in which he's rigged up in a lady's dress, a feather hat on his head, registering astonishment at the weird noises issuing from the throat of a buxom soprano, he looks exactly like Donald Duck with spectacles.

If you like your comedies simple but expertly handled, I think you'll find that "Mama Loves Papa" is not bad fare.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 17—Ingrid Bergman read "Turnip's Blood," by Rachael Maddux, and may do it for Sam Wood. I'm not surprised Ingrid is leaving us for the stage. Between now and Christmas we'll have three of her pictures showing: "Saratoga Trunk," made more than two years ago; "Spellbound," and "Bells of St. Mary's," for which she undoubtedly will get another academy award. She's all the madonnas stepped down from their niches and rolled into one. Hers isn't a make-shift spirituality—it's the real thing. . . . Ida Lupino and Barbara Reed, one of the "Three Smart Girls," just finished a story about a frustrated school teacher called "Miss Pennington." . . . Lt. Tim Holt, bombardier on a B-29, was wounded over Tokyo the last day of the war, for which he's received the Purple Heart. Maybe now he'll be released from the air forces. . . . John Hoysradt, who toured the South Pacific with Gertrude Lawrence in "Blithe Spirit," got a term contract with Paramount. He went to Yale with Sonny Tufts. . . . Mrs. Tufts protests because Bill Bendix gave Sonny a set of drums.

Initiation—and No Fee

Eric Johnston certainly had a hot potato thrown in his lap with our labor strike. Remember what Will Hays had thrown at him? The death of a girl at a party given by Fatty Arbuckle, which many of our top men attended. . . . Arthur Treacher can scarcely believe it. Walter Wanger wants him for a part—and it's not a butler role. Says Treacher, "If it goes thru, I'll build him a monument at Hollywood and Vine." . . . Since he can't work, Jack Carson is growing a "Jerry Colonna" on his upper lip. On him it's not the same. . . . I can imagine how furious the Parisian modistes are going to be when they learn Travis Banton of Hollywood has been asked to design Marlene Dietrich's clothes for her French picture. . . . Orson Welles tried magic, but he wasn't able to pull a white horse out of his hat for Adm. Halsey at the celebration in the Ambassador hotel. . . . Bing Crosby's taking a much needed vacation at his Nevada ranch. Now Bob Hope and Wendell Niles threaten to go up and spoil it for him.

She's a Good Act-ress

Joan Lorring called up to say the name of the singer who could play Enrico Caruso is John Tyres. She told me he was at Metro doing nothing at the same time she was there—doing nothing. First I'd known Joan started at M-G-M. She said, "I did a snip in 'Song of Russia'—it was snipped out in the cutting room. Also played extra in the last row of both 'American Romance' and 'Broadway Rhythm.'" Well, we all know Joan can act, after seeing her in "The Corn Is Green." She got together on an air show the other night with Van Johnson. They had a grand time—he talking about how Warners treated him; she telling on Metro. . . . The dinner jacket Van wore while squiring Sonja Henie to her last party here before she took off for Chicago, came from Metro's prop department. The label inside read "John Gilbert." With his up in pay, Van should be able to buy a tux now. . . . Ben Hecht actually is looking for Jeff Davis, hobo king, to play a barfly in his picture. He'll let Jeff bring two of his pals along for bartenders. . . . From a studio comes a telegram 138 words long announcing the startling news that "Abilene" is now "Scarlet Angel." Who cares?

INSTALMENT XXXIV.

TELEPHONE CALLS

Harrison's voice came thru Mr. Izenga's feverish thoughts. "Why don't you start by calling Mr. Bennet over here? Maybe if you talked to him he could explain this?"

There wasn't much conviction in his voice but Mr. Izenga was grateful for anything. "Yes, yes. A sound idea. Get him on the wire."

Harrison picked up the telephone. But after a few minutes he said, "Nobody seems to be home. The housemaid seems to think Mr. Bennet has gone away."

"Gone away!" Mr. Izenga was shrill. "Give me that phone. Hello, Stella. What's this about Mr. Bennet?"

The flat amiable voice of the maid suggested a mind that was dormant. "It's like I told Harrison, Mr. Izenga. Mr. Bennet's gone away. He went real early this morning. Five o'clock. I got him up and cooked breakfast for him."

"Where did he go?"

"I don't know. I think he was to visit some friends. He said he'd tell Pliny where to forward his mail."

"Put Pliny on the wire."

"He's gone to do the marketing."

"Where's Miss Erica?"

"She's off somewheres with that fella of hers. Toby."

"Tell Pliny to call me instantly when he gets in," he told her and hung up. "Now I suppose we've got to wait till Pliny gets back from the market. Of course, it's only an unhappy coincidence that Bennet goes off to visit some people the night after that wretch is killed."

"Of course," said Harrison obligingly

Fortunately, a caller arrived with a sizzling problem about to boil over and Mr. Izenga was obliged to put all his wits on it for the next hour. Another visitor was pacing the floor when the first one left.

Mr. Izenga was not free again till 12:30. At that time Harrison called him to the telephone.

"Hello, Pliny," he said. "Mr. Izenga speaking. Where has Mr. Bennet gone?"

"He gone to visit de Carltons down in Oxbridge, O., Mr. Izenga. You know dey was heah last spring?"

"Yes, yes. Did he tell you to forward his mail there?"

"Dat's right."

"Did he take his car?"

"Yassuh. He say he git nervous breakdown if he have to stay heah. He say he be back in couple weeks."

"Dear, dear." Mr. Izenga drew in his lower lip. Then he spoke softly. "Pliny, tell me, has any one asked for Mr. Bennet lately on the telephone . . . any strange man? You know most of his friends. Think hard. This is important."

After quite a pause the old man mumbled, "Seems to me dere was somethin' funny. Somebody with a real whiney voice, sorta hoarse, too. Ask fo' him, three-fo' times befo' dey hit a time he was in. Yassuh I member now."

Mr. Izenga felt cold. "O, so he got Bennet? Did he seem pleased to talk to the fellow?"

"No suh. Umph umph! Mr. Bennet was real mad . . . scarey mad . . . and he say if 'at fellow call again say he ain't home. He say he don't want to talk to him."

"Do you remember any words of the conversation?"

"No suh. Soon's he take de phone I went away."

Mr. Izenga hung up. That clerk must have called Bennet and accused him and now the clerk was dead and Bennet was gone. It was almost painfully clear. That is what the police would think if he gave them this information.

Harrison made another suggestion. "Why don't we wire the Carltons to have Mr. Bennet call you the minute he arrives? Then you can talk to him. Surely if he gave a forwarding address, it isn't like running away. He wouldn't commit a crime and then tell where to find him."

"No—o," Mr. Izenga's dubious tone stretched the word. "I suppose not. Anyway, it's a good idea. Send the wire and we'll see."

But Mr. Izenga reckoned without his conscience. He knew, of course, that Bennet Pomeroy wasn't guilty of killing any one. He told himself he knew it, over and over. Yet the drug clerk had accused Bennet of buying the chloral hydrate . . . and now the clerk was dead. No matter how you looked at it, French should know these things without any further delay.

Benedict Arnold had nothing on him, Mr. Izenga thought, as he rang police headquarters and asked French to call on him as soon as possible.

He had hardly hung up when Erica breezed in.

"I've brought you some presents, darling. You know Gran left all the furniture to me but we're not going to live in that feudal grandeur. I'm giving away a lot of things. I took Miss Frobisher several including that Buhl cabinet from the morning room. Heaven knows where she can put it but she said she wanted it. I hate that fussy stuff. That's right, Harrison, bring them in here."

Harrison put down a charming little table with a pie-crust top and a low rocker, comfortably shaped and padded.

"I thought I remembered your liking these two pieces," Erica said. "But you're welcome to anything else. How about that Chippendale chest from the upper hall?"

"But my dear, that's very valuable."

"Would you rather have me give it to Lucianna? She's asked for it, among other things," she smiled.

"No. She couldn't. Even she couldn't."

"Couldn't he?"

"But you're not going to give it to her?"

"O, why not! Why should I care who gets each thing. Besides, I think Lucianna is weakening. I detect a possibility that I may get that necklace if I treat her decently."

"She doesn't deserve it."

"Of course not. But I deserve the necklace and you know she has it. Once I leave this town I need never see her again and how much better to leave it with a minimum of scandal. If I can get the necklace without calling in the police, I'll give her the furniture gladly."

"Perhaps you're right. But I'll take the chest, in that case. My dear, did you know Bennet was going on this trip?"

Erica stared at the red tip of her cigaret. "No, and I wish he hadn't gone. The rest of us have to take it. Why shouldn't he? I'm afraid the police will make something of it when they find out."

"O, they'll do that, all right. Do you know where Bennet was last night?"

"Last night?"

"Let's see. No. I got in at 12. Pliny let me in. I didn't ask if Uncle Bennet was in. But, it's no use asking Pliny. He'll swear Bennet was home in bed if he thinks it would help him."

"Erica, did it ever cross your mind that Bennet might have put that sedative into his own drink?"

"Why do you say that? Mr. Izenga, you have the strangest way of knowing things . . . or guessing them. I did think that . . . several days ago. It came to my mind several times. But I would not think it."

He hesitated. Why not tell her? It might be wise. If Bennet really were guilty, she should know it and not trust him.

Common Sense Vital to Wise Child Training

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

(Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

"Since I'm only just beginning to have a family," said a young mother to an older one, "can you give me a few pointers on how you trained your children?"

"Well, dear," answered her friend, "Im afraid I relied a great deal on good old common sense."

Common sense is anything but common. It is a rare and splendid attribute. Some of us possess it almost from birth; others of us cultivate it, and still others never do acquire an atom of it.

Common sense is a wonderful balancer and for that reason it is particularly valuable in dealing with children. Take, for instance, the matter of physical care of children.

"Don't force a child to eat," says some one. "He knows when he's had enough, just like an animal."

Now animals don't do anything of the kind; lots of them overeat, simply gorge themselves. So you can discount that theory.

"Children have no real likes or dislikes in foods," says another. "If they dislike things, it's just because they're full of notions."

Hoven't you found that even tho you've learned to like almost all foods, there are still a few you can hardly swallow? It's sensible to expect and to try to train a child to eat everything he needs to balance his diet, but it's also common sense to show some respect for his preferences and actual distastes, provided they don't interfere with his proper eating.

There are tables of average height and weight for boys and for girls of various ages. Sometimes parents get rather wrought up because their children don't conform to these standards and they think something must be wrong.

Provided a child is normal, there are many factors that may cause variation from the average.

Two children in a family may eat in different quantities yet both be equally healthy because their food is differently assimilated. One may be heavy and muscular and the other light and wiry, because it is their nature to be so.

Opening lead, king of clubs.

There is no objection to an occasional bit of gambling for three no trump with an unstopped suit, where no trump appears to be the only real hope for game. After all there are so many good hands that just won't reach for 11 tricks and could easily produce nine even with one suit completely unprotected. There is always the chance that neither of the opponents has a five card suit to run against you. However this is a little on the hazardous side and if it can be determined that the minor suit offers the better chance for game while at the same time probing for no trump that appears the sounder procedure.

Today's hand is from a tournament play in which players constantly strain for no trump contracts because of the higher trick yield, and where minor suit contracts are shunned as the plague. South opened with one diamond and North in all cases responded with a spade. South had no choice but to rebid diamonds even tho he had somewhat more than a minimum. It is at this point that a variance was observed in the treatment of the North hand. Some players on the theory that their opening bid combined with partner's should produce a game, took a chance on the club suit and bid two no trump which South gladly carried to three, only to be sunk by the original salvo of five club tricks. Other Norths elected to make a deliberate underbid of three diamonds, for the purpose of allowing partner to try for the game at no trump. Some Souths, fearing the club suit and lacking courage generally, gave up the ghost. Others tried three no trump with the result outlined above. But the player whose bidding is indicated in the diagram, gave himself every chance by his call of three hearts. This bid presumably showed a four card heart suit, but if partner had a club stopper it would permit him to try for three no trump and if not, the door was still open for a game contract in diamonds if either partner chose to bid it.

North, of course, realized that the partnership was without protection in clubs and decided to chance a game contract in diamonds, feeling that at the worst it should depend on some finesse. Note that North's hand would have been just as impressive had his clubs and hearts been reversed, in which case North would have bid three no trump, which would be safe against any distribution of the cards, whereas a five diamond contract might be set if the cards were not favorable.

Two was a Crowd in Their House!

WHY DID HER HUSBAND begin to hate the sight of her? The doctor explained it was really her fault—told her how careless, "now-and-then" feminine hygiene methods often wreck marriage. He advised using Lysol disinfectant for douching—always. Cleanses thoroughly. Deodorizes. A proved germ-killer—far more dependable than salt, soda, or other homemade solutions. Yet so gentle for douching, it won't harm sensitive vaginal tissues—just follow easy directions. More women use Lysol for feminine hygiene than any other method. Try it.

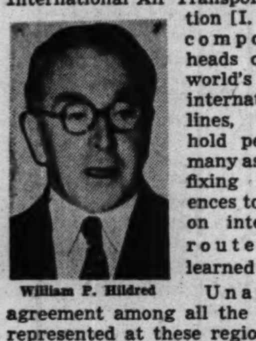
WORLD AIR BODY TO FORCE UNITY IN RATE FIXING

9 Conferences May Be Held on Fares

BY FRANK HUGHES
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 17—The International Air Transport association [I. A. T. A.], composed of heads of all the world's principal international air lines, plans to hold perhaps as many as nine rate fixing conferences to set fares on international routes, it was learned today.



William P. Hildred

Unanimous agreement among all the operators represented at these regional meetings will be demanded. Any operator who failed to approve the fare schedules would have to drop out of the association.

While this might be regarded as monopolistic control, operators say it will not be so in fact, since the governments in most cases will have to give their blessing to any proposed rate structure. In the United States, for instance, all international and domestic air rate schedules must be approved by the civil aviation board.

Rate Complications

The rate picture was further complicated today by these developments:

1. Pan American World Airways has filed with the CAB a schedule of $275 one way, $495 round trip, between New York and London, less than half the pre-war fare and about $100 below what other operators were expecting. Pan American starts flying on this schedule Saturday, two round trips a week.

2. One of the United Kingdom representatives is said to have expressed the opinion that Britain will stand for no trans-Atlantic rate structure which the British government does not approve. Pan American's two trips a week would have to be exempted because they have a pre-war flying agreement with England.

Hildred Elected

The association today elected William Percival Hildred, director general of civil aviation in the United Kingdom, as director general of the association.

The executive committee of the association was expanded from nine to 12 with the addition of Gen. T. H. Shen, managing director of China National Airways corporation; Dr. Hassen Sadik Pasha, general manager of Misr Airwork, Egypt, and Brig. Gen. T. P. Wilson, chairman of the board of Transcontinental and Western Airways and director of T. A. C. A.

DURANTE-MOORE LAUGH TEAM TO AID FUND DRIVE

Comedy will be added to the Community and War Fund compaign tomorrow when Jimmy Durante of the stage, screen and radio, and his partner, Garry Moore, will broadcast at 10 p. m. from the stage of Orchestra hall before 3,000 volunteer fund workers.

The Durante-Moore show is coming here from Columbus, O., where the two comedians entertained at a rally for Community and War Fund volunteers there, one of a series of similar benefits for the National War Fund being performed by the troupe.

The hall will be opened at 8:45 p. m. Walter P. Paepcke, general chairman, will greet the fund raisers, after which James R. Sterling, chairman of the city division, will report briefly on the work of his volunteers.

WIDOW, COOK SENTENCED ON CHILD CHARGES

Mrs. Yetta Dean, 36, a widow employed as a waitress, and Mickey O'Neill, 23, a cook, both of 6328 Carpenter st., were sentenced by Judge Joseph B. Hermes in Domestic Relations court yesterday to six months in the Bridewell on charges of contributing to the dependency of the woman's son, Albert Dean, 10. Neighbors testified that the boy often had nothing to eat and no place to sleep in his home. The court accepted the offer of Mrs. H. W. Nelson, 438 Englewood av., to care for the child temporarily.

GIs SAY THEY HAD TO THROW DOGS INTO SEA

Boston, Mass., Oct. 17 (AP)—Army officials said tonight that charges of returning service men that they were ordered to dispose of their pet dog mascots far at sea were under investigation.

Unidentified soldiers of the 26th tank battalion, 16th armored division, complained that the order was given while on the way home from Europe aboard the Steamship Hood Victory and that the pets perished in the ocean in the wake of their vessel.

Army spokesmen at the Boston port of embarkation said that the "allegations are being investigated and if it is found that there was any violation of the laws of common decency, disciplinary action will be taken."

BOY, 1½, ELUDES 200 ZION SCOUTS AND 50 SAILORS

Zion police, aided by 100 Boy Scouts and a detachment of 50 sailors from the Great Lakes Naval Training station searched the Zion lake front for two hours last night for Douglas Magowan, 18 months old, who disappeared from his home in the Hosah subdivision near the lake at 5:45 p. m.

At 9:45 p. m. the child was found asleep on the running board of a car parkeo near the Zion Candy company plant at 29th st. and the North Western tracks, a mile from his home, by a watchman at the plant.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James Magowan. His father is a seaman, 2d class, attending the gunner's mate school at Great Lakes.

MOTHER HUNTS FOR RARE DRUG TO SAVE BABY

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 17 (AP)—Gayle Harvey, 17 month old child of Mrs. Jean Harvey, former WAC, will die in Ball Memorial hospital here from tubercular meningitis unless 20 million units of streptomycin are found quickly, Dr. Gerald S. Young said today.

Mrs. Harvey said all her efforts to locate a supply had failed. She said she had been informed all of the drug had been allocated to the military services, but that they had been unable to obtain it because the largest producer is shut down temporarily.

Mrs. Harvey formerly was stationed at George field, Ill. The child's father, Sgt. Thomas Harvey, 113th paratroopers, was killed in action in Europe last March.

'45 FORD TUDOR WILL COST $1,000 IN MIDDLE WEST

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 17 [Special]—A spokesman for the Ford Motor company said today that under the pricing formula of the office of price administration the prices of 1945 Fords to midwest dealers will approximate $757 for the de luxe tudor and $798 for the super de luxe model.

This indicated that prices to individual buyers, on the basis of markups allowed by the OPA in 1942 would be about $1,000 for the tudor and $1,110 for the super de luxe.

Company officials said the Rouge plant is now turning out 400 passenger cars and 400 trucks a day and that the company expects to manufacture 75,000 passenger cars and 50,000 trucks and commercial units before Christmas.

Austin Price Doubles

LONDON, Oct. 17—A 12 horse power car of a type which sold for $900 before the war now will cost the buyer $2,124, the Austin Motor company, one of Britain's biggest auto manufacturers, announced tonight. The new price includes a $464 purchase tax. The 16 horse power model which cost about $1,000 in 1939 will sell at $2,276, of which $496 is purchase tax.

STATE TO CUT PREP BASKET MEET TO 1 DAY

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD

FOR the first time since 1941, Northwestern's homecoming celebration in connection with the Purdue game Oct. 27 will include the fraternity-sorority parade and the traditional bonfire. . . . The harmony, or lack of it, reached a new low at this year's rendition by freshman players of the marching song, "Bear Down, Chicago Bears." . . . It was far below the standard of excellence set by those first year Bear songsters of other years under the baton of Bill Osmanski, the full back. . . . Jack Goldie, the trainer who led this year's glee club, refused to accept the responsibility for the fiasco. . . . "I get blamed for enough things as it is," says Jack. . . . Tony Cash, a boy who played a few minutes with the Notre Dame football team last year, was ruled eligible to play for Tulane the day before this year's game with Florida. . . . He caught a pass in the end zone in the last 47 seconds to give the Green Wave a 6 to 6 tie with the Gators. . . . When Tom Koch, sports editor of Northwestern university's daily student newspaper, conceived the idea of establishing a cigar store Indian as a trophy for the Northwestern-Illinois football game, his colleagues offered him all kinds of odds in wagering he'd never find one. . . . To date, Koch's search, which was publicized in THE TRIBUNE, has received hundreds of offers from owners of the wooden relics and now his task is deciding which one to accept. . . . Once the trophy is picked, contests will be conducted on the Illinois and Northwestern university campuses to select a name for it.

James J. Corbett III. has arrived at the home of Jim Corbett, Louisiana State publicity director, who claims distant relationship with the late "Gentleman Jim" of prize ring fame. . . . Braven Dyer of the Los Angeles Times is taking bows as one of the few sports writers to pick the Tigers and Cubs to win the major league pennants but he is silent when they mention that his choice in the world series was the Cubs. . . . Before Dick Fowler of the Athletics pitched that no-hit game his major league record was one victory and 12 defeats. . . . Bob Cooke has rejoined the New York Herald Tribune sports staff after three and a half years as a lieutenant with the 12th air force. . . . He had 33 missions over Italy and southern France as pilot of a medium bomber during the Anzio and Cassino campaigns. . . . Otto Graham Jr., former Northwestern and Waukegan High school athlete who was married to Beverly Collinge at Wabash, Ind., on Oct. 7 is in the east conferring on a professional contract with either the Rochester or Cleveland basketball teams. Graham, who was stationed at Pensacola, Fla., was discharged from the navy at Toledo last month.

Haunting Melody

Soft music comes to me across the room
With dulcet poignance in each threnody—
It threads its way thru lamplight and thru gloom
And comes to rest within the heart of me;
This song is one that haunts me day and night,
Its melody combines the sad and gay,
Its undertones sometimes thrill with delight
And sometimes somber tones hold me in sway.
This is the melody that you and I
Heard when our lips met one night long ago—
We did not hear love's wistful little sign
Because it was a sound soft and low.

It Happened in Dubuque

Lured by Bing Crosby's magic name, and not thinking to look at the title of the picture, I wandered into one of the smaller of our local movie houses of a recent evening, only to realize after I'd been there about a minute that I was looking at a picture I had seen I don't know how many years ago.

On the way out I cornered the manager. "Look, Mel," said I, "Isn't that an oldie of Bing you're showing this evening?"

"Yep," was the reply, "it's the FIRST musical Bing ever made."

"And you're charging the same for it as you did when it was brand new?" I persevered.

"Certainly," he shot back, "in fact it's worth more now. Maybe, you don't realize it, but in that picture you were looking at Bing's very first toupee. Just think of THAT, will you?"

I promised him I would and was off down the street. [And after that one, why shouldn't I be?]

While I was young I would have wept
To see my grandest dreams
Reduced to dust, yet I have kept

Or hold a hand on days of grace

BOARD TO VOTE ON TOURNEY CHANGE OCT. 27

Housing Shortage Leads to Proposal

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 17 [Special] —Because of the acute housing situation, the Illinois High School Principals' association today recommended that the state final basketball tournament, annually a three day, 16 team affair, be telescoped into a one day four team meet.

The recommendation was for three years, thru 1948, with the hope that after that date the housing situation will have eased so the tournament can again accommodate 16 teams. If reduced to a one day final, the pressure for housing accommodations for the thousands of patrons who attend the meet each year will be dropped.

Board to Meet Oct. 27

The recommendation of the principals' association is certain to pass, because it was made to the directors of the Illinois High School association. The I. H. S. A is the organization controling interscholastic activities in this state and its membership is composed entirely of principals—the same men who voted today's resolution.

B. Floyd Smith, Benton, president of the directors of I. H. S. A, said today that his board would meet here Oct. 27 to consider the recommendations. "And I don't see how we can do anything but accept it."

In the discussion of the housing situation, it was disclosed that some 2,000 prospective students at the state university have had their permits to enter rejected because they cannot find a place to live. Housing has been acute ever since the start of the war because of the expansion of Chanute field, 12 miles north of here.

Enrollment Shows Increase

Now the army is discharging men, reducing the size of Chanute, but this is compensated by the rapidly rising enrollment of the state university. It is estimated that by 1948 the university will reach its peak in enrollment and the housing program will have caught up with the needs of the community, once again permitting a 16 team high school final.

Illinois had a four team high school final in 1941, but it proved unsatisfactory to the coaches and players. The latter said they missed the glory of having 16 teams on hand for the big show. So in 1942 the three day final was restored. The board of directors of I. H. S. A. said today it had not thought of going back to the four team show until confronted by the resolution from the principals today.

Suggest Stadium as Site

If the state association follows the 1941 plan, four quarter-final tournaments of four teams each will be held to reduce the field of 16 before the final rounds here. The quarter-final tournament in 1941 were held in centrally located positions—Elgin, Pekin, Springfield, and Carbondale.

During the discussion a suggestion that the tournament be moved to the Chicago Stadium was met by the assertion that the hotels in Chicago are just as crowded as they are here—if not more so.

Conn's Pilot Sputters, but Signing Nears

New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—A lot of firecrackers went off around Promoter Mike Jacobs' headquarters today and the loudest of all was a refusal by Billy Conn to sign for his scheduled heavyweight title fight next June with Joe Louis.

The last time Billy signed for a Louis fight—in 1941—his manager, Johnny Ray, wouldn't approve the contracts until Jacobs lifted Conn's percentage of the gate. Today Ray objected to the clause barring Conn from any exhibition tune-up before the Louis fight.

Ray wants Billy to have three tune-ups before meeting Louis again. He informed Jacobs he agreed verbally with promoters to have Conn box an exhibition with Al Patterson of Pittsburgh in Kansas City auditorium Nov. 7 on the Lee Savold-Wallace Cross card. The referee for the exhibition will be Louis.

There may be considerably more discussion, but the chances are the contracts soon will be signed, probably late tomorrow. Conn said he figured he and Ray would collect $1,000,000 as their share of the gate.

A PAIR OF ILLINI WHO MAY TROUBLE BADGERS

STAN STASICA WILL START FOR ILLINI SATURDAY

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 17 [Special] —Illinois today eased up in its drill for Saturday's game with Wisconsin at Madison. Two days of scrimmage were pronounced enough.

Stanley Stasica of Rockford and Tom Zaborac of Canton worked at the half back spots, with Gene Kwasniewski of Evanston and Jack Pierce of Pontiac right behind them. The Illini are testing all half back combinations, but it is apparent Stasica will open at left half, with Kwasniewski or Seaborac at right half.

Eddie McGovern, picked in preseason calculations as the starting right half, withdrew from school today and returned to his home in Terre Haute, Ind. McGovern was operated on for appendicitis Sept. 20, two days before the opening game with Pitt. There was a chance he might come back and play the final games, but this would count as an entire season of eligibility.

BADGERS SCRIMMAGE

Madison, Wis., Oct. 17 [Special]—Wisconsin's first and second elevens scored six touchdowns on the reserves today in a strenuous srimmage which marked the Badgers' preparation for their game with Illinois here Saturday.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher, pleased with the squad's mental reaction to the defeat by Ohio State last Saturday, was disappointed to find that Jack Mead and Ray Mals, first string ends, probably will be unable to play against the Illini. Bob Hanley and Hal Haberman were the first team ends in today's workout.

TRIP TO PITT IS PRIZE AS IRISH RESERVES CLASH

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 17 [Special]—Notre Dame's third and fourth teams scrimmaged this afternoon, with traveling squad berths for Saturday's football game in Pittsburgh as the reward for their play.

Johnny Agnone of Youngstown, O., and Emil Slovak of Elliston, O., both junior half backs, starred in the scrimmage. The former scored twice after long runs.

Al Burnett, freshman end from Irvington, N. J., also impressed the coaches with his defensive work.

The first and second teams worked on offense, with Frank Dancewicz unlimbering his pitching arm. He has completed nine passes in 22 tries for three touchdowns and 237 yards in Notre Dame's three games.

Minnesota Line May Prove Too Tough for Green N. U.

BY WILFRID SMITH

Northwestern's inexperienced football players, beaten two weeks ago by Michigan's deception, now face Minnesota power Saturday in the Gophers' homecoming game in Minneapolis. Notwithstanding the many close games in the modern era of this series, the Wildcats scarcely can expect to fare better at Minnesota than they did with Michigan when the Wolverines won, 20 to 7.

Memory of Northwestern's 7 to 7 tie with Indiana [still undefeated this season] is fading and will be fainter as the Wildcats continue the most difficult schedule in the Big Nine. The story Saturday will be written around the Gophers' line which should outplay Northwestern's inexperienced youngsters. Unless Minnesota contributes to Northwestern's defense by shoddy ball handling or inept generalship, power should wear down the Wildcats by the second half.

Minnesota Is Strengthened

"Minnesota has been greatly strengthened," Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern coach, pointed out yesterday, "by return of five pre-war regulars including Bob Fitch and Judd Ringer."

Waldorf also could have said that the key to defense against power is a pair of excellent tackles. While Northwestern has had fine tackle play from Charles Hagmann and Westi Hansen, the former only weighs 178 pounds. Hansen's experience before this season was limited to three games he played at Yale before entering Northwestern's R. O. T. C. unit.

Until the last two days, Waldorf and his aids have spent most of their time preparing a defense for the Gophers. This concentration on defects apparent in the defeat by Michigan occasioned the shift of Bill Travers from full back to guard where he will alternate with Paul Schuetz, 18 year old civilian freshman from Wheeling, W. Va. The shift also means that Don Whan, Rock Island, Ill., freshman, has progressed rapidly enough to be entrusted with the starting full back assignment.

Newcomer May Be Used

Bill Steele, Davenport, Ia., freshman, is Whan's replacement. Northwestern also may get some service from a couple of newcomers, Bill Herschberger and Jack Mackenzie. Herschberger reported last week and previously played at North Carolina pre-flight. Mackenzie, a graduate of Sullivan High school in 1939, who played a year at Drake, now discharged from the marines, has just recovered from a sprained ankle which kept him out of early games.

Jim Lecture, another war veteran, has been a standout guard for Northwestern. Ray Miller, a converted end, will start for the Wildcats at center with Bob Piros, 18 year old freshman from St. Louis, as substitute.

Minnesota's difficulties with Fort Warren last Saturday, when the soldiers held the Gophers to two touchdowns, were attributed to excellent defensive play by Fort Warren's ends, Ken Whitney and Mac Speedie. Northwestern will present Capt. Max Morris at left end and Stan Gorski and Ken Wiltgen will share the right end position.

Conners at Right Half

Dick Conners, who is the only regular from last year's team except for Morris, is a fixture at right half. He ran 63 yards to score against Michigan and had runs of 64 and 51 yards against Indiana.

Don Laser will start at quarter back for the Wildcats Saturday but the nominee for left half is uncertain because of injury to Bruce Bairstow and Hap Murphey. Bairstow, No. 1 left half, has a severe bruise, but he and Murphey worked out last night. Bob McKinley, navy trainee from College Springs, Ia., and Bill Hunt, 17 year old freshman from New Trier High school, have been learning the left half back duties in addition to their former assignments at the other half back position.

The Wildcats will leave tomorrow afternoon for Minneapolis.

GOPHERS EXPECT TEST

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 17 [Special]—Minnesota's defense, which thus far this season has not yielded a touchdown via the ground route, and only one by a pass, is expected to get its stiffest test Saturday when the Gophers entertain Northwestern. They have not yet played against a T formation back field such as Northwestern will present, nor against an individual back like the Wildcats' Dick Conners.

Tommy Cates, rated one of the Gophers' best defensive half backs, again took turns with the injured Red Williams in practice.

FAUROT SOON TO RESUME JOB AS MISSOURI COACH

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 17 (AP)—Lt. Comdr. University officials were notified by Congressman Wat Arnold [R., Mo.] that Faurot's release was imminent.

Oakland Club Signs Stengel for Next Year

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 17 (AP)—Casey Stengel, colorful major and minor league manager, was signed today to pilot the Oakland Baseball club of the Pacific Coast league in 1946. Victor A. Devincenzi, general manafier of the Oaks said Stengel was given only a one year contract at his own request. His salary for the 1946 season will be $12,000.

HIRSCH BOUND TO CHICAGO ALL-AMERICA CLUB—KEESHIN

Owner Declares $900 Already Paid Badger Star

BY EDWARD PRELL

The furor kicked up yesterday following Tuesday's announcement that Wisconsin's great Elroy Hirsch, now a marine lieutenant, has signed to play with Chicago in the All-America conference, failed to ruffle the team's owner, John L. Keeshin.

In Madison, Harry Stuhldreher, football coach and athletic director at the University of Wisconsin, branded the Chicago report of Hirsch's signing as "untrue." In El Toro, Cal., where he is stationed, the hard running half back was quoted as saying he had not signed the All-America contract and that he hopes to return for two more years of competition with the Badgers.

"Have Paid on Contract"

Throwing a vigorous cross-block, Keeshin declared:

"I am not in the habit of making false statements. The original story, as printed in Wednesday's CHICAGO TRIBUNE, was 100 per cent correct. I might add, however, that it omitted one significant detail. We already have paid Hirsch $900 on his contract.

"Whatever statements Hirsch, Coach Stuhldreher, or any one else wishes to make are O. K. with me. If Hirsch wants to return to Wisconsin and complete his collegiate career before reporting to the Chicago All-America eleven we will raise no objections. He is legally bound to us, and his professional career will be with the Chicago All-America team."

Under Western conference rules, Hirsch is ineligible for further collegiate competition at Wisconsin. The conference stipulates that even a verbal agreement with a professional club brings disqualification.

Notre Dame, in adhering to these standards set by the Big Nine, recently declared ineligible its captain and center, Frank Szymanski, when it became known he had signed a contract with the Detroit Lions of the National league.

Hirsch Turns Down Rams

Earlier this year, Hirsch had revealed his decision against accepting an offer by the Cleveland Rams of the National league.

Hirsch began his collegiate career as a sophomore at Wisconsin in 1942. A navy transfer sent him to Michigan in 1943 where he played with the rival Wolverines. This season he is a member of the El Toro marine eleven, coached by Lt. Col. Richard [Dick] Hanley, who will be head coach of the Chicago All-America team after he leaves the marines.

Stuhldreher said that he had reached Hirsch by telephone at El Toro.

"In a phone conversation with him Wednesday, he strongly denied to me that he had signed or had any intention to do so," declared the Wisconsin coach. "Hirsch also stated that his lasting ambition is to return to the University of Wisconsin to finish his education and athletic competition."

Doesn't Count Against Record

Because of the war-time relaxation of Western conference eligibility rules, the year at Michigan does not count against Hirsch's record.

Hirsch was one of six big name players whose signing was announced Tuesday by the Chicago and San Francisco All-America elevens. The other two enrolled under the Chicago banner are Marine Capt. George Franck, former Minnesota and New York Giants' star, and Marine Lt. Bob Dove, Notre Dame end.

Anthony J. Morabito, the San Francisco team's owner, reported obtaining Len Eshmont, Parker Hall, and Hank Norberg. Hall, from the University of Mississippi, and Eshmont, Fordham university, are former College All-Stars. Hall played three seasons with the Cleveland Rams before joining the navy air corps. Eshmont played in 1941 with the New York Giants. Both now are at St. Mary's Pre-Flight school. Norberg, now stationed in Honolulu, was an end on Stanford's 1941 Rose bowl team.

Wilson Stands By

THE Western conference will maintain a hands-off policy in the Elroy Hirsch case until, or if, his eligibility is challenged should he return to the University of Wisconsin to engage in sports competition. This was the stand taken last night by Kenneth L. [Tug] Wilson, conference commissioner.

"Of course, I know nothing about it now," said Wilson, "but if a question arises about his reported professional football commitments when he returns to school, naturally we'll investigate. We'd need documentary proof before we could make a decision."

BEARS ASSUME ROLE OF SPOILER IN PRO FOOTBALL

All that's left in 1945 for the Chicago Bears is to gain the satisfaction of knocking off contenders for the western and eastern championships of the National Football league. They are looking forward to such an assignment Sunday afternoon when the title-minded Cleveland Rams, with the only unsullied record in the league, come to Wrigley field.

The Bears have lost all their three league games, not to mention two of three exhibition contests. That one victory, attained over New York in Buffalo, was by a single point. One of their three league losses was to the Rams, who have triumphed in three consecutive contests.

Coaches Face Strange Task

In other years the Bears had to feign worry a few days before each game. If sports ever had a sure thing it was when the Bears played the Rams, the Lions, the Cards, or most any team you could mention. Now it's turnabout and the Bear coaches are finding themselves confronted with the strange task of trying to pump confidence into their players.

They haven't the physical weapons to whip the Rams Sunday, but this is an unusual year when anything can happen and is happening each week.

Elmer Layden, commissioner of the National league, yesterday gave this sizeup of the 1945 race:

"It may be that we'll see a champion crowned that has lost three games. Not only have all the teams the individual strength and ability to knock off top teams, but the balance of power will be shifting."

Ticket Sales Show Increase

Layden reported that all the 10 teams have enjoyed an increase in their sale of season's tickets. This interest, he believes, will mount as it becomes apparent that virtually every game will carry the possibility of sharply affecting the league standings.

"Now, just look at this," he said. "New York, the 1944 eastern champion, already has a tie against its record. Green Bay, the western and league champion, has suffered one defeat. The Bears, runners-up in the west last season with Detroit, have dropped three. The Cardinals, who won no games last year, have won one and are rapidly improving. Philadelphia, which won all its non-championship games and was the eastern favorite, has been beaten. Washington, second in the east last year, was beaten in its first game this season by Boston, a club which won only two games in '44. Yes, this is going to be quite a season before it's over!"

The Bears had to use their personnel sparingly in a half hour scrimmage yesterday morning in Wrigley field. Because of a dearth of defensive men, plays were run for a spell at the right side, then the same athletes crossed over to defend against plays aimed at the right side.

Purdue Will Rely on Speed; Ohio's Two Star Backs Ailing

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 17 [Special]—Efforts to develop speed and deception marked Purdue university's practice this afternoon for Saturday's game with undefeated Ohio State at Columbus.

Altho the Boilermakers cannot hope to match the Buckeyes on power, Coach Cecil Isbell is hopeful that his shifty backs, who average only 172 pounds, may be able to spring a surprise provided Purdue's forwards are able to hold their own.

For the first time since the season's opener, the Boilermaker back field will be reunited, with two freshmen, Bob De Moss, quarter back passer, and Dave Shaw, right half back speedster, working with the veterans, Ed Cody, full back, and Bill Canfield, left half back.

The Purdue squad will head for Columbus Friday afternoon and is scheduled to arrive that evening.

Columbus, O., Oct. 17 [Special]—Ohio State's two veteran half backs, Paul Sarringhaus and Dick Fisher, will see limited service, if any, in the Purdue game here Saturday, Coach Carroll Widdoes said today.

Fisher has an injured leg muscle and Sarringhaus a severe shoulder bruise. Neither will practice the remainder of the week, Widdoes said. In their places today were Jerry Krall and Hal Daugherty alternating at left half, with Alex Verdova at right half.

It seems almost certain Ohio State will set a new season attendance record. The maximum of 72,000 tickets already is sold for the Purdue game. Henry D. Taylor, director of ticket sales, said all reserved seat tickets for the homecoming game with Illinois Nov. 17 have been sold, and only a few thousand remain for the Northwestern game here Nov. 3.

SCHURZ BLOCKS LANE'S BID FOR SECTION CROWN

Tech Faces High Scoring Eleven Tomorrow

Lane Tech's defense of its City league north section football title probably will receive its sternest test of the season tomorrow afternoon when the Indians, already tied once, meet undefeated Schurz High school in Lane stadium.

Last year, Lane scored a 6 to 0 triumph over its rivals and went on to win the section crown. Now, on the basis of performances, it appears that Coach Bob Koehler has a man's task in devising a method of upsetting a Schurz eleven that is ranked among the better teams in the state.

Schurz, after gaining a 7 to 0 triumph over New Trier in an inter-league game, has amassed 159 points in three league victories.

Only One Veteran Back

Lane opened league play against Roosevelt, gaining a 13 to 0 victory. Next Tech scored a 21 to 14 triumph over Taft. After that came Senn with a 7 to 7 tie. This record has been compiled by a team that boosts only one starter, Alex Cichanski, from the eleven which last fall narrowly missed winning the league championship, altho seven others on the squad are monogram winners.

In Johnny Miller and Dick Redman, Schurz has two of the leading scorers in the city. Miller has 44 points, Redman 39. That's more than half the 159 totaled by the team. Furthermore, these backs operate behind a strong line which Coach Fred O'Keefe believes hasn't received due credit.

Altho some players weigh up to 220 pounds, O'Keefe relies on a 147 pound right end, Bob Nusser, as a starter. "I wouldn't trade him for a 200 pound end," says O'Keefe.

They Play Smart Ball

But if there was anything bothering Coach Koehler of Lane besides a slight cold which has confined him to bed, he didn't mention it last night. His team, with an overall average of 180 pounds, plays what he calls smart ball.

Morton will defend its Suburban league cross country title tomorrow in Evanston. . . . Adolph De Boer, captain of the Lindblom swimming team, is nicknamed "The Build." . . . The leader of the Lindblom wrestling squad is Dale Wire, a 145 pounder. . . . Joe McGinnis, Bowen baseball coach, is now in charge of the swimming team. . . . He temporarily replaces Art Peters, who is assisting with football. . . . Three former St. Ignatius football stars now play with Marquette. . . . They are Bill Hickey, Joe Gagliardo, and Elador Jankauskis. . . . Jimmy Muszynski and Bill Bricker have been named co-captains of the Bowen swimming team. . . . Frank Mannott, St. Patrick football coach, once was basketball and football coach at Hugoton, Kas.

PHILS RELEASE FOXX, MANCUSO; A'S SELL BLACK

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 17 (AP)—First Baseman Jimmy Foxx and Catcher Gus Mancuso, were given their unconditional release today by the Philadelphia Phillies. General Manager Herb Pennock said both asked to be released.

At the same time the Phillies sent four players to Portland of the Pacific Coast league in partial payment for Shortstop Johnny O'Neill. Those sent to the coast were Dick [Kewpie] Barrett, who won 8 and lost 20 in the 1945 season; Outfielder Nick Goulish, Pitcher Mitchell Chetkovich, and Shortstop Wally Flager. Another player is still to be sent.

The Athletics also kept active on the player market with the announcement by Connie Mack of the sale to the Cleveland Indians of Pitcher Don Black.

OPERATE TODAY ON HEINZ BECKER TO HELP FOOT

Unlike most ball players, who wait until spring training time nears to undergo needed repairs, Heinz Becker of the Cubs is wasting no time attending to the matter. Today, in Illinois Masonic hospital, Dr. Walter R. Fischer will operate on the utility first baseman's left foot.

The operation will include changing the alignment of bones in the foot after removing a bunion. Dr. Fischer believes this will eliminate Becker's trouble and enable him to increase both his speed and staying powers. The ailment forced Heinz out of action last season when he went to first base after Capt. Phil Cavarretta was hurt.

13,023 TURNOUT BREAKS RECORD AT SPORTSMAN'S

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

The largest week day crowd in Sportsman's Park history, 13,023, jammed the track yesterday for the first midweek double feature, offering a pair of $2,500 events which drew some of the fastest thorobreds in the Cicero stables.

The day's mutuel handle of $909,799 also was a new week day mark.

The 3 year old Hollyman, a son of Ladysman-Hollyhock by the old Kentucky Derby winner, Blue Larkspur, ran a spectacular race to take the first headliner, the La Grange handicap, with plenty to spare thru a powerful stretch drive.

Grey Days Is Third

Running last most of the way in the 6½ furlong affair, Hollyman got up under Job Jessop's neat handling to beat Chipamink, the favorite, a length and a half.

H. H. Fauset's Grey Days, also well regarded, was third in a six horse field. The winner, owned by Mrs. George H. Emick, paid $8.40, $3.60, and $2.40. Chipamink, owned by the Silver Star Stock farm and ridden by Willie Hawksworth, returned $3.40 and $2.40. Grey Days, with N. L. Pierson up, paid $2.40 to show.

Cerberus Takes 2d Feature

Clyde Troutt's consistent router, Cerberus, accounted for the second feature with a four length margin over L. and M. Sidell's Layout as Ben Fogelson's Martian led the remainder of the seven horse field across the finish line.

Cerberus never was under pressure, laying second during the first half of the mile and one-sixteenth event, and then leading the remainder of the way around with Jockey Rafael Sanabria taking it easy in the saddle.

Roy Brundage, 54, a house painter who resided at 228 N. Menard av., died of a heart attack while in line at a betting window before the fourth race.

More than 30 entries have been received for the $5,000 National handicap Saturday, William Dahlstrom, racing secretary, announced, and said that the management is prepared to run the race in two divisions and raise the day's card from eight to nine races.

Iowa Sets Up Defense for Indiana Passes

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 17 [Special]—Defensive drills occupied the Iowa football squad today as the scout team demostrated Indiana's running and passing plays. The Iowans are particularly concerned over the passing of Ben Raimondi since the Iowa pass defense had been vulnerable in other games.

Obern Simons, left half back who has missed practice this week after obtaining permission from Coach Clem Crowe to stay over Sunday at his home in Chicago, said tonight that he would return to school tomorrow. During the workout today Full Back Herb Braum and Lou Boda took turns at the half back post.

Nelson Smith still is unable to work at right half back and Paul Golden is current number one candidate for the post while the full back job is being split between Carl Bowen and Art Johnson. Paul Fagerlind still is in isolation with a strep throat and his right guard spot is being occupied by Wayne Spurbeck.

Iowa's first home conference game is expected to draw a crowd of between 12,000 and 15,00.

HOOSIERS LEAVE TODAY

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 17 [Special]—Indiana stressed defensive play today before entraining tomorrow afternoon for Saturday's game with the Hawkeyes in Iowa City.

Allan Horn, sophomore, worked out at the first string center spot while John Cannady nursed a slight leg injury. Still seeking reserve power, Coach Bo McMillin employed Nick Lysohir, freshman, and Bob Miller, Dick Deranke, and Bill Armstrong in the second string back field. Armstrong, full back in the Nebraska game last Saturday, is expected to see action against the Hawkeyes.

MARQUETTE SHIFTS ENDS

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17 [Special]—Coach Tom Stidham of Marquette today juggled players at the end positions as he sought more offensive and defensive strength for Saturday night's game with Great Lakes here. Les Kelchik, 1941 and 1942 first string tackle who has returned from the army air forces, was sent to right end in place of Orlando [Pacho] Palesse, another returned air corps veteran, who was switched to left end.

BILLIARD STAR CUES GOLF SHOT FOR HOLE IN ONE

Dave McCandless, former world's amateur billiard champion, yesterday shot a hole in one on Tom o' Shanter's 275 yard fifth hole. As he shot, McCandless yelled fore. City Treasurer Raymond Drymalski, standing on the green, yanked the flag out of the pin and watched the ball trickle into the cup. "Most beautiful shot I ever saw," said Drymalski enviously.

JOYCE AND RAY END DRILLS FOR STADIUM BOUTS

BY FRANK MASTRO

Willie Joyce and Elmer Ray, who retained their No. 3 lightweight and No. 7 heavyweight contender positions, respectively, in the latest quarterly ratings by the National Boxing association, ended boxing drills in C. Y. O. center gymnasium yesterday for 10 round bouts featuring the Chicago Stadium show tomorrow night. Joyce is matched with Joey Barnum of Los Angeles and Ray with Hubert Hood, 1942 Chicagoland Golden Gloves heavyweight champion.

Joyce, making his first Chicago appearance since twice beating Ike Williams, N. B. A. 135 pound champion, in Madison Square Garden this year, will confine his activities to light exercises today. Ray, who will enter the ring with a record of 32 straight triumphs, 29 by knockouts, will follow the same routine.

Walker, Costner Arrive Today

So will Barnum, 23, of Kansas City, Mo., one of whose 21 victories in 27 contests was scored at the expense of Nick Moran, conqueror of Bob Montgomery, New York recognized lightweight title holder. Hood completed his training yesterday by sparring with Collins Brown, former Golden Gloves middleweight winner, and Lindy Elliott, giant boxer from the south side.

Clayton Worlds, another Golden Gloves graduate, also ended conditioning chores yesterday for a 10 round supporting match against Buddy Walker, Baltimore heavyweight. The latter will arrive today, along with George Costner, Cincinnati welterweight, who is matched with Bill McDowell of Dallas, Tex., in a fourth 10 round number. McDowell beat Fritzie Zivic, ex-147 pound champion, in 10 rounds in New Orleans on July 16.

Joyce to Weigh 137

Lou Gross, Joyce's trainer, said his protege will weigh 137 pounds for tomorrow's bout, while Issy Kline, Barnum's conditioner, said Joey will carry 140. Kline, chief of Chicago's Golden Gloves seconds, formerly managed Joyce. Gross also was a Golden Gloves second under Kline for 13 years prior to 1942.

Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun last night said the advance sale had reached $18,000.

Don Hutson to Be Host in Tenpin Trials

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

Don Hutson, the Green Bay Packers' great end who also doubles as a ten pin enterpreneur, will be host next month when the Green Bay Press-Gazette will conduct qualifying exercises leading to the fifth annual All-Star bowling tournament, to be conducted by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America in Chicago's Auditorium Service Men's Center from Dec. 1 thru Dec. 9.

Hutson's elegant 20 lane establishment will be the scene of the Press-Gazette's debut as a coöperating newspaper in the tournament pattern. John B. Tournis, assistant managing editor of the Wisconsin paper, will be in charge of the Green Bay trials, scheduled for two week-ends, Nov. 10 and 11 and Nov. 17 and 18.

Nine Counties to Compete

Torunis yesterday revealed that nine northeastern Wisconsin counties—Brown, Kewaunee, Door, Oconto, Marinette, Shawno, Outagamie, Calumet, and Manitowoc—are expected to send a company of more than 300 bowlers into the tournament on Hutson's Packer Playdium alleys.

By Nov. 17, thru a series of five game, total pin rolldowns, the field will be reduced to 16 men. On Sunday afternoon, Nov. 18, these will be pared to four men. This quartet will roll that night in a match play round robin, based on the Petersen point system, to determine which bowler will represent the Green Bay sector in the December main event in Chicago.

State Champion to Enter

Wisconsin also will be represented by the state champion, annually chosen in the tournament conducted by the Milwaukee State Journal.

Other coöperating newspaper men who will send bowlers to the Auditorium show include Leo S. Bunner of the San Francisco Chronicle, Mike De Vitt of the Philadelphia Record, Raymond Johnson of the Nashville Tennessean, Bob Nesbit of the Terre Haute Tribune, Jerry Hagan of the Kalamazoo Gazette, and John Whitaker of the Hammond Times.

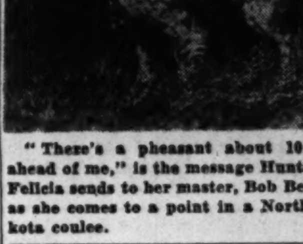
When Pheasants Invade a Fort It's Time to Shoot!

BY BOB BECKER

The pheasants in Illinois have invaded and taken over many a marsh, slough, and cornfield, so today it's nothing unusual to see these gaudy game birds on hundreds of farms. But while we were in Bismarck, N. D., on a combined grouse, pheasant, and duck hunt a few weeks ago we discovered that the crafty ringnecks were one up on their Illinois relatives, for the birds out there have captured Uncle Sam's historic Fort Lincoln and Fort McKeen!



"There's a pheasant about 10 feet ahead of me," is the message Huntstone Felicia sends to her master, Bob Becker, as she comes to a point in a North Dakota coulee.

Take Over 750 Acres

These two forts, which lie on the west bluffs of the Missouri river just a few miles from Bismarck and Mandan, are located in a state park. The ringnecks have taken possession of the 750 acres comprising these two early outposts, and arrogantly strut over the old parade ground of Fort Lincoln where between 1873 and 1876 Gen. George A. Custer used to review the famous 7th cavalry regiment. And they're numerous in the wide, grassy coulee that cuts thru the highlands behind Fort Lincoln, up which Gen. Custer and his 7th cavalry marched on May 17, 1876, with colors flying and bands playing as they headed west to meet the Sioux Indians in the disastrous battle of the Little Bighorn.

Ringnecks Play Tag

Hunting pheasants in the rolling Missouri highlands 40 miles west of Bismarck means shooting unlike the type you get in the more open prairie country because the birds are concentrated in the brushy ravines or coulees that divide the hills. Here the ringnecks hide in the weeds and grass on the sides of the ravines and play tag with you around the cottonwoods.

One afternoon our party, which included Bill Miller, biologist of the United States fish and wildlife service; Lyman Barr, Highland Park, Ill., and Huntstone Felicia, our setter, had a busy time with the cock pheasants in the coulees, for the birds would hurtle out of the cover and then try to tower thru the trees like ruffed grouse.

Setter in Sitdown Strike!

During our hunt the setter stole the show with a new kind of sitdown strike. She was trotting along ahead of us on the bottom of a brushy coulee when suddenly we saw her stop, twist her head to the left in a very awkward point. She held that position for a minute and then very slowly she sat down. The bird held tight and the dog just sat there until we figured out the situation. The pheasant was very close to her in the grass to her left. We kicked up the bird. It zigzagged thru the stunted trees until the 20 gauge spoke.

Blackhawks Schedule Brief Drill in Chicago Monday

BY EDWARD BURNS

Blackhawk railbirds are to have two long distance and one eyewitness size-up of their beloved hockey players before the team opens the National league season, in Boston next Wednesday night. Tonight the Hawks will play the New York Rangers in Winnipeg and the same teams will battle again Saturday night in Winnipeg. The chance for the eyewitness size-up will come in Chicago Stadium at noon Monday when the lads will glide for an hour or so for the edification of photographers and fans who are able to talk their way past the sergeant at arms.

The Rangers, foes of the Hawks in the two exhibition games in Winnipeg, also will be party to the Chicago National league season opener in the Stadium on Oct. 31. The Rangers, perhaps, were weakened more than any other team by both Canadian and United States war time demands on player personnel. Now many of the former stars are back and others are reported on the way.

Jim Henry Is Back

The Rangers had a great deal of goalie trouble during the war, but Jim Henry is back in his pads to give rivals their worst bad news for the 1945-'46 season. The dopesters thus will be able to make up revised form sheets for the Chicago opener on the basis of the showing of the teams in the two Winnipeg tests.

First Faceoff

CHICAGO		NEW YORK
Doug Stevenson	G	Chuck Rayner
Johnny Mariucci	L. D.	Ott Heller
Joe Cooper	R. D.	Neil Colville
Doug Bentley	L. W.	Alex Shibicky
Max Bentley	C	Phil Watson

SPARES

New York—Edgar Laprade, Hank Gold, Bryan Hextall, Al Demarco, Hal Brown, Alal Kuntz, Bill Moe, Bill Juzda, Murray Patrick, Tony Leswick.

Chicago—Pete Horeck, Don Grosso, Red Hamill, Alex Kaleta, Clint Smith, Wingy Johnson, Reg Hamilton, George Allen, Eddie Wares.

Johnny Gottselig, new Hawk skipper, has been keeping his eye on the shifting rosters of all the teams in the league, but says he is not worrying too much about what the other fellows have. Johnny has expressed himself as delighted with the showing of his No. 1 and No. 2 forward strings—Doug Bentley-Max Bentley-Bill Mosienko and Den Grosso-Red Hamill-Pete Horeck. He also says he believes he has defense combinations that can score in Johnny Mariucci, Joe Cooper, George Allen, Reg Hamilton, and Eddie Wares. Hawk defense lines in recent seasons, tho fairly capable defensively, have not done much to harass opposing goalies.

Due in Chicago Monday

The Hawks broke camp in Regina last night and weer to arrive in Winnipeg early this morning. They are due to arrive in Chicago at 9:45 o'clock morning, and conduct the aforesaid workout in the Stadium Monday noon. At noon Tuesday they will take off for Boston.

The advance sale of season reservations is reported larger than the brisk sale at a comparable time last year. Tickets other than season reservations, for the opener, will be placed on sale Monday.

SKULL OF ADULT FOUND IN RUINS OF BURNED HOME

The skull of an adult was found yesterday in debris in the burned out two story frame house at 5530 S. Racine av., formerly occupied by Israel D. Opat, described by Englewood police as a former doctor.

The finder was David Walsh, 13, of 1144 W. 56th st., who later used the skull as a pre-Halloween toy until advised by neighbors to turn it over to police. The Opat house caught fire July 7 and again Sept. 3. The earlier blaze forced Opat to move.

Detectives William Kearney and William Ward sent the skull to the county morgue. They said the lower jaw is missing and that two gold teeth are imbedded in the upper jaw. The policemen said they hope to find Opat and get the history of the skull from him.

INDORSE MOVE TO LET CARRIERS AGREE ON RATES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—Eleven witnesses indorsed today the principle of legislation to free intercompany rate agreements between common carriers from the anti-trust laws. They would continue subject to the interstate commerce commission.

Several witnesses, however, wanted modifications of the bill proposed by the National Industrial Traffic league. They suggested that different types of carriers not be permitted to become members of one rate bureau and that shippers be allowed to file with the ICC complaints against any "unreasonable" provisions in any agreement between carriers.

Appearing for the Transportation Association of America, Kenneth F. Burgess of Chicago testified that shipping interests do not wish the conference method of rate making destroyed. Rate bureaus are vital, he added, if rate adjustments are to avoid unjust discrimination between shippers and localities.

CHICAGO FIRMS' SHIFT TO PEACE WORK HINDERED

Materials and Man Power Needed

BY ANTHONY WIRRY

Measured by the progress of three big companies, industrial reconversion in Chicago appears to have made substantial headway since the surrender of Japan, but further progress depends on the availability of materials, man power, and the effect of regulations of the office of price administration.

Newspaper men reporting on industry's shift from war to peace time production thruout the country yesterday saw peace time products come off the assembly lines of the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, International Harvester company, and the Ingersoll Steel and Disc division of Borg-Warner corporation. They also heard warnings of obstacles ahead.

Build Lighter Rail Cars

At Pullman-Standard, where executives and employes observed with brief ceremonies the completion of the body frame structure of the country's first post-war light weight railway passenger car, Wallace N. Barker, vice president, said materials stocks were seriously low. He explained that supplies were obtained from 400 to 500 sources, and that if any one were shut off, complete assemblies would be impossible.

The new car, about one-third lighter than the conventional coach, was the first of 300 which have been ordered by the New York Central system. All-welded and air conditioned, the car marks the beginning of the company's start on its order backlog, estimated at 106 million dollars. Other models like the living room car, the night club-movie car, and junior car for children will be in production next year, Barker predicted.

At International Harvester dozens of tractors moved along assembly lines and onto loading platforms for shipment, but Fowler McCormick, president, said three major problems would have to be solved before volume production would be reached.

Needs Workers and Steel

He said Harvester needed 5,000 men immediately, including 265 in the Chicago works. Foundry help is particularly needed to make gray iron and malleable iron for the heavy parts of tractors. Steel supplies are dwindling, especially sheets and shapes. McCormick said the company was on "very dangerous ground on steel," and that the future "is clouded by labor difficulties."

Harvester will spend 100 millions on an expansion program including large new plants near Memphis, Tenn., and Wood River, Ill. The company has purchased a 275 acre tract near Fort Madison, Ia., and is considering building or buying additional facilities.

In all its plants the company now is employing 70,000 men, compared with an average during the war of 62,500 and a pre-war average of 52,500.

Terms OPA Output Handicap

R. C. Ingersoll, president, said Ingersoll Steel and Disc was in production of peace time products such as automobile clutch parts, truck wheel disks, and washing machine tubs, but expressed concern over the shortage of men and materials. He said he needed 375 more men and large quantities of flat rolled steel.

Because of OPA price regulations "several departments are now running in the red," he said. Ingersoll asserted OPA was "handicapping most of industry," and that manufacturers would not make capital investments if they do not get profits "commensurate with the products they make."

Ingersoll disclosed his company had signed a contract for production of more than 50 million dollars of automatic washing machines for Bendix Home Appliance company beginning next February.

THREE RAILS BUY SIX NEW ZEPHYR STREAMLINERS

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 17 (AP)—Charles Elsey, president of Western Pacific railroad, today said his company, with the Denver and Rio Grande and the Burlington road, had ordered six streamlined trains for joint operation between San Francisco and Chicago.

The stainless steel, 10 car trains, powered by Diesel locomotives, will cost 10⅓ million dollars. They will have "vista dome" cars for wider visibility.

Elsey said the six trains would make possible fast schedule operations daily. The trains will be named "California Zephyrs." Operations are expected to start next summer.

OPA Drafting New Building Material Pegs

BY AL CHASE

The office of price administration expects to establish new ceiling prices on major building materials shortly after Jan. 1. Simplificaton of its general maximum price regulation is sought with prices generally kept at current levels and made definite so that contractors will be able to calculate construction costs accurately.

These goals were discussed yesterday by S. W. Ingram, price executive of the OPA building material branch, before the Chicago Association of Commerce in La Salle hotel.

Seeks Fair Prices

"The OPA hopes to make prices fair and equable," he said. "I don't like to be regulated and no one else does. Regulation should be done away with as soon as possible. In the meantime we are seeking to control extravagant prices."

Ingram quoted from a letter to OPA by a big building materials manufacturer who said that price control over materials must continue or there will be no building industry.

Despite the critical situation in both materials and man power, Ingram predicted that the country is on the threshold of a boom which may last 10 years. During this period about 10 million housing units will be constructed and 4½ million new jobs developed. He predicted 500,000 homes will be built next year and after that 1 million annually.

Pent Up Demand Vast

"The pent up demand for homes is enormous" he said. "And every home built to supply this demand means new appliances for that house, new equipment and furnishings, and, of course, increased tax rolls, and general prosperity."

Ingram said there is a serious threat of a runaway market on new homes, and warned that if prices were too high a buyers' strike might halt the boom.

The lumber situation is "dismal," Ingram said. Mills have no inventories, little is in the hands of retailers, and a strike on the west coast has seriously curtailed production.

PRESS WIRELESS VOTES BROADER STOCK HOLDING

New York, Oct. 17 [Special]—Stockholders of Press Wireless, Inc., voted unaimously to increase the authorized capital stock of the company to 50,000 shares without par value, A. Warren Norton, president, announced today. Preferred stock will be eliminated, and all stockholders will hold the same class of stock, the no par common to be sold at $100 a share.

Since Press Wireless was established in 1929, ownership of its stock has been limited to seven American newspapers and four press associations.

The capital reorganization authorized by stockholders will give additional press, radio, and allied interests an opportunity to participate in the world-wide expansion of Press Wireless' communications facilities. These have been established on a point-to-point basis between the United States and 15 foreign countries and on a multiple address basis with 80 additional foreign countries. Users of Press Wireless number more than 1,000 press entities thruout the world.

ALCOA OFFERS TO LEASE MAIN FEDERAL PLANTS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—The Aluminum Company of America today offered to lease and operate the key units of the government's 700 million dollar aluminum properties and sell alumina to any other operators the government approves. The offer was made at the end of a three day hearing by three senate committees on the surplus property board's sales plan on which congress must act by the end of this week.

I. W. Wilson, Alcoa president, said his company would lease the Hurricane Creek, Ark., alumina reduction plant for five years and make the product available to operators of competing small plants at a price substantially below the current level.

The lease would guarantee the government a minimum rental of 1 million dollars a year or ⅝ of 1 cent per pound of alumina produced, whichever is larger.

WESTERN STEEL MILLS MODERN, COST TOO MUCH

Kaiser's Fontana Ill Adapted to Peace

(This is the fifth in a series of articles on Henry J. Kaiser.)

BY FRANK STURDY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Fontana, Cal., Oct. 17—Both the Geneva steel plant operated for the government by United States Steel corporation during the war and the Fontana mill, Henry J. Kaiser's maiden venture in the industry, are excellent, modern mills. They were the first "integrated" steel properties west of the Rockies—capable of starting from scratch with raw materials and producing both pig iron and steel.

Geneva, costing some 200 million dollars, is about twice Fontana's size and contains the largest aggregation of the newest steel facilities in the country. U. S. Steel assigned Walther Mathesius, its vice president in charge of all operations, to operate Geneva, without fee.

Obtains Experienced Steel Man

Until about a year ago Fontana was managed by Tom Price, in Kaiser's organization nearly 30 years. Price was succeeded by another Kaiser employe, A. B. Ordway. He yielded early this month to Peer D. Nielsen, who had been general superintendent of Geneva under Mathesius, and an employe of U. S. Steel for 21 years, most of the time with the National Tube company, a subsidiary.

Fontana is an industrial confection in a clean countryside, surrounded for miles by vineyards and citrus fruit groves. A small fountain decorates the lawn in the center of the building. Glass and glass brick are employed extensively.

One corner of the building is devoted to private offices for the executive manager, a conference room, and bedrooms for Kaiser or visiting executives. Fontana is about 50 miles from Los Angeles.

Geneva and Fontana have a major fault in common. Built at high war time costs, primarily to produce a few war items, neither can be operated economically for a peace time market without heavy expenditure for facilities to make a wider variety of products.

Drastic Write-Downs Likely

The government is faced with selling, leasing, or letting them lie idle. In any arrangement with private industry, capital structures must be written down drastically if they are to compete with older, privately owned mills. As Geneva's owner the government stands to absorb any such loss. Fontana, however, is owned by Kaiser, tho built thru government loans. He wishes these written down, arguing that he should not bear the war cost burden for Fontana while the government absorbs such costs in other plants.

A recent engineering company report showed Kaiser's original indebtedness was $111,805,000. The report was used as the basis for a Reconstruction Finance corporation refinancing proposal to which Kaiser objected, and a second method was worked out.

Kaiser has made payments of $8,951,620, leaving a total of $102,853,380 due. The refinancing would include a new loan of $11,500,000 for additions, bringing the new total to $114,353,380.

New Loan, Payment Terms

Under the plan, $79,819,000 would be rewritten as a "first loan," to run for 15 years with interest at 4 per cent, payable during the first two years only if earned. The remainder, $34,514,380, would be a first mortgage, subject to the first loan, without interest.

No sum is fixed for principal payments during the first two years; $1,390,000 would be due each year for the next three; $2,780,000 a year from the fifth to eighth years, and $3,392,000 annually thereafter until the loan is retired.

The first loan would be secured

Predicts Vast Rise in Small Business Units

An increase in the number of small business establishments to above pre-war peaks was predicted last night by Joseph K. Wexman, assistant in the study of small business for the Committee for Economic Development. He gave the second lecture of a series on small business at the University of Chicago.

"More individuals have accumulated savings to go into business for themselves, or to back others," he said. "War time employment, civilian and military, has developed new skills and confidence in persons who hoped to go into business some day but felt they were not ready. Discipline in the army and navy and home front of large scale operational units quickened the desire of those in the ranks to break away from routine."

Government to Aid Vets

Another factor that should increase small business ventures is the fact that many veterans will be psychologically or physically incapacitated for working closely with others and will turn to self-employment, he said. Governmental financing will enable some veterans to go into business who could not do so alone. Private financing agencies likewise have adopted a policy for more liberal loans, including capital loans, to small enterprises.

"There is an accumulated stock of remodeling, minor installations, maintenance, and repairs to homes and buildings. These operations usually attract small enterprisers," Wexman said. "New products partially developed during the war offer a variety of novel applications to stimulate partnerships between technicians and financial backers."

More Small Firms in Retailing

Wexman said three-fourths of the small firms are in retail trade and common service industries, while the medium and big firms are in manufacturing.

Nearly half of the service men with definite plans to operate particular types of business intend to go into retailing, he reported. With contracts closed out, employment in manufacturing inevitably reduced, and scarce goods coming back into the market, retail trade can be expected to become attractive to many.

GRAIN FUTURES LED HIGHER BY BRISK RYE TRADE

Rye futures led a strong rally in grain prices in late trading yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Rye bounded 2¼ to 3¾ cents a bushel from the early low, and wheat rose 1 to 1⅞ cents before profit taking checked the advance.

Closing trades in rye showed net gains of ⅞ to 2 cents, except July, which finished unchanged. Wheat rose ⅝ to ⅞, corn ¼ to ⅛, and oats finished unchanged to ¼ higher. Barley weak, lost ⅛ to 1⅛ cents.

Short covering induced by eastern reports that the Pace bill to include farm labor costs in computing parity prices would pass both houses of congress was largely responsible for the rapid rise, brokers said.

Commonwealth Edison Power Output Decreases

Electricity output of the Commonwealth Edison group of companies last week, excluding sales to other electric utilities, totaled 176,186,000 kilowatt hours, a decrease of 7.9 per cent from a year earlier, the company reported yesterday.

People and Events

James F. Stiles Jr., vice president and treasurer of Abbott Laboratories, has been nominated for president of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce. Officers will be elected at the organization's annual meeting tomorrow in the Palmer House. Other nominations are Arthur L. Beckman of Kankakee, president of Beckman's Federal bakery, for vice president, and Homer J. Livingston, vice president of the First National Bank of Chicago, for treasurer.

Appointment of John C. Patterson as executive vice president of the National Patent council, a new organization of small manufacturers which will conduct a campaign in defense of the United States patent system, was announced by John W. Anderson of Gary, president of the council.

The Gray Iron Founders' society will discuss the industry's man power and price problems at its 17th annual convention in the Bismarck hotel next Tuesday. Speakers at the two day conference will include Walter L. Seelbach, president of the organization, and Sen. Wiley [R., Wis.].

Caspar S. Robbins, former vice president of Credit Clearing house prior to its absorption by Dun & Bradstreet, announced his resignation as director of the credit clearing division of Dun & Bradstreet in Chicago.

Ola C. Cool, director of the Labor Relations institute, New York, will speak on labor and personnel relations in reconversion before the Chicago control of the Controllers institute Tuesday in the Union League club.

IMPROVED BUDA UNITS PREPARED ON COMPETITION

The plant and facilities of the Buda company were so improved during the war that the management is confident it can produce new models of engines, railway supplies, and other items on a competitive basis in a reasonable peace time volume and show a fair profit, Stewart S. Harthaway, chairman, said yesterday.

His report, presented at the annual meeting of stockholders in Harvey, showed a decrease in net income to $906,904 in the fiscal year ended July 31 from $942,575 in the preceding fiscal year. Share earnings were $4.85 and $5.04. Net sales were $45,437,194 and $45,630,042. Officers and directors were reëlected.

Approximately 16 million dollars in Buda war contracts have been terminated since V-J day, Hathaway said. Claims cannot be determined at once because the company had more than 5,000 prime and subcontracts. Processing of terminations is proceeding smoothly thru Buda's contract termination division, created two years ago, he said.

ADDITIONAL TAX CUTS URGED AS CONVERSION AID

Senate Committee Ends Hearings

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP)—Business organization spokesmen today urged the senate finance committee to slash taxes on both individuals and corporations beyond the cuts approved by the house or recommended by the treasury.

A reduction of at least 20 per cent in all individual income taxes was asked by both the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and the National Association of Manufacturers. They also asked repeal of the excess profits tax on Jan. 1 and scaling down of corporation taxes. Both based their arguments on the same premise: Bigger cuts than the administration proposes are needed to stimulate reconversion and bring about a vigorous peace time economy.

"Best Business Stimulant"

H. E. Humphreys Jr., United States Rubber company executive and chairman of the N. A. M. committee on taxation, asserted:

"Maximum relief now will do more to speed reconversion, stimulate investment in new business, and increase production than will any manner of spending the government might undertake."

As the committee concluded its hearings, indications of sentiment were:

1. Strong support for repeal Jan. 1 of the excess profits tax, as recommended by the treasury, at an estimated loss of 2 billion 555 million dollars in revenue next year. The house voted to cut the effective rate of the tax from 85.5 to 60 per cent for 1946 and repeal it Jan. 1, 1947, cutting 1946 revenue 1 billion 300 million.

2. General support for dropping 12 million smaller income individuals from the tax rolls. This is included in the house bill, tho going beyond the treasury recommendation for simple repeal of the 3 per cent "normal" tax. Estimated revenue loss: Treasury plan, 2 billion 85 million; house bill, 2 billion 627 million.

Support Concession to Vet

3. Substantial support for writing in some concessions to veterans and service men. One idea is to provide veterans a one year extension after discharge of their special $1,500 income tax exemption. This is not in the house bill or treasury recommendations.

4. Differences as to proposed cuts in corporate normal and surtaxes and in the so-called "luxury" taxes. The treasury opposes any cut in corporate taxes. The house voted a 405 million cut of 4 percentage points effective Jan. 1. The treasury recommended and the house approved a reduction of excise, or "luxury," taxes next July 1. This is estimated to reduce revenue 535 million in 1946.

LAMBS ADVANCE IN LIVELY TRADE; HOG PRICE GAINS

Chicago buyers bid up prices of sheep and lambs 15 to 25 cents a hundred pounds in yesterday's brisk trade. Top lambs rose 15 cents to $15, the highest since Aug. 3. Only 5,500 sheep and lambs arrived, equal to the lowest Wednesday run in four weeks.

The average price of hogs moved up 5 cents to $14.80, the highest in two years. The slight rise was attributed to the increase in the percentage of spring pigs offered. Nearly all classes sold again at ceiling prices.

Cattle receipts, at 12,000, were second smallest for a Wednesday in eight weeks, but only best classes were firm. More than 60 loads of steers brought the $18 ceiling. Some weakness was shown in steers selling at $17 and below.

SEC Upholds Utility Award on Basket Bid

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 17 [Special]—Overruling the objections of Halsey, Stuart & Co., Chicago, the securities and exchange commission late today confirmed acceptance by the Cincinnati Gas and Electric company of a "basket bid" for 45½ million of first mortgage bonds due in 1975 and 270,000 shares of preferred stock.

This form of bidding entails offers by one group of investment bankers for all of various security issues a company may wish to market, rather than on each issue separately.

As a result of the ruling, a banking group headed by Morgan Stanley & Co. and W. E. Hutton & Co. will offer the bonds publicly tomorrow at 101 and interest to yield approximately 2.70 per cent. The group also will underwrite an exchange plan under which new preferred is to be offered holders of present 5 per cent preferred at $106 a share.

No Ruling on Basket System

The SEC ruling did not make clear the future status of the controversial basket bidding system. It merely found no basis for adverse action on the case at issue.

Appearing at the hearing, H. L. Stuart, president of the Chicago firm, said the practice was "fundamentally wrong" and that neither the public nor the company issuing the securities "gets the best results" under this method. Perry E. Hall, a partner of Morgan Stanley, contended that this type of bidding can provide lower money costs to companies issuing securities.

The utility awarded the securities on a "basket bid" of 100.3391 for the bonds with a 2¾ per cent coupon, and $106, less compensation of $1.72, for the stock with a dividend rate of 4 per cent. Bidding for the bonds alone, Halsey, Stuart offered 100.5859 for a 2¾ per cent coupon.

Stuart Urges Specialization

Stuart told the commission his house handles only bonds and evidences of indebtedness and expressed the belief that generally better results would be obtained if more firms so specialized. If undivided attention were given to bonds a more orderly and sound bond market would result, he said. "Basket" combination bids discourage fair application of the commission's competitive bidding rule by shutting out investment banking houses specializing in one kind of securities, he added.

OFFER RAIL ISSUE TODAY

Halsey, Stuart and associated dealers today will offer $25,982,000 of New York Connecting Railroad company first mortgage 2⅞ per cent bonds at par and accrued interest.

First Boston corporation and associates were high bidders for 49 million dollars of Pacific Gas and Electric company bonds, offering 104.7999 for a 3 per cent interest rate.

STOCKS HIGHER AS LEWIS ENDS MINERS' STRIKE

Steels Lead Upturn; Trading Heavy

New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—John L. Lewis put strength in a shaky stock market today when he called off the six state soft coal strike, considered one of the most serious threats to reconversion. Steels led the comeback, followed by rails, liquors, utilities, rubbers, and gold mines. Gains, running to more than three points at the high time, were reduced or canceled in numerous cases at the close.

Sizable blocks of low quoted issues increased volume to 1,800,000 shares, compared with 1,630,000 Tuesday. It was the broadest market of the year, with 1,010 issues traded.

Many Traders Cautious

Brokers were disappointed that the rally was not more pronounced. They explained many customers remained cautious because the list acted top heavy and showed symptoms of a "technical correction." Earnings, dividends, tax hopes, and inflation thinking persisted as the main bullish influences.

Mining stocks revived on rumors the official gold price might be lifted. Liquors were buoyed by the outlook for mounting profits when taxes are cut.

RAIL BONDS ADVANCE

New York, Oct. 17 (AP)—Bonds moved in narrow range with trends indecisive today. Rails were slightly higher, led by loans of the Missouri Pacific. At the close they held gains of fractions to more than two points, with the 5s of 1977 up 2⅝ points to 88½.

CHICAGO LIST HIGHER

Trading on the Chicago Stock exchange decreased to 42,000 shares yesterday as prices extended their upturn. Volume leaders included Peabody Coal, up ⅛; Chicago corporation and Miller & Hart, each unchanged, and Commonwealth Edison and Republic Steel, each up ⅛.

TWO MILLION MARCHING FEET

Every month more than a million women go to the newsstands to buy their copy of SECRETS. That's two million feet marching to the ninety thousand newsstands in this country.

Nine years ago there were a little over a hundred thousand newsstand buyers of SECRETS. Each year the procession has increased—a 900% growth in nine years. There was no promotional fanfare, no special inducements, no lure of continued stories. There was a carefully conceived editorial content appealing to young married women between the ages of 18 and 35, and their own word-of-mouth advertising.

Our own experience with this audience definitely proves that if you have a product appealing to young married women between the ages of 18 and 35, you'll not find a more responsive market than SECRETS' million-a-month newsstand buyers.

WESTERN STEEL MILLS MODERN, COST TOO MUCH

Kaiser's Fontana Plant Ill Adapted to Peace

by plant assets and 27½ per cent of profits from the ship yards. The first mortgage would be secured by 72½ per cent of ship yards profits, 103,180 shares of Kaiser Company, Inc., 4 per cent preferred stock, and 25 per cent of Kaiser company earnings after income taxes, interest, and principal payments on the first loan, but before depreciation. [Kaiser company is the corporation, wholly owned by Kaiser, operating Fontana, one ship yard at Richmond, and two at Portland. It is the profits of these yards which have been pledged to pay off the RFC loans on Fontana.]

E. E. Trefethen Jr., vice president of Kaiser, Inc., estimated total ship yard profits to last Aug. 30 at $43,904,000. From this $8,951,620 has been paid against the original loan principal and 5 million into a reserve fund, leaving $29,852,380 available for the loans of $114,332,380 contemplated in the refinancing.

Two Year Breathing Spell

The RFC also has been paid $9,383,490 in interest to June 30, but this was taken from an operating and interest fund established as part of the original loans. In effect, apparently, the borrowed money from RFC was used to pay interest to RFC.

Under the refinancing proposal, it appears that Kaiser will have two years in which to get Fontana operating profitably, during which time he will have a breathing spell, free from either fixed interest or principal payments.

He has accepted this proposal, it is understood, to keep Fontana operating, under control, and so additions can be started. But he accepted with certain reservations indicating his failure to agree with the RFC method. Undoubtedly, he will try in the future to obtain a write down of the obligations.

BRAZIL BOND PUZZLE

I am puzzled by the wide price differences between the new Brazil 3¾ per cent bonds, which I supposed were all alike in terms. Why are series 7 to 10 quoted around 75 and the other series mostly around 61?—G. Y.

These dollar bonds, issued in 30 series, are all alike in interest rate and lack of definite maturity, and the Brazil government distributes the interest and sinking funds among the fiscal agents for each series in proportion to the maximum amount of bonds originally issued.

The price differentials are attributed by investment bankers to the open market sinking fund operations. The 2.65 per cent cumulative yearly sinking fund is applied to the open market purchase of bonds if available below face value, with the provision that Brazil itself may tender such bonds for purchase at the market price.

The fiscal agencies for the 30 series are divided among 12 banks and banking firms. J. Henry Schroder Banking corporation, New York, is fiscal agent for the four series recently quoted around 75. These were issued in exchange for state of Sao Paulo bonds under option B of the debt readjustment plan of 1944. Differences in timing of sinking fund purchases by the agents and in the supply of each series in the market, it is believed, would cause the price variations.
